State Dept. Says It Did Not Link Envoy To Reds

Takes Issue With Senate Subcommittee

WASHINGTON, APril 11 (AP)—The State Department, taking direct issue with the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, today denied any responsibility for allegations of communism made against the late Herbert Norman, a Canadian diplomat.

Norman, Canadian ambassador to Egypt, committed suicide in Cairo a week ago today.

Canadian officials have blamed his death in part on the charges aired by the Senate subcommittee, and the affair has put a severe strain on Canadian-American relations.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, called newsmen in to deny a subcommittee statement that his department agreed to publication of the allegations against Norman.

White Spells Out "No"

He replied with an emphatic "no," spelling the word out, when asked whether the State Department had ever given the Senate group any secret security data on Norman.

The Canadian government asserts there is no question about Norman's loyalty.

President Eisenhower took occasion today to tell A. D. P. Heeney, the Canadian ambassador, that he regretted Norman's death and the effect it has had on relations between the two countries.

But Heeney reported the President gave him no assurance that congressional procedures to which the Canadians object so strongly would be changed.

In a stiff note delivered to the State Department yesterday, the Canadian government threatened to withhold certain security information from the U. S. government unless it had assurances that the materia. would not be passed along to congressional groups without Canadian approval.

Note "Under Study"

Heeney said he looks to the State Department rather than the White House for a reply. White said the Canadian note is "under study."

Earlier in the day a staff member of the Internal Security subcommittee released a statement by Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) and Sen. Jenner of Indiana, the senior Republican member, saying the FBI has corroborated the subcommittee's information about Norman's alleged Communist ties in 1939-40.

Later Eastland sought to have the statement withdrawn. Committee sources said it had been released inadvertently. Similar information from committee sources was already in print in the Chicago Tribune.

Byrd And Reed Call Tax Slash Talk Premature

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Talk of a tax cut next January was labeled premature today by both a Democratic and Republican fiscal leader in Congress.

"Entirely too early" to talk about it, said Sen. Byrd (D-Va), chairman of the Finance Committee.

"A vague and premature political promise," said Rep. Reed (R-NY), senior Republican on the Ways and Means Committee.

Discussion of a possible income tax reduction effective Jan. 1 warmed up considerably yesterday when House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) said the outlook for such action is "good," provided revenues do not fall below expected levels and the spending budget is cut.

Couple Of Big Ifs

Rayburn gave his appraisal after a policy meeting with Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee, which originates all tax bills.

"If we can cut spending, we'll join 'em," commented Republican House Leader Martin of Massachusetts.

Today, however, Byrd told a reporter he believed it was too early to consider the matter because the Senate has not yet acted on any of the House budget cuts and "The House cuts made so far are not big enough to warrant any tax reduction."

"The cuts in appropriations, which are the only kind that Congress can make, often do not mean reductions in spending," Byrd added. This is because much of the spending in one fiscal year is out of appropriations from a previous year.

Byrd "Sympathetic"

Byrd said he is "sympathetic to the idea" of a tax reduction, but only after it has been determined that real cuts have been made in the budget and that tax reduction would not "cause the danger of a deficit."

Reed issued a statement saying it was "ironical" that talk of tax cuts should come from "the spenders in Congress" just four days before the deadline for income tax returns.

Infiltrator Killed

TEL AVIV, Israel, April 11 (AP)—Army headquarters said an Israeli patrol killed a Jordan infiltrator today at a settlement four miles west of Beersheba.

A spokesman said the infiltrator ignored a call to halt.

Army Fund Cut Is Threatened Over "Bobble"

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—A cut in Army funds was threatened today because it offered members of Congress an expense-paid trip to Kentucky during Derby weekend.

Rep. Mahon (D-Texas), chairman of an Appropriations subcommittee which handles military funds, told the House "this seductive Army bobble could possibly cost the Army 100 million dollars in reduced appropriations."

And at the Pentagon, Secretary of the Army Brucker said he had made a mistake.

But Brucker insisted his invitation for Congress members to witness a military demonstration at Ft. Knox, Ky., May 3 and 4 "is not a free junket to the Derby at the expense of the taxpayers, but a serious expedition."

"Coincidence" In Dates

His mistake, he said, was "in not recognizing the coincidence in timing and place."

Brucker's invitation, offering free transportation, meals and lodging, said any congressman who wanted to stay over for the Derby at Louisville would get transportation home.

"I regret that I am not in position to make arrangements for seats at the Derby," his invitation said.

Brucker told reporters today that plans for the demonstration at Ft. Knox began last fall, with no thought of the Derby, and the dates of May 2 and 3 were tentatively set.

In March, he said, Rep. Robsion (R-Ky) mentioned that was Derby weekend and that "when the show was over" some Congress members might want to remain for the Derby.

Dates Changed One Day

Brucker said he decided there would "be no harm" in changing the demonstration dates by one day and in permitting congressmen to stay on at the fort "provided the Army bought no tickets" to the race. He added that those who stayed on after the demonstration would pay for their meals.

Mahon was sharply impressed by the "coincidence" in dates, as Brucker called it, even if Brucker was not. He told the House he was issuing a "public warning" to Brucker to stop that kind of spending.

Danes Reject Warning

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, April 11 (AP)—Premier H. C. Hansen told the Foketing—parliament—tonight that Denmark rejects a Soviet note of warning not to accept atomic defense weapons or allow U. S. bases on its soil.

Bandit Gets $66,000 Payroll In Stickup

WINDSOR, Conn., April 11 (AP)—A gunman disarmed an armored car guard and escaped with the Hartford Machine Screw Co.'s $66,000 payroll at midafternoon today.

The guard, John Gardner, was carrying the payroll into the company's garage just over the Hartford city line when he was surprised by the gunman.

Another guard, Vincent Donato, was protecting the parked armored car in a side driveway, when the holdup occurred. He learned about it too late to be of assistance.

Satellite Instrument Test Rocket Climbs 126 Miles

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUND, N. M., April 11 (AP)—A tiny needle in the sky with a thread 126 miles long today put man's first stitch in outer space.

An Aerobee rocket bearing instruments such as will be used in the earth satellite soared over the New Mexico desert probing the fringe of space to pave the way for Project Vanguard.

Vanguard — the launching of the first artificial earth satellite—is to take place this year.

John W. Townsend Jr., Naval Research Laboratory chief scientist, said the satellite instrument package aboard the rocket got a workout which was "not only good, but came up to our expectations."

The package contained delicate instruments to give man his first ideas of what lies outside the thin blanket of air surrounding the earth. In the package were wide-range thermometers; a solar battery experiment which, if successful, could some day provide power from the sun; metering devices to measure cosmic rays and their possible relation to sun spots; and devices to measure energy factors.

It will be a full month before the information, telemetered to the ground from the rocket, is evaluated.

The rocket took off following a week of postponements because of high winds aloft, and soared for nine minutes. Another instrument testing firing for the satellite program is set for about April 16.

There was some disappointment expressed that the Aerobee hadn't gone higher. An Aerobee fired last year with a similar load reached 164 miles.

Ike Requests Cut In Funds For Soil Bank

$254 Million Slash Believed Feasible On Basis Of Study

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower asked Congress today to reduce the appropriation he has requested for the soil bank program from $1,254,000,000 to a flat billion dollars.

The 254-million-dollar reduction would be in funds he has asked for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The reduction had been forecast. On March 15, Agriculture Department officials said farmer participation in the soil bank program apparently would fall short of the government goal. It was then established that funds needed to finance the program might be more than a quarter-billion dollars below the President's estimate.

Needs Less Than Contemplated

The White House said today:

"A detailed study of the operations of the soil bank program has just been completed. On the basis of this study, it now appears that the financial needs of the program in 1958 will be less than had been contemplated at the time of the preparation of the 1958 budget for the following reasons:

"1. It is now estimated that the sign-up for the 1956 and 1957 conservation programs will be much less than expected last fall, and thus payments to farmers under the program will be less than originally planned. Under the conservative reserve program, farmers receive rent for cropland placed in cover crops and reforestation and also received payments to cover part of the cost of carrying out conservation practices. The program is effective for five calendar years from 1956 through 1960.

Payments Moved Back

"2. The timing of the payments for both parts of the soil bank program — the conservation reserve program and the acreage reserve program—will be made later in the calendar year than was originally contemplated. This will result in a shift in the need for funds between fiscal years. Under the acreage reserve program, farmers are compensated for loss of net income resulting from their voluntary withdrawal of land from crop production."

In announcing the reduction, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said it grew out of "what the President has said many times is a continuing review of the budget."

Two Die In Freak Highway Mishap

OWENSBORO, Ky., April 11 (AP)—A live power line and the flames of a burning car today claimed the lives of an Indiana couple in a freak highway accident witnessed only by a passing minister.

A power shovel being hauled on a huge truck loosened a high voltage wire, which dropped across the highway in front of the car and trailer of Mr. and Mrs. John Herrold of Grass Creek, Ind.

They stopped their car. Minutes later, both were dead—the man electrocuted and his wife burned to death beside their flaming car.

The Rev. Billy Cox, pastor of a Methodist church in Owensboro, had seen the power line and stopped his car several hundred feet away.

He gave this account:

Herrold stepped out of his car. An electric spark seemed to leap between his feet and the ground. He crumpled.

Mrs. Herrold got out of the car and ran around to where her husband was. As she started to bend over him, she fell back, apparently stunned. Seconds later the car burst into flames. Officials said the fire caused Mrs. Herrold's death.

Buster Crabbe's Daughter, 20, Dies

LOS ANGELES, April 11 (AP)—Caren Lynn (Sande) Crabbe, 20-year-old daughter of actor-swimmer Buster Crabbe, died in her sleep yesterday. The coroner's office said today an autopsy failed to disclose the cause of her death.

Miss Crabbe, a student at the University of Southern California, died at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Held, in West Los Angeles.

Mrs. Held said her granddaughter had lost considerable weight and had suffered from an attack of virus flu about a month ago.

The coroner's office said microscopic examinations will be conducted in a further attempt to determine the cause of death. The coroner said Miss Crabbe weighed only 60 pounds.

Pro-Westerner Fails To Form Jordan Cabinet

AMMAN, Jordan, April 11 (AP)—An advocate of continued ties with the West failed today in an attempt to form a new government for Jordan, reliable reports said.

Young King Hussein, who suddenly and dramatically dismissed the pro-Syrian government of Premier Suleiman Nabulsi yesterday, asked Dr. Hussein Fakhri Khalidi to form a new government. Stubborn opposition from the Left appeared to have foredoomed his chances.

Khalidi Elder Statesman

Khalidi, foreign minister until the Nabulsi government took over last October on a wave of anti-Western sentiment, is considered an elder statesman with leanings toward the West. A Palestinian, he had opposed a final break in Jordan's ties with Britain, or any Syrian - Egyptian alignment against the Baghdad Pact allies.

A report, without official confirmation, said Khalidi informed the 22-year-old King he was unable to form a new government.

Apparently the so-called National Front, comprised of Nabulsi's National Socialist party, the Arab Resurrection Socialist party whose political outlook resembles that of the ruling Leftist party in Syria, and the Communists joined in boycotting Khalidi's efforts. Nabulsi has been serving as caretaker premier until a new government can be formed.

Violent Rioting Feared

Nabulsi, whose policies have been considered contrary to King Hussein's outspoken opposition to Communist influence, prepared to take his case to the country. He scheduled two political speeches tomorrow in Ramallah and Jenin, both in the Palestinian part of Jordan.

Foreign observers expressed fear that "appeals to the streets" by National Socialists and Leftists might lead to violent rioting. Nabulsi is popular with "the streets" because of his consistent opposition to the West, his denunciation of the Baghdad Pact and his policy of unity with Syria and Egypt in the name of "Arab liberation."

Demo Official Denies Aiding Slayers' Fight

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 11 (AP)—Matthew H. McCloskey, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, today "categorically" denied contributing money toward a successful eight-year legal fight to save the lives of three convicted Bucks County, Pa., slayers.

"I want to categorically deny that at any time I laid out any money to anybody in this case," he told a legislative committee investigating the State Pardon Board.

McCloskey, a Philadelphia contractor and newspaper publisher, was questioned about commutations granted David Darcy, Harold Foster and Harry Zietz.

The three were sentenced to death for the 1947 slaying of a bystander in a Bucks County tavern holdup. Their sentences were commuted to life imprisonment last September by Gov. George Leader upon unanimous recommendation of the board.

"Bunny" Rabbitt Year Old Easter

QUINCY, Mass., April 11 (AP)—"Bunny" will be one year old Easter Sunday and she probably will receive, among other gifts, a toy rabbit to accompany the big furry one presently her favorite plaything.

"Bunny's" proper name is Anne Marie Rabbitt. She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rabbitt.

Irate Father Slugs Teacher

MADISON, Ind., April 11 (AP)—A farmer who said he tried for two days to get his son's teacher charged with assault took matters in his own hands today, and the teacher came out with a broken nose.

The irate father, William Adams put Robert Peasley, a junior high school science and mathematics teacher, in his car and delivered him to Sheriff Harold Raisor's office, saying: "Get him patched up."

Adams said he had gone all the way to the Statehouse in Indianapolis to try to get an assault charge filed against Peasley for a schoolroom incident Monday. He said Peasley had slugged the boy on the chin, cutting it open.

Herbert Danner, a janitor, said he saw Adams knock Peasley down and kick him in the Madison Township Central High School, where Adams came to await Peasley's arrival this morning.

An assault and battery charge was filed in Jefferson County Circuit Court this afternoon against Adams, based on a complaint signed by the teacher.

Tunnel Favored

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The Interior Department disclosed today it favors a tunnel instead of a bridge for a crossing of the Potomac River in the Lincoln Memorial area.

Congress has been arguing the tunnel-versus-bridge proposal for a long time. A 1954 law authorizes construction of a bridge.

Saudi Arabia Says Gulf Not Open To Israel

CAIRO, April 11 (AP) — Saudi Arabia announced here tonight it will not let Israeli shipping pass through the Gulf of Aqaba.

Foreign ships carrying cargo to and from the Israeli port of Eilat now are using the gulf and Israel maintains a small naval squadron in the gulf and Red Sea area.

The American tanker Kern Hills delivered oil from Iran to Eilat last Sunday through the gulf.

The Saudi announcement from the legation in Cairo said a note on the barring of Israeli shipping had been sent to foreign governments March 31.

The note said the islands of Tiran and Sinafar at the mouth of the gulf are Saudi Arabian territory and the gulf's entrance is only nine miles wide—"about 12 miles less wide than those waterways considered to have universal character under international law."

It declared, "The Aqaba Gulf cannot, therefore, be considered an open waterway and any attempt at giving it international character will constitute encroachment on the sovereignty of Saudi Arabia and a threat to its territorial security."

The note continued that the main use of the Gulf of Aqaba since the advent of Islam—7th century, A.D.—has been to carry pilgrims to Mecca via Jidda.

"The Saudi government, as guardian of the holy places and the security of the pilgrimage routes lying within its sovereignty, will not fail to protect this route and will not permit Israel the right to sail through the Gulf."

The note appealed for "justice and right and to put an end to Israeli claims, realizaion of which will be only a reward for aggression and will increase tension in the Middle East."

Alcorn Declares Midwest "Battleground Of 1958"

OMAHA, April 11 (AP)—National Republican Chairman Meade Alcorn today said his party is already on the road with the "most intensive campaign in our party's history" in the Midwest "battleground of 1958."

Alcorn, in a news conference, said "there is no concealment of the fact we are worried" and that the GOP recognizes that its 1956 losses were suffered in the farm states.

Alcorn's comment came as party leaders of Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Kansas, Iowa and Colorado opened a planning conference at which the party chief said "we'll pick the brains" of the leaders.

He promised that party spokesmen would be "brutally frank" in assessing problems during the two-day meeting and they hope to "profit by the losses the party has suffered."

The party chief told newsmen that President Eisenhower will take a "very vigorous part" in the 1958 campaign, possibly making several major speeches and a few flying trips around the country.

Alcorn said that assessing the Senate picture "is difficult from our standpoint because so few of the Democratic senators will be exposed in the 1958 election" but he feels the GOP "can reasonably expect some gains in the House."

He said he wouldn't go so far as to predict the GOP might gain control of the House, but that it was "not impossible."

He touched on both the farm situation and the administration's budget. He said he felt the administration is creating a "healthy economic climate" for the farmer and expressed a belief the farmers are "now beginning to realize that surplus is no substitute for a market."

Time Running Out In Dispute Over Funds

House Quits Until Monday In Face Of Midnight Deadline

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Progress was reported tonight toward an agreement in the House Appropriations Committee to give Postmaster General Summerfield most of the money he says he needs.

However, there appeared to be no possibility of heading off the first of a series of economy cuts ordered by Summerfield to take effect at midnight tomorrow.

These cuts directed that there be no regular mail deliveries on Saturday and that no post offices be open Saturday or Sunday.

The House adjourned until Monday, in the face of Summerfield's Saturday deadline for a beginning of the reduction of services.

Meanwhile Democratic members of the House Appropriations Committee agreed informally today to join with the Republicans and give the Post Office Department 40 to 42 million dollars of the 47 million dollars in emergency funds Summerfield says is essential.

About 20 of the 30 Democrats on the committee met secretly to decide what course they would take when the full 50-member committee meets tomorrow.

17 Million Recommended

A subcommittee has recommended that the department be given only 17 million dollars for the remaining 2½ months of the present fiscal year.

Most of the 20 Republican members favor the entire 47 million dollars but were reported willing to settle for a compromise of not less than 40 million.

"At least two-thirds of the Democrats will go along on that compromise," a Democrat who attended today's meeting said.

Another cutback step was attacked in court today with the filing of a suit by users of third class mail against a Summerfield order to suspend virtually all third class mail service, effective April 29.

Summerfield appeared before the Senate Appropriations Committee this afternoon to plead for the money he already had asked from the House.

He said his order to begin the cutbacks was already out, and added:

No Shortcut Possible

By "availability of the money," Summerfield told reporters he meant the dispatch of the appropriation bill to the White House and its signing by the President.

The bill hasn't even got out of committee in either House or Senate yet, and when the House adjourned this afternoon that spelled doom for any shortcut, speedup arrangement.

The third class mail suit, filed in U. S. District Court, complained that Summerfield was trying to exercise unlawful authority with his plans for an embargo on this type of mail, which is heavily used by direct mail advertisers.

The complaint asked an injunction to restrain Summerfield from actually suspending third class mail service, and said that if an injunction is not issued, "irrevocable damages" will be suffered by the complainants.

Filing the suit were the Associated Third Class Mail Users Inc., with headquarters here, and Spencer Gifts Inc. of Atlantic City, N. J. The petition said the mail users group included several hundred members who together spend at least 10 millions annually on third class postage.

UAW Revises Policy On Skilled Workers

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 11 (AP)—The United Auto Workers convention today authorized skilled workers in the union's ranks to seek pay increases beyond those gained by the general membership in collective bargaining.

A convention vote on the proposal brushed aside minority opposition which described the move as an abandonment of the principle of industrial unionism.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther, who called the new policy a "very vital matter," declared it would not weaken the principle of one big union for all.

The 3,200 delegates to the 16th UAW convention cheered Reuther's declaration that production workers and white collar workers "both have got to get more—a hell of a lot more—in 1958."

U. S. Homebuilding Dips To Its Lowest Rate In Eight Years

Association Blames Tight-Money Policies

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP) — Homebuilding continued its slump last month, dropping to the lowest rate since 1949.

The March figures, reported by the Labor Department today, brought a statement from the National Assn. of Homebuilders that the Federal Reserve Board tight-money policies have "kept the homebuilding industry tottering in the brink of disaster."

"This economic brinkmanship is a dangerous game that the country no longer can afford to play," said in a statement by George S. Goodyear, president of the association. The group is pressing Congress for easier mortgage credit.

83,000 Units Started

The Labor Department said last month's housing starts totaled 83,000 units for a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 880,000. This compared with 1,118,000 starts last year and the record 1,329,000 units actually built in 1955.

The number of housing starts last month was not only the lowest March total since 1949 but it also brought the annual and first quarter rates to the lowest level since that year. First quarter housing starts this year totaled 213,000.

Seasonal Gains Reported

Gains from February to March, which are normal in the spring season, were reported from all major regions. The February-March increase amounted to 28 per cent.

Of the 83,000 units started in March, 75,500 were privately financed dwellings and 7,500 were publicly financed under a military housing program authorized by Congress.

By comparison with the seasonally adjusted annual rate of 880,000 for March, the annual rate for January this year was 1,010,000; for February it was 910,000.

Prisoner Found Dead In Monongalia Jail

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 11 (AP)—The body of Leland Corley, 51, of Bertha Hill was found today in the Monongalia County Jail where he was being held on a charge of criminal assault.

Acting Coroner John P. Shale said that an empty bottle of sleeping pills was found outside the cell door.

Shale said he has not ruled on the cause of death, pending notification of the family.

Bank Robber Gets 25 Years; Girl Acquitted

BALTIMORE, April 11 (AP)—Louis Arquilla, 27-year-old bank robber, was sentenced to 25 years in prison on today for the $12,900 holdup of a Fidelity - Baltimore National Bank branch.

U.S. District Judge R. Dorsey Watkins called Arquilla before the bench for sentencing a few minutes after a jury had begun deliberating the case of Arquilla's 19-year-old girl friend, Dorothy Barchard, accused of helping in the holdup. Arquilla had testified vigorously in her behalf.

The jury deliberated for less than two hours before acquitting the Barchard girl of the conspiracy charge. The slim, plain-featured girl, who was described by her court-appointed attorney as "a child cloaked in innocence," smiled broadly when the verdict was returned.

She worked in a factory near Boston before becoming involved in the bank robbery case.

Martin Feeney, 41, and Arquilla entered guilty pleas to the robbery. They were picked up several weeks ago by the FBI in Minneapolis. Feeney already had been sentenced to 25 years in prison.

After passing sentence on Arquilla, Watkins told the good-looking bank robber he didn't believe the testimony he had given supporting his girl friend, whose husband is serving a term in Alcatraz.

The judge asked Arquilla what he thought might be done to deter young people from lives of crime.

Arquilla replied quietly that no one could have kept him from becoming a criminal, until it was too late. He said he began breaking the law at 18 shortly after the suicide of his father, who was the president of a bankrupt firm.

Longies, Girdle Burglar Tools

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP) — For the police, it's always something new. Who'd ever have thought of a fellow using long underwear and a girdle as burglar's tools?

This peculiar development came to light with the arrest of brothers Sol and Benjamin Greenberg. Police said they had a scheme which worked this way:

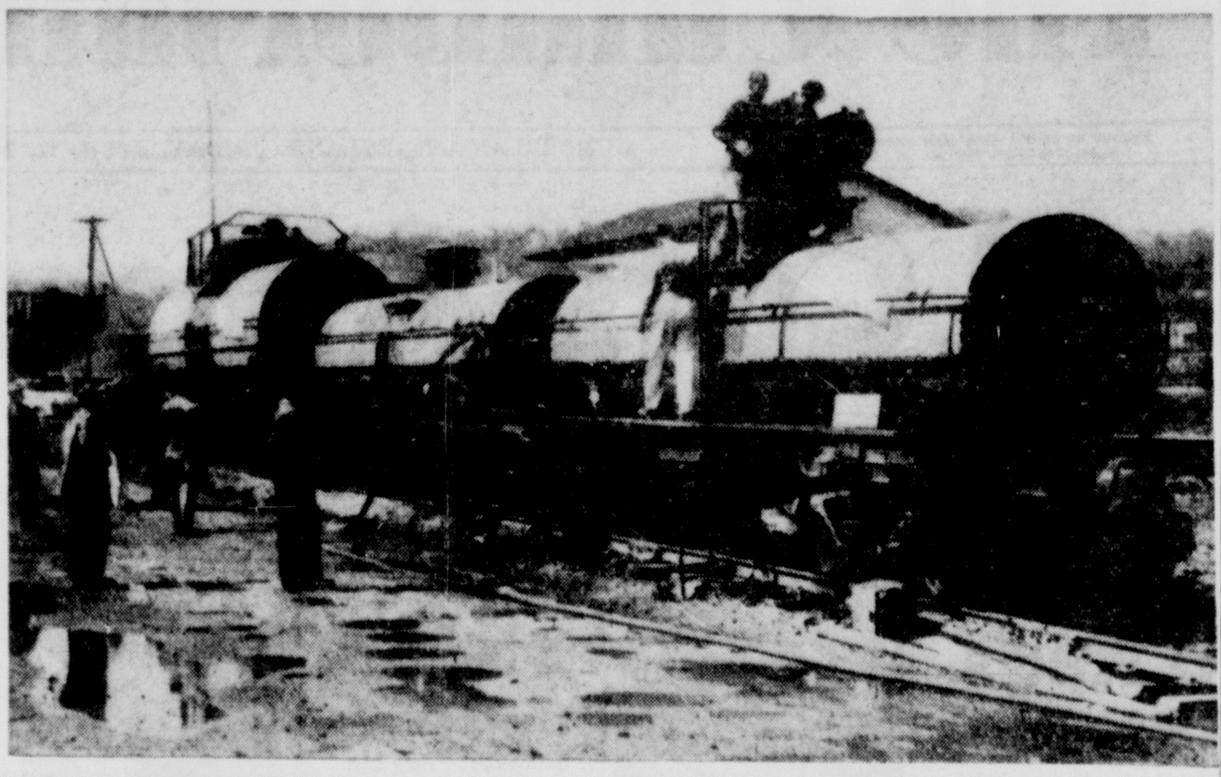

Sol, wearing a girdle and long underwear under his clothing, would go into women's dress shops and buy a dress. While the clerk was wrapping it, Sol would snitch other dresses from the racks and stuff them inside his long underwear.

The girdle kept him thin enough that he could get quite a few dresses in the space between it and the underwear.

Then Sol would deliver the goods to his brother, who operates a store of his own. Police got suspicious and arrested the pair at the store. They said they found $2,000 worth of stolen garments there.

Both men were charged with criminally receiving stolen property.

The police held Sol's girdle and underwear as evidence but scratched their heads in perplexity over how to classify it. Finally they hit on the answer: burglar's tools.

CHECKING SOURCE OF GAS LEAK—Firemen and chemical plant workers examine pipeline connections on tank car which leaked chlorine gas into the sleeping town of Frisco, near Ellwood City, Pa., early yesterday, making 100 persons ill and causing 1,000 to leave homes. 100 Sickened By Escaping Chlorine Gas

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., April 11 (AP)—Poisonous chlorine gas, pouring from a leaking valve on a rail road tank car, sickened nearly 100 men, women and children today and caused an estimated 1,000 persons to flee their homes.

For a period of several hours the fumes spread silently through the nearby town of Frisco, a community of about 120 residents, 23 miles northwest of Pittsburgh.

Families—among them Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Tritt and their nine children—were sickened in their sleep. It was 5:30 a.m. when the dangerous situation was discovered.

Police, volunteer firemen and Civil Defense workers spread the alarm, evacuated residents, hunted the source of the leak. It was located finally in the tank car on a siding near the Bison Laboratories Inc. The firm uses chlorine in the manufacture of a chemical bleach.

Firemen trained their hoselines on the car to dilute the poison. Working without masks, many of the volunteers became ill as they edged too close to the yellow-green cloud of gas.

Finally 28-year-old Dan Pellonl a plant employe, donned a gas mask, climbed onto the car and shut the valve.

Negro Ignores Va. "Mistake"

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—A Negro newspaper publisher said today he still considers himself invited to a dinner for "distinguished Virginians" even though it was withdrawn as "a mistake."

The invitation was sent to Dr. Clilan B. Powell, a physician and publisher of the Amsterdam News in New York's Harlem section. He is a native of Newport News, Va.

He received a telegram Tuesday requesting that the invitation be returned. Last night in Richmond, Va., Vernon Kemp, executive director of the State Chamber of Commerce, said the reason was that "there was a mistake" in issuance of the invitation.

Today Dr. Powell made public a statement saying:

"I was invited by the governor of Virginia under the official seal of the state of Virginia and I wired my acceptance.

"Until I receive a withdrawal from those who extended me the invitation I cannot consider the invitation as having been canceled."

The dinner is to be held at Richmond May 17 as part of a celebration of the 350th anniversary of the first permanent English settlement in America at Jamestown. About 600 persons were invited.

W. Va. Woman Leaves Israel Jail Today

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, April 11 (AP)—Mary Frances Hagan, 29, of Huntington, W. Va., will be released tomorrow from an Israeli prison where she has been serving a one-year term for collecting secret information for Syria.

This was confirmed tonight by a U.S. embassy spokesman in Tel Aviv after Israeli sources disclosed the release would be within the next day or two.

Miss Hagan will have served 7½ months of her sentence. There was no announcement of the reason for her release at this time. Her appeal for presidential pardon was rejected.

She was sentenced last October by a Jerusalem district court which convicted her of two violations of the official secrets act. One section concerned collection of information likely to be useful to an enemy and the other dealt with making notes of information likely to be useful to an enemy.

Under the charge to which she pleaded innocent, both actions were for "a purpose prejudicial to the safety and interests of the state of Israel."

She was sentenced after a three-day secret trial to one year on one count and three months on the second. The sentences were concurrent and retroactive to the time of her arrest late last August.

The court accepted prosecution evidence of close association of Miss Hagan with a Syrian diplomat and of her presence in Damascus just before coming to Israel.

She has been confined in Women's Prison, near Tel Aviv.

Israeli officials said Miss Hagan's passport had been turned over to the U.S. embassy for return to her on release. They said she would not be deported but allowed to leave the country by any means and at any point she chooses.

Indiana Paper Wins Ayer Cup

PHILADELPHIA, April 11 — (INS) — The smallest newspaper in the history of the award, the Goshen News of Goshen, Ind., today won the Ayer Cup for excellence in typography, make-up and printing.

The News, circulation 7,745 and winner of honorable mention in 1938 and special commendation in 1948, took the 27th annual competition held by N. W. Ayer and Son of Philadelphia.

First honorable mention, for papers with more than 50,000 circulation, went to the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal. Second honorable mention was to the Philadelphia Inquirer and third to the Christian Science Monitor — which previously won a cup and ten other honorable mentions.

In the 10,000 to 50,000 class, honorable mention went to the Colorado Springs, Colo., Free Press; Burlington, Vt., Free Press and Ponca City, Okla., News, in that order.

Honorable mention for papers of less than 10,000 circulation went to the Lock Haven, Pa., Express; Gainesville, Ga., Daily Times and Emporia, Kan., Gazette.

Family Reunited After 42 Years

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 11 (AP)—After an absence of 42 years, a Gainesville man has returned to find his wife remarried and widowed while he was away.

Egbert B. Maxwell, 72, left his wife and 6-year-old son in 1915 to get a job in Montana. He wrote a letter to her a year later saying he would be home soon, but that was the last she heard from him.

The wife, now about 70, said she believed him dead and under state law was free to marry again after 1922. She married M. D. Singleton in 1925. He died in 1944.

Maxwell returned to Gainesville Monday and received a warm welcome from his wife, now Mrs. Singleton, and their son, Alvin, with whom she lives. However, Maxwell went to stay with a brother, D. C. Maxwell, in Dahlonega, 20 miles north of here.

The only plans for the long-separated family so far are to have dinner together later this week, probably Saturday.

Mrs. Singleton said her husband had received a head injury while away and "couldn't remember things too well."

Airway Safety Agency Urged

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower, declaring there is need for "vigorous action," today asked Congress to create an independent Airways Modernization Board to "expedite the improvement of air traffic control."

The President sent to Congress a report saying the government must take the lead in "more sophisticated and energetic efforts to reduce the hazard and delay in the nation's air traffic."

"Over 65,000 aircraft hours are flown daily in the United States," the report said. "We have counted, with the aid of radars, as many as 220 aircraft flying at one time in the vicinity of a major city. Many thousands of military jets mingle in the mixed traffic of our airways and serve to accent the dangers of 'see and be seen' rules.

"The pilot needs assistance if he is to cope with the great increase in aircraft speed and if the danger of collisions is to be minimized."

The report was written by Edward P. Curtis, Eastman Kodak Co. vice president who was appointed Eisenhower's special assistant on aviation planning a year ago last month.

Sukarno's New System More Akin To USSR's

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

President Sukarno of Indonesia has finally gone through with his plan to bypass parliamentary methods, setting up a governmental system more akin to that of Russia than to those in the Western world.

He says the new Cabinet is intended to serve only during what he terms the "present" emergency, but there is no indication when that emergency will end, or indication of real steps to end it.

The emergency is primarily economic, and primarily due to nationalistic determination to cut off its Dutch business nose to site its Asiatic face.

The Indonesians are no worse off now than they were under Dutch rule, and they do cherish independence. But they have become a prime example of the precept that political independence is a hard row to hoe without economic stability.

It's a case of "don't know how" complicated by political immaturity and racial bias. They have become so embittered against the white race they will not even accept help from it. Dutch and British businessmen have been so discriminated against, have found so little protection under law, that they have given up in large numbers.

Even white doctors are discouraged. Yet Jakarta, the capital, has so few doctors they do not answer calls, and emergency cases are overlooked in the hospital jam.

Provincial governments complain they are stripped bare by the demands of the central government. This has resulted in rebellious political coups, mostly led by army officers. Some of these have agreed to give the new government a chance.

The government approaches the problem by trying to establish political stability ahead of economic stability. To do so, it abolishes parliamentary controls only a few months after the people have elected their own representatives for the first time.

It plans, instead, an appointed "advisory" council which is expected to include Communists. The Communists got a big vote in the election — not surprising when considered against the population's economic plight.

Sukarno thinks he is choosing a middle way. Leaders of the outlying provinces, however, are pointing to what the West learned early after World War I, that there is no middle way when dealing with the Communists.

They say that if Indonesia does not have an anti-Communist government, she will have a Communist government. That is the lesson of coalitions with the Reds everywhere.

One of the salient factors in the situation is that Sumatra, one of the richest and most highly developed sections of the sprawling nation, is overwhelmingly Moslem. Its loss to the central government is definitely threatened.

Egypt Protests Frontier Cupid

CAIRO, Egypt, April 11 (AP) — Egyptian army officers complained today that U. N. Emergency Force soldiers in the Gaza Strip are falling for pretty Israeli girl soldiers across the demarcation line.

They plan a formal protest if it doesn't stop soon, the officers said.

The UNEF troops patrol the demarcation line on the Egyptian side. Israel has refused to allow UNEF troops officially across the frontier.

The troops, starved for recreation, have become friendly with the Israeli girl soldiers patrolling the other side of the line. There have been Egyptian mutterings about it before.

The Egyptian weekly paper Akhir Saa has just published photographs of girls in Israeli army uniforms dancing with UNEF soldiers to accordion music provided by Israeli soldiers.

The Egyptian officers have complained privately about that sort of thing to Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, head of the U. N. force. They say he has given strict orders such fun must halt.

Since Egypt has resumed administration of the Gaza Strip, UNEF troops are supposed only to provide a demarcation line buffer force between the Egyptians and the Israeli.

The Egyptians have refused to allow UNEF troops on leave to cross into Israel where there's more recreation than in the gloomy Gaza Strip.

The Egyptians say security problems are involved. They say they don't underestimate the UNEF soldiers but want to make sure Israeli girls don't talk military secrets out of UNEF soldiers.

"We remember another strong man who once lived in Gaza," they assert. "Remember what Delilah did to Samson."

The Hundred Years war was the long struggle between England and France which was interrupted by two treaties and numerous truces, went on in an intermittent fashion from 1338 to 1453.

Jayncees To Hold Square Dance, Help Children

The date for a square dance and committee reports were given at the monthly dinner meeting of the Jayncees, held Wednesday evening at the Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. Raymond Dorn, Social chairman, announced May 11 for the square dance to be held at the Ali Ghan City Club. An invitation will be extended to all Jaycees and their wives. Joseph Blundon will be caller and instructor. Mrs. Dorn is being assisted by her committee, which includes Mrs. William Yoder, Mrs. Roy Baldwin, Mrs. William Walsh, Mrs. Edward Eyler, Mrs. Jack L. Murray and Mrs. Robert Mathews.

Mrs. Stanley Goodrich reporting for the Civic committee projects said they include a donation of a sand table to Friends Aware and a used clothing drive for needy school children. The chairman for this project is Mrs. Mildred R. Kirk. All clothing is to be taken to the home of Mrs. William S. Firey, 115 Bedford Street, or brought to the Jayncee dinner meeting May 8.

A report on the Community Council meeting was given by Mrs. Arthur Davis Jr. The club voted to become a member of the council and send representatives to the meeting April 12. A Ways and Means report was given by Mrs. Henry Sauer. Mrs. James E. Scott, Program chairman, announced that Mrs. Gilbert Miller would speak on floral arrangements at the next dinner meeting.

Incorporation papers were delivered by Mrs. Oscar Lashley Jr. The official date of incorporation was March 11. Mrs. Dorn was elected to the board of directors, replacing Mrs. Lashley who is leaving town. Six new members were accepted. They are Mrs. Edward Eyler, Mrs. Walter R. Hensel, Mrs. Christian Frye, Mrs. Kirk, Mrs. Charles Dressman and Mrs. Walsh. A guest, Mrs. Benjamin Elkins, also was introduced.

Theodore Foote, art supervisor for Allegany County schools, spoke on "Hobbies."

Music Club To Present Play At Tea

A one-act play and a tea will be sponsored by the Music and Arts Club for the benefit of the Summer Music Camp scholarship tomorrow at the LaVale fire hall at 3 o'clock.

Directed by Mrs. John Lower, Percival Wilde's "Over the Teacups" will be presented. The cast includes Miss Betsy Young, Mrs. William L. Gunter; Emily Tucker, Mrs. Lower; Mary Beardsley, Mrs. Marguerite Witwer Richards; and Mrs. Polhemus, Mrs. Samuel Weatherholt. Mrs. James Grosh and Mrs. Robert Bittle are in charge of properties.

The tea will follow the play. Mrs. Robert Clark and Mrs. William Keller will preside at the tea table. The string trio composed of Mrs. Ludman, Mrs. Vernon Cost and Mrs. Howard Irwin, will play.

Mrs. Cost, Ways and Means chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. Herbert Loar.

AAUW Plans Book Sale, Hears Talk

Plans to hold a book sale and enter a flower arrangement in the flower show were formulated at a brief meeting of the Cumberland Branch AAUW Wednesday evening at the Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. Paul A. Anderson, Silver Spring, state Fellowship chairman, was guest speaker.

The branch will sponsor a used book sale May 17-18, during Cumberland Bargain Days. Members were asked to donate books, especially children's books and phonograph records.

It was agreed to enter an arrangement in the flower show, April 29, 30, with Mrs. Howard Tolson and Mrs. Annie B. Gray in charge. Mrs. William Van Newkirk presided and routine announcements of meetings were made. An executive board meeting will be held Saturday at the home of Mrs. Jack Heath, 207 Washington Street.

Mrs. Anderson spoke on the Belgian Congo, which she referred to as "the land of my childhood," as she spent the time from when she was three years old until college days there, where her parents were missionaries for the Church of Christ. She particularly emphasized that the Belgian government wants the natives to receive their education in their own country.

The speaker described the country, which is in the equatorial district of the Belgian Congo, a forest country, sparsely peopled, and with a constant growing season. She explained that transportation went from river to air, without the intermediate roads and railroads.

At first the only schools were run by the missionaries, but now the Belgian government has subsidized the mission schools if they meet government requirements. The teachers must be accredited in the States and have a Belgian normal school training.

In the beginning the pupils are taught to read and write their own language; from then all other training is in French. The government has established secondary schools on junior high level and recently established an advanced technical school which is a branch of Louvain University. Until now there has been very little education for women, she said. Even now it is not compulsory, but is there and available for the natives to make their own decision. She displayed native art and ivory carvings. She pointed out the commercial crops are coffee, palm nuts and copal.

The program was sponsored by the International Relations group. Mrs. William Blake, chairman, introduced the speaker. Mrs. Tolson was in charge of dinner arrangements. Guests were Miss Dorothy Sands, Mrs. L. W. Burns and Mrs. Charles Romine.

Region II Social Welfare Conference To Be Here

For the first time Region II of the Maryland State Conference of Social Welfare will hold its spring meeting in Cumberland. It will be in the form of a luncheon, with both morning and afternoon sessions, April 24, at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Region II comprises Allegany, Garrett, Washington and Carroll counties and includes anyone in contact with social welfare work.

Mrs. Ella D. Everstine, psychiatric social worker for the Health department, is Allegany County chairman and Program chairman.

The general theme for the meeting, which will begin at 10 a. m., is "Creating a Wholesome Child through Public Effort." Mrs. Janis E. Priest, Hagerstown, secretary of the TB Association, and chairman of Region II, will preside. "Psychological and Emotional Aspects" will be discussed in a team approach of a child guidance clinic by Dr. Gertrude M. Gross, psychiatrist at Springfield State Hospital and former director of mental hygiene in Cumberland; and Dr. Julian Abrams, psychologist at Springfield State Hospital. A general discussion will follow.

Mrs. Everstine will be chairman of a panel discussion at the afternoon session. The topic is "Educational and Recreational Aspects." Members of the panel are Miss Ethel Wildman, case supervisor, Allegany County Welfare Board, on "Foster Home Care and Adoption"; and Mrs. Allan Clopper, teacher of retarded children, Washington County, "Training Programs for the Mentally Retarded Children." A discussion will follow.

Besides Mrs. Priest, Regional, and Mrs. Everstine, Allegany County, other chairmen are Mrs. Freda S. Doll, Frederick County; Miss Frances Grove, Oakland, Garrett County; and Charles A. Bechter, Hagerstown, Washington County.

Club Rejects One-Subject Fair Booth

Members of the Union Grove Homemakers Club voted against a one-subject theme booth, and in favor of a demonstration by the club, at the regular meeting Wednesday evening in Centenary Church.

Plans were formulated for a social or festival, at the Union Grove camp grounds, June 12, to take the place of the June meeting. A feature will be a thrift table, where good used articles will be for sale. Refreshments also will be sold. The committee consists of Mrs. Holmes Cessna, Mrs. Louise Franklin, Mrs. Rose Yeargan, Mrs. Albert Windish, Mrs. Helen White, Mrs. Hazel Bowling, Mrs. Margaret Hardinger, Mrs. Elva Brotemarkle, Mrs. Dorothy Keller and Mrs. Ruthella Fey.

Announcements included National Home Demonstration Week, April 28-May 4, which the club will observe by placing posters in the White store and Warrick store, Bedford Road. They are to be made by Mrs. Mary Wentling and Mrs. Helen White. The Homemakers Chorus pageant will be presented at West Side School May 6. A meeting of Fair chairmen and club presidents will be held at 1 April 29 in the Court House. May 7 from 10 until 3 a demonstration of caning chairs will be held with Mrs. Albert Windish and Miss Ruth Clauson representing the club. They will conduct a workshop for the club later. The RWSC dinner will be at LaVale fire hall April 24 at 12:30.

The covered dish supper for the 4-H was postponed until the July meeting, when a style show will be held. Mrs. Helen Vandegrift donated $5 for prizes.

Mrs. Cessna presided and opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer, flag salute, and the group sang, "O Sacred Head." The quotation of the month was given by Mrs. Albert Windish. Mrs. Bowling and Mrs. White gave routine reports and Mrs. Fey, the Sunshine report. Mrs. Grace Heavner gave a report on "Grow Old Gracefully." Flowers and cuttings were exchanged.

Talking on birds, Mrs. Herbert Heineman said that 90 different kinds of birds feed from dogwood berries after the bloom goes, and asparagus seeds also are popular with birds. Five states protect the hawk. Discussing migratory and predatory birds, Mrs. Heineman said Central Park in New York is the principal stop-off place for the former, and as many as 200 different species are seen there in a season, and 70 in a day.

Entertainment included jumbled word statements about graceful people. Mrs. Elva Brotemarkle won the prize and Mrs. Bowling, won in the guessing game. Hostesses were Mrs. Douglas Heavner, Mrs. Pearl Dicken and Mrs. Leona Bennett. Eighteen members and two visitors, Mrs. Vandegrift and Miss Nina Seitz, attended.

Hostesses for May are Mrs. Helen Wilkinson, Mrs. Dorothy Gordon and Mrs. Helen Walburn.

Members of the Health Department will entertain in honor of five who are retiring this spring.

Honor guests will be Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county physician, who retires the end of this month, after approximately 1; years service; Mrs. Rose Loibel, Mrs. Anna P. Hardy, nurses of the County Health department; Walter S. (Pat) Kline, sanitarian of the County Health department; and Dr. Karl W. Kolb, dentist of the County Welfare Board, all of whom retire as of June 1 after over 20 years service.

The party will be in the form of a dinner, May 11. It is to be at the Ali Ghan Country Club, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. It will be followed by a program, consisting of a guest speaker and music.

Mrs. Jennie Grahame, office secretary of the County Health department, is general chairman of arrangements.

Christian Mothers To Observe Feast

In observance of the Feast of the Seven Dolors of the Blessed Mother the Confraternity of Christian Mothers of SS. Peter and Paul Church will attend mass and receive Holy Communion in a group at 8 this morning.

A reception of new members will be held at 7:30 April 28 at the church. A social will follow. Mrs. Louis Lippold is chairman.

OFFICIALLY OPEN SEASON — The Woman's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club held its opening spring luncheon Tuesday at the club. Spring flowers decorated the tables. Covers were laid for approximately 90 members and guests. Mrs. Albert Eskin presided, introduced her board and announced committees for the year. A Nine Hole Kicker's Handicap will begin the season April 16, following the clinic at 10 a. m. Mrs. Milton Beneman and Mrs. S. G. Weisman were co-chairmen of the luncheon.

Four Music Students Given 'Superior' Rating

Four "superior" ratings were given at the annual Junior Music Festival, held at Allegany High School, in which 25 music students participated. One was in piano and three were in violin.

"Excellent" ratings were received by one in the piano concerto division; and a violin trio. Two received "very good," and five "good." Miss Virginia Blackhead of the Peabody Conservatory of Music and Dr. Ward Cole, State Teachers College, Frostburg, were the judges.

Centre Street Methodist Church Married Couples Club will meet tonight at the church with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Romine in charge.

Flintstone Club To Have Discussion

Mrs. Curtis Nash, Home Management chairman, will lead a group discussion at the meeting of the Flintstone Homemakers Club, which will be held tonight at the home of Mrs. Russell Dolly.

The topic will be on work simplification, "Take a Look at Yourself."

Mrs. Dolly, Home and Yard Beautification chairman, will report on the recent landscape tour. Blue Cross dues are to be collected. Mrs. H. K. Cheney will be co-hostess.

College Night Is Well Received By Students

Speaking of the fourth annual "College Night" sponsored by Cumberland Branch American Association of University Women, Mrs. Robert Little Ebert, chairman, said she feels "it was most enthusiastically received" by the 75 students and parents attending. Tenth and eleventh grade girls from all public and parochial schools of Allegany County were invited. A majority was represented. It was held in the First Federal Savings and Loan Association auditorium.

Mrs. William Van Newkirk, branch president, welcomed the group and explained the "St. John's Story" a technicolor sound film, shown, represents the liberal arts type education.

She also announced letters have been sent to all principals concerning the county-wide scholarship to be awarded. Applicants received will be considered depending on the need and qualifications. She also pointed out that nurses with B.S. degrees are increasing.

Among the items creating interest, Mrs. Ebert reports, was a chart of schools, the cost, type of course, type of degree, special features and whether it has a nursing program.

Catalogues, view books, bulletins and photographs from 45 colleges were exhibited and distributed.

Assisting Mrs. Ebert were Miss Pauline Cira, Mrs. Wayne Eberly, Mrs. E. E. Miller, Mrs. Arthur Friedland, Mrs. William Lawrence, Mrs. Alice McGuire, Mrs. Arlene Russell, Miss Mary Margaret Sterbutzel, Miss Joann Sterbutzel, Mrs. Alfred Taylor, Miss Ann Thompson, Miss Irene Kirkeby and Miss Ellen Servucky.

Social Chart

Navy Mothers Club will elect a Nominating committee at the meeting at 7:45 tonight at the Legion Home. A games party and social will follow.

Thompson Bible Class of Flintstone Methodist Church will sponsor an "Evening of Fun" April 30 at 7:30 at the Flintstone fire hall. A program of music and dancing will be held and refreshments sold. The public is invited.

The Community Council will meet at 8 tonight at the Woman's Civic Club house.

Cumberland 4-H girls will meet at 7 tonight at the home of Mrs. Francis King, 408 Louisiana Avenue.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Relax With A Nap

Take time for a little nap during the day and you'll make up the time quickly in increased efficiency, regardless of what your work may be.

Besides a bit of sleep during the day is a great beautifier. When you sleep, your muscles relax and the lines in your face smooth away to invisibility. Your eyes are brighter after the refreshing period of respite. And when you arise, you inevitably stand in a straighter posture as the reward of recovery from fatigue.

Even ten minutes of napping can be beneficial. Fifteen or twenty minutes can be a great boon.

With the always-present round of uncompleted tasks, many a homemaker and mother has a feeling of guilt in stealing such precious moments for herself. But this is a mistaken attitude. Business today has come to the frank realization that every worker's efficiency is improved by a break in routine, both during the morning and in the afternoon. A homemaker can benefit by the same relief.

The careerist will find her evening of far greater value if she takes a napping break shortly after arriving at home following her busy day.

To get the most of a short nap, it is important to master the art of "turning off the mind." Click the switch to your brain and allow no thoughts of problems or unfinished tasks to get through. You can learn to think "nothingness"—a little practice is all it takes.

As an aid to achieving this goal, sit on the edge of your bed just before you plan to nap. Let your head fall over your knees in the most relaxed slump that you can achieve. Then sit up again and let your head fall and loll to the right, over your chest, then to the left and lastly as far back as it will. Let it loll round and round as relaxed as possible.

Then place the palms of your hands over your eyes, blanking out everything. The lovely blackness that blocks your gaze is a sleep-inducing factor. Now, lie back on your pillow and place a couple of eye pads treated with special eye lotion over your eyes. They are wonderful refreshers that will relax and give sparkle to your eyes on awakening.

Take time for a nap! It has been the secret of many of the greatest workers of the world, enabling them to accomplish prodigious and amazing feats.

Weather Bureau To Use New Weapons Against Hurricanes

Editor's Note: The Weather Bureau has developed many new devices which it hopes will make hurricane forecasting more accurate. These techniques are described in this last of a series on man's battle against the weather.

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP) — The Weather Bureau already is lining up new weapons for the autumn hurricane wars — and piling up some others which were not completely tested in last year's comparatively mild season for the killer storms.

Bureau scientists say they expect to issue more specific advisories than in previous years, including the last big hurricane year of 1955. That year more than a billion dollars in damage and 1,500 deaths, including 218 in the continental United States, were caused by a near-record 10 howlers from out of the tropical boldrums.

Bureau men are expecting to narrow down their warning to an average of 300 miles of coastal length, compared with about 500 average two years ago.

Last year, only two hurricanes actually threatened the continental United States, and only one of them — Flossie — actually struck.

Bureau scientists are even exploring the possibility of issuing a statement as much as a month in advance of the "general probability" of hurricanes affecting a particular coastal area.

Current research is based on promising experience during the last few years with 30-day outlooks for weather conditions in general. Up to now, these outlooks have not attempted to forecast hurricane possibilities.

But bureau scientists have been analyzing past outlooks for hurricane months, comparing them with conditions observed during actual hurricanes. They have even made a few experimental trial runs during a hurricane season.

They say, however, that results, while promising, require extensive analysis before any decision can be reached on whether such a technique could be placed in operational use this year, if indeed at all.

The new weapons that definitely will be available this year might seem like puny armament against these huge revolving storms that pack winds up to 150 miles an hour and more, brew rainfalls up to 20 inches in 24 hours, and send destructive tides surging over coastal areas. But Weather Bureau men say they could help save lives.

1. Instruments for measuring winds speed and direction right at the water's edge — as distinguished from gadgets which record these items at stations located farther inland.

It has been found that a distance of 10 miles from the coast can make a difference of 30 miles an hour less in recorded wind speed, but that is only an apparent drop as respects the over-all fury of the storm and therefore gives a false idea. Topography of the land accounts in part for such differences in readings.

The same is true of wind-direction recordings, with inland recordings sometimes giving a false idea of where the storm is going.

So a line of 90 new water-edge recorders will be installed this spring and summer all the way from Brownsville, Tex., to Portland, Me.

2. A new system of remote-control tidal gauges will be installed at various points along the Gulf and Atlantic coasts. They will provide a continuous record of water-level heights to weather forecasters at stations located some distance from the ocean's edge.

"The big value of the recorders," said a Weather Bureau man, "is that we'll be able to keep continuous track of what is going on tide-wide, and we'll be able to forecast what is going to happen farther up from or down below a given recording point."

The "hold - over," mostly untried weapons of last year, consists mainly of two giant long-range radars at San Juan, Puerto Rico, and Nantucket, Mass., plus some relatively recent research findings on the antics of hurricanes.

High hopes for the radars stem from "tremendously beneficial" results produced by the new San Juan radar set in hurricane Betsy last year.

The radar's 300-mile range is credited with having helped greatly towards issuing a warning to the island more than 30 hours before the storm struck — and a more specific watch-out-for-your life-and-property warning some 15 hours before the winds hit.

"Our record at Puerto Rico on Betsy is perhaps as good as you'll ever get," says Theodore Gleiter, chief of the bureau's emergency warning section.

Betsy made a feint at the continental United States — serious enough to cause the issuance of a warning — but then veered away. The big radar at Nantucket —outpost for increasingly hurricane-conscious New England — will be on the watch for the likes of her this year. So will the bureau's original long-range radar at Hatteras, N. C., and a network of shorter-range sets in hurricane-sensitive areas.

If the bureau ultimately decides to put out special long-range hurricane forecasts, these would add to the agency's growing list of special forecasts, ranging from fruit - frost predictions to fire-weather outlooks, and from forecasts for cranberry growers to special snow forecasts to help snow removal planners.

Six-Legged Lamb Born In Indiana

LEBANON, Ind., April 11 (AP)—Keith Solomon was expecting the birth of a new Shropshire lamb on his farm near New Brunswick, but he wasn't expecting what he found yesterday—a six-legged lamb.

Four of the legs were black and the two extras were white.

Dr. Russell Hardin, a Lebanon veterinarian, said the lamb was lively and apparently healthy. The extra legs were attached to the abdominal wall directly in front of the hind legs.

India Steel Output

NEW DELHI, April 11 (AP)—India's steel production will increase 50,000 tons to 1,385,000 tons next year and steel imports will drop 650,000 tons to 1,200,000 tons, says a report to Parliament. It reflects India's battle for steel self-sufficiency under its industrialization plan.

Cattle Disease Mounts

ROME, April 11 (AP) — A U. N. committee reports foot and mouth disease, the greatest scourge among European cattle, made a disturbing increase last year.

J&L President Sees $10 Ton Steel Hike

PITTSBURGH, April 11 (AP)—The president of Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. said today he had no idea how much steel prices will advance at mid year but said he thought they should go up at least $10 a ton.

Avery C. Adams, spoke at a news conference where Jones & Laughlin's first quarter earnings report was made public. He made no further reference to the price increase. Steelworkers get a contract raise July 1.

J. & L.'s first quarter earnings were the second highest for the period in the firm's history. The company reported net income of $12,823,000, equal to $1.89 a share, compared to $13,559,000 or $2 a share in the record first quarter

Churchill Gives Health Formula

LONDON, April 11 (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill last night gave a formula for his good health at 81 after severe illness and a momentous life:

"A lot of drinking, a lot of eating and eight or nine hours of sleep, most of it in the daytime."

The former Prime Minister told this to Dr. Masatoshi Matsushita, Japan's special H-bomb envoy who called on him tonight.

The Japanese university president said he found Churchill "looking good, although a little hard of hearing."

Originally, the acre was the area that a yoke of oxen could plow in one day.

Negro Girl, 18, Found Stabbed To Death

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—The nude knife-punctured body of an 8-year-old girl was found beside a railroad track in northeast Washington today.

Deputy Coroner Christopher J. Murphy said it appeared that the Negro child, Valerie D. Lee, had been raped and slain.

Police said there were at least a half dozen wounds on the body. The child had been missing since she left home to return to school after lunch yesterday.

Dr. Murphy said the wounds apparently had been inflicted by a penknife. He fixed the time of death as "sometime last night."

Baby Survives Medical Crises, Declared Cured

ST. LOUIS, April 11 (AP) — Six-month-old Jimmy Hunter, who was born with a hole in his heart and survived an unusual operation and nearly fatal complications, today was declared cured—a normal life ahead of him.

The baby, who required an around-the-clock hospital watch by a team of doctors for more than a week, will be taken home Easter week by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Hunter Jr. of St. Louis.

"Naturally we are excited," the father said. "This is a great thing."

Jimmy survived a four-hour "open heart" operation by a St. Louis University surgery team of 12 persons at Cardinal Glennon Memorial Hospital March 12.

A bubble-oxygenerator, or artificial heart, was used for 45 minutes, permitting the surgeons to close the hole under direct vision while the infant's flow of blood was diverted from the heart.

Then another major medical crisis developed.

Mucus and other secretions in the bronchial passage impeded breathing. A mechanical ventilator similar to an iron lung was used for more than a week with doctors in constant attendance.

And an emergency shipment of pancreatic dornase—a drug still in the experimental stage—was flown here from Philadelphia for use in dissolving the bronchial obstructions.

Expanded Cancer Research Program Necessitates Mice Production Stepup

By FRANK CAREY
AP SCIENCE REPORTER

BOSTON, April 11 (AP)—A sharply stepped-up program of laboratory mouse breeding has been necessitated by an accelerated national program to find improved cancer-fighting chemicals.

This was reported yesterday by Dr. Sidney Farber of Boston who declared that even presently available chemicals have made it possible to prolong the life span of many incurable cancer cases far beyond what was possible only a decade ago.

Farber is one of the key advisors to the relatively new national "cancer chemotherapy program"—a cooperative effort of science and industry, coordinated by the federal government, to develop, screen and test thousands of compounds in the quest of better drug weapons to attack cancers incurable by surgery or radiation.

Saying that the three years since the program has been under way, acquisition of compounds for screening has already risen to 25,000 a year, Farber declared that it's now anticipated that many more will be offered, and plans that call for an estimated 50,000 tests per year involving mice.

"The use of so many mice," he told the 38th annual meeting of the American College of Physicians, "has made it necessary to increase the production of inbred strains of mice from 25,000 a year to one million per year by the fall of 1957."

The program involves testing compounds for anticancer activity in cancerous mice. Any that show such an effect are then tested for safety purposes in various healthy laboratory animals. The final step would involve testing promising—and safe—materials in human cancer cases.

Estimates are that only 25 per cent of all cancer patients are now being cured by the traditional methods of surgery and—or radiation, although it is estimated that at least 25 per cent more could be cured by such methods if diagnosis were made earlier.

Everybody From Toynbee To Gillespie Gets In Act Of Telling America's Story

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP) — Telling the American story appears to be a pretty complicated business.

It includes everything from an article on Casey Stengel to a piece by the historian Arnold J. Tynbee to personal appearances by the jazz trumpeter, Dizzy Gillespie.

Just to tell the story of how the U. S. story is told takes 741 pages of print, some of it fine, as it was presented to a House Appropriations subcommittee. The testimony, made public yesterday, dealt with funds asked for the U. S. Information Agency and the President's special international program.

Since this is supposed to be an economy year in Congress, the questioning was detailed.

Such as the case of Casey Stengel, a fairly well-known manager of a fairly well-known baseball team, the New York Yankees. What does he have to do with telling the American story abroad? Or, as chairman John J. Rooney (D-NY) put it:

"It seems to me that I read almost 365 days a year about Casey Stengel. Why is it necessary to pay someone from a New York newspaper $100 to write about Casey Stengel?"

"This was a request from Japan," Burnett Anderson of the USIA said. "The Yankees were going there to perform and we were asked to prepare some special material."

The USIA buys articles and news items regularly, much as a newspaper may have its country correspondence. A long list of these correspondents was put into the record. Sample: $20 for a piece on the Croat fraternal community of Pittsburgh.

But lurking in the fine print was the name of eminent British historian, Arnold J. Toynbee, who wrote an article on "What Makes Great Powers Great?"

Considering the size of Toynbee's reputation and the size of his subject, his check seems modest enough. We taxpayers paid him $25.

The cultural program calls for sending a wide variety of artists abroad, such as the Boston Symphony, or the American Legion junior baseball team, or Gillespie.

Gillespie, for some reason, seemed to attract the most attention, possibly because he got $2,100 a week for his services, possibly because this hot article in the cool jazz league is a naturally colorful person.

Normally the Diz wears something like a leopard skin cloak and tam while at work, but apparently he varied the routine in South America, for Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio) asked:

"Is it your opinion that it would help the cultural understanding of America, with Dizzy Gillespie riding a horse through the streets of Buenos Aires, dressed as a gaucho, under the sponsorship of this program?"

"If this is a manifestation of exuberance and an attractive personality," Donald B. Cook of the State Department said, "I can't see it would hurt the program."

The strongest criticism came from Eugene W. Castle, a former films manufacturer and a long-time critic of USIA. Castle not only was critical of the agency's operations, but he took a crack at its new director, Arthur Larson, who wrote a book, "Modern Republicanism," that President Eisenhower admired.

Castle was asked if he's a Democrat or a Republican.

"I am a registered Republican, Mr. Chairman," Castle said. "I read Mr. Larson's book and I voted for Mr. Stevenson for president, period. I am sorry to say that, but that is what happened to me. That is the effect of his book."

Last Of Siberian Tiger Cubs Dies

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 11 (AP)—The last of a litter of five rare Siberian tiger cubs died at a veterinary clinic at the University of Minnesota's farm campus yesterday.

It had been forsaken by its mother at Como Park Zoo and was kept alive for 24 hours on milk formula administered by hand at the clinic.

The mother, Sheba, lost a litter of four last year when she refused to feed them. She nursed her latest litter, or the survivors, for three days before abandoning them Monday.

One of the cubs died Saturday, one Monday and two Tuesday. Zoo officials said the cubs, had they lived, would have been valued at about $5,000 each.

McKeldin Will Sign Bill Ending Compact

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., April 11 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland said tonight he will sign into law two bills aimed at wiping out the Maryland-Virginia Potomac River Compact of 1785.

The legislation, stemming from the "oyster war" between the two states, was enacted by the 1957 General Assembly and would go into effect June 1.

One measure will repeal the 172-year-old act by which Maryland agreed to give Virginians equal fishing and navigation rights in the Maryland-owned Potomac.

The other will guarantee continued rights for Virginians but subject them to licensing and regulatory provisions set by Maryland conservation authorities.

McKeldin said the legislation was enacted "exclusively for the purpose of making enforcement of the law possible."

"We have no desire and no intention of depriving law-abiding Virginians of the right to harvest oysters by legal means in the Potomac," he said.

He said he did not initiate the action, but has considered the matter "very carefully." He did not indicate when he will sign the bills, but he must act on all enacted legislation before leaving Easter Sunday on a six week trip to Africa and Europe.

McKeldin said he realizes that the decision as to Maryland's right to abrogate the compact by unilateral action may rest with the Supreme Court.

Despite the "one-sided nature" of the compact, he said, "Maryland always has held the document in the highest respect . . . " If any Maryland waterman is apprehended violating the laws of the river, he is tried and punished in keeping with his offense," the governor said.

"In too many cases," he said, "when the scofflaws are Virginians, they escape apprehension by Maryland authorities and rush to surrender to Commonwealth authorities. Our experience is that, far too frequently, the punishment meted out in Virginia courts is insufficient to serve as a deterrent to repetitions of the crime."

McKeldin mentioned several recent conflicts between law enforcement officers of Maryland's Tidewater Fisheries Commission and Virginia watermen.

He said Virginian oystermen who violate Maryland's law prohibiting oyster dredging have very fast boats—"unnecessary fast for legitimate oystering."

"We also have sound reason to believe that those lawbreakers have well-placed shore observers to warn the illegal dredgers of the approach or position of Maryland Patrol boats," he said.

McKeldin spoke of his recent exchange of letters with Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia regarding an episode in the oyster war. He again denied that there has been any "careless or promiscuous shooting" by Maryland officers and said he "cannot and will not portray or accept portrayal of the men who are sworn to uphold the law as the instigators of the troubles that arise from time to time on the Potomac."

McKeldin said a study group told him there are two possible ways for Maryland to improve conditions on the Potomac by unilateral action—either by prosecuting Virginia violators in Mary land courts or by abrogating the compact.

"We have failed in our efforts to bring violators from Virginia to justice in Maryland courts," McKeldin said. "Abrogation appears to be the answer."

Johns Hopkins Gets $2½ Million Grant

BALTIMORE, April 11 (AP)—The Johns Hopkins University today announced the outright grant of 2½ million dollars from the Rockefeller Foundation to help cover the cost of a revised program of its medical school.

Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, university president, said the new program of medical education would be announced soon. He did not elaborate.

Anti-Hippo 'Perfume'

DURBAN, South Africa, April 11 (AP)—"Perfume" is going to be used to try to drive away hippopatomi causing widespread sugar crop damage in Zululand. A West German chemist has developed a compound duplicating the odor of lions and found it frightened hippopatomi in the West Berlin zoo. South African rangers are eager to try it.

Bacteria By Mail

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, April 11 (AP)—The Universal Postal Union Executive Committee proposes to let laboratories and research stations send dangerous bacteria specimens by international mail to aid medical research.

The decision will be by the Universal Postal Congress in Ottawa next August. Most countries now bar such items.

Reddick Asks Reinstatement In Court Appeal

ANNAPOLIS, April 11 (AP)—Dr. Robert H. Reddick today asked the Court of Appeals to reinstate him as chief psychiatrist at Eastern Shore State Hospital.

Reddick appealed from a Baltimore Superior Court judgment which upheld his dismissal from the Maryland classified service Sept. 19, 1956, by Russell S. Davis, State commissioner of personnel.

He was fired after a hearing on charges brought by Dr. George E. Currier, hospital superintendent.

Currier took his action after Judge Joseph R. Byrnes issued an injunction forbidding Reddick to act as a homepathic medical examiner in Maryland.

Judge Byrnes ruled in Baltimore Circuit Court that Reddick was not a member of the valid Board of Medical Examiners and had issued licenses as head of a "rump" board.

The Court of Appeals upheld Judge Byrnes' decree in an opinion Tuesday.

Reddick, who had been employed at the hospital since December 1, 1951, was dismissed on grounds he had brought "the classified service into public disrepute."

John J. O'Connor Jr., attorney for Reddick, told the high court today that his client "is a physician and psychiatrist of brilliant background and impressive professional attainments—the author of several articles on his specialty."

O'Connor argued that Reddick was not discharged "for cause".

U. Of Md. Regents Adopt Stiffer Set Of Academic Standards

BALTIMORE, April 11 (AP)—University of Maryland students are going to have to work harder and receive better marks to avoid dismissal starting next year.

The board of regents adopted today a stiffer set of academic standards after admission and particularly in the first two years.

Dr. Wilson H. Elkins, president, declared they are designed to "offer a large quantity of students a quality product."

The rules were drawn by a committee of the Senate, a faculty group established by Dr. Elkins to answer criticism that the teachers did not have enough voice in Maryland administration.

The basic change in academic standards is a requirement that students maintain a minimum scholastic average and make progress toward a diploma.

At present, Maryland students have only to pass at least half of their subjects to avoid dismissal.

In addition, under the new regulations, he will have to average 1.5 in all his subjects or be placed on probation. Marks range from 0 to 4. A student who fails more than 35 per cent of his subjects also will be put on probation.

A probationary student must then have an average of at least 1.75 and not fail more than 35 per cent or be dismissed.

The scholastic average also is going to be harder to achieve. The first two years of training in the Reserve Officers Corp, required health and physical education courses won't count. These courses in the past have counted when determining if a student passed at least half his work.

Students no longer will be able to just pass enough subject to stay in college without progressing.

If they don't qualify as juniors after five semesters, they will go on probation which means they will have to maintain a higher scholastic average. If they don't rate as juniors after six semesters, they are to be dismissed. There are two semesters in a college year.

This emphasizes "the necessity of satisfactory achievement in the basic subjects taken by the majority of students during the first two years," the faculty rules committee stated.

"Under the new rules, the student is expected to make up his program early in the semester and to stay with his commitments. The student is expected to pass courses on the first attempt."

Congressional Viewpoint

by Sen. John M. Butler

WASHINGTON — With the regular monthly civilian payroll nearly $1 billion—another all-time record—one begins to comprehend the present dimension of Federal bureaucracy. Some 2,390,507 persons are now employed by the Federal Government. This socialistic tendency has been impervious to the best intentions of contemporary times, and presently seems even more malignant.

Government today is a system of wheels within wheels, wherein the small and obscure wheels grind out in great part the vast bulk of the decisions and policies for which the major and known wheels are ultimately responsible. To make their own positions more secure, the "small and obscure wheels" continually and eloquently urge an enlargement of government functions. The alacrity with which these recommendations are adopted by the "major and known wheels" suggest that they have either been mesmerized or that they lack the stamina to "resist the tide." Therein rests one of the major obstacles to reducing the national budget.

The erroneous idea of a big, centralized bureaucracy is not without devotees in and out of government. A vocal minority of our population are steadfastly dedicated to the "great socialist revolution." They do not call themselves socialists. They are always "liberals," and it is always in the name of "liberalism" that they speak and act. But that these people are socialists in disguise, is plainly revealed by these basic assumptions which they fervidly profess:

Government is good and to be expanded, business is evil and too regimented; labor unions are good, employers are wicked; the Federal Government is progressive, and should increasingly supplant the States which are regarded as obsolete; public ownership is better than private enterprise, which is looked upon as selfish and corrupt; wages are good, profits are sinful; public welfare measures should replace private charity; the executive branch of the Federal Government, and in particular the regulatory agencies thereof, should be given more power and wider discretion, the Congress and the Courts should be subordinated and curtailed.

Each of these assumptions have their origins in socialism, the dangers of which were accurately expressed by Harold Macmillan, Britain's Prime Minister, when he said: " ... there is no difference between socialism and communism except this: Socialism is soft, communism is hard; socialism is pink, communism is red; socialism gets you down bit by bit by a kind of anesthetic process. It might be called mercy-killing. Communism just knocks you in the head."

Raspberry Spraying Prevents Anthracnose

Local and area truck gardeners whose livelihood depends on thriving crops, and amateur gardeners with a fascinating hobby, are reminded that spraying time for raspberries occurs when green leaves begin to show in the buds.

Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, said yesterday such spraying controls anthracnose on black raspberries and spur blight on red varieties.

He pointed out that truck gardeners of the Cumberland area cultivate large numbers of raspberry bushes in conjunction with other crops.

The green tip fungicide spray, Steger points out, is applied to fruiting canes to reduce anthracnose before new canes appear. He suggests spraying with liquid lime sulfur 10 gallons in 100 gallons of water, or four pints in five gallons.

Cover canes from both sides, he added. Anthracnose stunts canes and often kills weaker shoots. The disease is found on fruiting canes as oval to round gray scars or spots.

The fungus lives from year to year on the canes and in the spring spores are washed from fruiting canes to new growth. The spots on new canes appear as small purplish lesions; later, they become larger and turn gray.

Spur blight appears as brown or violet-brown discolored areas at the buds on the lower half of young canes.

Kemp Funeral Today

BALTIMORE, April 11 (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for W. Thomas Kemp, Jr., 51-year-old Baltimore attorney and chairman of the State Board of Public Welfare.

Kemp was stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage in his office last Tuesday and died yesterday in Mercy Hospital. He apparently had been in good health.

Breach Of Contract

LONDON, April 11 (AP)—A British family contended their food and drink in flight was anything but epicurean as promised for a Paris tour last year by British European Airways and Air France.

The air lines got their bookings mixed up and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Colonia-Chalmers and daughter had to come home tourist class with tepid tea and buns instead of champaigne and French cooking, they testified.

The judge awarded them $84 for breach of contract.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

ALLENHURST, N. J., April 11 (INS)—All over the United States, in places as small as this fine little borough and in boroughs as large as Brooklyn, people like my neighbor Hazel Dickson are knocking on hearts — collecting contributions to the American Cancer Society.

It is not easy work. People have taxes to worry about, grocery bills, school bills. Other Hazel Dicksons have been around to speak for the Heart Fund, polio, community chest, arthritis, nephritis, Boys Clubs, and all the other fine works of charity and do-good. The Hazel Dicksons are running into some closed doors. But being people of good spirit, they persevere.

Their battle to meet a quota is a reflection of a bigger, dramatic crusade—the work these people are endeavoring to underwrite. Cancer yields its secrets with sullen reluctance, taking a savage toll along its path of retreat. Those who have lived with a cancer victim can find no real solace in the occasional, heavily guarded laboratory progress reports, only a St. Lo breakthrough, the rupture of a Siegfried Line, the seizure of a Rhine bridge—in the medical research sense—could stir them. As for the victim himself, who can plumb the depth of his doubt or scale the peaks of his numb hope?

Only when one looks back as many as 20 years can the impact of the inroads science has made against cancer be felt properly. In 1937 three out of every four cancer patients died. Period. It was not a field of research the young scientist was likely to embrace with any enthusiasm. Newspapers avoided the word. Obits spoke of "died of a lingering illness."

Only a limited number of people then knew the symptoms of cancer: Unusual bleeding or discharge, a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere, a sore that does not heal, persistent change in bowel or bladder habits, persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing, or change in a wart or mole.

Cure rates—through improved surgery and radiation—have risen 33 per cent in the past decade. Surgeons now do things unheard of before World War II. They can remove the stomach, a lung, all the organs of the pelvis, part of a liver, the vital adrenal glands, even the master gland, the tiny pituitary at the base of the brain—when these are sources of cancer. They can paint the area from which a tumor has been removed with cancer-destroying nitrogen mustard, or flood the site with radioactive colloidal gold which can destroy stray cancer cells which might be escaping.

More powerful rays can reach the innermost recesses of the body, guided by beacon-like radioactive isotopes. Life in terminal cases has been restored fully, if temporarily, with hormones of bewildering origin and, conversely, by the removal of hormone-producing glands. Drugs, once scoffed at, have proved they can cure certain experimental cancers in animals—completely. Drs. Margaret Reed Lewis and Boland Hughes of the University of Pennsylvania inject lethal lymphatic cancers in two rats. One dies in three weeks. The other, fed quinolinium, gets well with no after effects.

Men and women work 'round-the-clock, at heavy cost, with natural and synthetic hormones and vitamins, antibiotics, antimitotics, antimetabolites, poison specimens from the ocean floor and mountain heights, organ extracts, made-to order molecules, and viruses galore.

The mighty dream, in the latter case, is to produce a virus which lives only on cancer cells and which will roam through the patients body seeking out the cancers and demolishing them, as other viruses attend to other diseases. Some have been isolated which kill cancers in chickens, but then kill the chicken, but that is a form of progress. Finally, there is sleepless research in quest of a vaccine. The Salk of cancer has not emerged from the shadows of the lab. But there were those in polio work who despaired of ever seeing him, too. Yet he appeared, just as surely as will the Hazel Dicksons who seek to enlist you in the great work.

Clean-Up Week Gets A Boost

Maryland Clean-Up Week begins Saturday April 13, but the Governor's Committee to Keep Maryland Beautiful has announced that some cooperating groups have already made great strides in giving their communities a "spring cleaning."

For example, the North Harford County Boys' 4-H Club tackled a major project along State Highway 543, north of Bel Air, and successfully completed it during the past week.

The boys borrowed a truck, and with rakes, shovels, and baskets cleaned up an area which had been littered by illegal dumping.

Groups and individuals who tidy up areas during Clean-Up Week can obtain similar signs from county councils and county commissioners, the Governor's Committee announced.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

By 1956, Maryland ought to have 29 airports and one seaplane facility to meet its air commerce and general aviation needs.

That is the opinion of the United States Department of Commerce as reported in its 1957 revision of the National Airport Plan.

Included in the reports are existing airfields and planned air facilities which, having been certified as necessary, are eligible to receive funds under the Federal-Aid-to-Airports program.

Among Maryland's 30 listings, which represent all areas of the State, six are designated as "Airports for Air Commerce" and 24 are identified as "Airports for General Aviation."

"Air Commerce" facilities are described as those needed for scheduled and large irregular carriers, while "General Aviation" airports are those necessary to serve smaller planes such as those used for agricultural work, industrial and chartered flights, personal flying, and training.

Intercontinental Express

If all the plans are completed, the 1965 airport situation in the Free State will include the following "Air Commerce" fields:

BALTIMORE — Friendship International Airport, for intercontinental and intercontinental express service, and Harbor Field, for trunk lines.

CUMBERLAND — Cumberland Municipal Airport, for trunk service.

HAGERSTOWN — Hagerstown Municipal Airport, for trunk and feeder flights.

Secondary Facilities

The "General Aviation" facilities included in the National Airport Plan for Maryland are:

ABERDEEN-HAVRE DE GRACE — A new airfield, for secondary service.

ANNAPOLIS — A new airport, for feeder service.

BALTIMORE — Eastern Airport, Rutherford and new seaplane facilities, all for secondary service.

BELTSVILLE — A new Beltsville Airport, for trunk service.

BRUNSWICK — A new installation, for secondary service.

I have seven in my family, and considering gasoline and trouble running to the market, I would say I save on the average of $20.00 per week. I have had my freezer four months. Within that time I have ordered twice. One order was for $16.00 and my order last week, which will do me for a month and a half, was $28.00. I certainly am satisfied with the plan, I don't know how I did without it.

Yes we find an extra convenience in our home. It saves time for getting meals. Well, in cold packing it's kind of hard to put it up in the cans, but you usually have to leave it boil in water about three hours . . . and you get it ready for freezing in about forty-five seconds. We believe the outstanding convenience is that you can put your finger on anything you want at any time.

25 Kelly Workers Will Get Benefits

The State Employment Security Board in an opinion announced yesterday ruled that 25 retired Kelly-Springfield Tire Company workers were eligible to draw unemployment benefits.

The claimants had retired in February under the terms of the Kelly-Local 26, United Rubber Workers Union, contract that all employes must retire at age 65.

At that time they became eligible for a pension which is entirely subsidized by the company.

The chairman of the board, Robert B. Kimble, set forth his decision with supporting facts.

The other two members of the board, C. H. Borcherding Sr. and Joseph P. Healey, filed a concurring opinion in which they agreed with Kimble's decision but for different reasons.

Kimble ruled that the claimants did not leave employment without good cause within the meaning of Section 5b of the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law which was the issue at stake.

He pointed to a law of the 1947 General Assembly denying benefits to those receiving pensions. This was later repealed after a study that condemned the harshness of this action, which had been an amendment to the Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law.

"I must conclude from this that the silence of the statute in connection with this matter is not accidental, but deliberate, and that it was the clear and unmistakeable intention of the legislature that the receipt of a pension has absolutely no effect on eligibility for benefits," Kimble ruled.

Kimble declared the second issue is whether or not the company's position that the claimants voluntarily quit work is sound under the law.

He referred to a New Jersey opinion in a similar case where the ruling was for the claimant. This stated that when an employe must retire at age 65 it is not a voluntary quit.

Borcherding and Healy said while disagreeing with Kimble s reasons, that: "It is not within the province of the Maryland Employment Security Board to delve into the merits of the retirement system of an employer in order to determine a claimant's eligibility for unemployment insurance benefits. From the facts in this case, we conclude that the claimants became unemployed through no fault of their own and therefore are entitled to benefits."

Presenting the case for the claimants at the hearing held before an examiner here were James Stein, president, Joseph V. Burke, secretary, and Stanley E. Zorick, treasurer, all of Local 26, together with Simon F. Reilly, local attorney.

For the company were F. T. Bell, personnel manager, and Harry Nelson, manager of the labor relations department.

The claimants winning the benefits were Chris L. Pollack, Mt. Savage; Ira D. Ryan, RD 3; Robert C. Pollack, Mt. Savage; George W. Dodge, RD 1; Herman J. Rolley, 719 Patterson Avenue.

Garrett Youths Sentenced On Theft Charges

Two 14-year-old Oakland boys were sentenced to four months in the Garrett County Jail Wednesday.

Sentence was handed down by Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley sitting in Juvenile Court at Oakland. The two boys were found to be delinquent minors. Two other boys, involved in the same case, were placed on probation for two years. All four entered guilty pleas.

The Garrett County sheriff's office said the two boys sent to the jail have been placed in quarters separate from adult prisoners. The two boys are the first juveniles ever sentenced to the Garrett County jail, according to the sheriff's office.

W. Dwight Stover, attorney for one of the boys, said that he and E. Ray Jones, who represented the other youth, did not raise any objection to the jail sentence. Stover said that the law states "that if a child is confined in a jail he must be placed in a room separate from adult inmates."

Stover also said that the judge "shall determine if the case is within his jurisdiction and determine whether to place the child with a private or public institution or agency."

Sheriff Edward R. Muir of Allegany County said that no juvenile has ever been sentenced to the county jail here. Since the juvenile detention quarters were provided at the County Infirmary in June of 1949 all boys and girls under 18 years of age have been cared for there until they have been tried in Juvenile Court.

The youths were apprehended last week by Oakland City Police while looting the R. and P. Firestone Store in Oakland of $1,112-.24 in merchandise.

Officer Porter DeWitt caught the two boys as they were loading the stolen articles into a pick-up truck they had taken earlier.

State's Attorney S. R. Pagenhardt presented the state's case at Wednesday's hearings.

During the Firestone robbery the boys took nine guns, several of them high powered rifles; 37 boxes of .22 calibre shells, seven boxes of 16-gauge shotgun shells, 10 boxes of 12-gauge shotgun shells, 24 boxes of high powered rifle bullets, two radios, three rifle telescopes, watches, flashlights, pocket knives, hunting knives, fishermen's hats and other items.

During questioning at the sheriff's office the youths admitted nine other robberies in Oakland over a period of several weeks. The pair also reported two other boys had been involved in a few of the breaking and enterings.

The robberies occurred at Englander Pharmacy, Browning's Hardware Store, Hub's Harness Shop, Carroll's Sport Shop, Western Auto Accessories Store, Smouse's Store, Oakland Pharmacy and the Oakland Radio and Electric Company.

Besides stealing the pickup truck, the two boys also admitted stealing two automobiles for "joy rides." They told authorities they would steal the cars, steal gasoline and dealers plates and then drive throughout the Oakland area before returning them to the lots.

Routch Conductor At Pa. Music Festival

Valgene Routch, supervisor of music education in Allegany County schools, is in Summerville, Pa., as guest conductor of the annual music festival of Jefferson County high schools. This is the second year in which Routch has been invited to conduct the festival.

The two-day program will be climaxed with a concert this evening. Approximately 120 students from six Jefferson County high schools are participating in the festival.

Fort Hill Bands To Present Annual Concert

Fort Hill's Junior and Senior Bands will present their annual spring band concert, today at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium.

The Junior Band will open the program presenting the selections, "Power March" by Bennett, "Carnival of Roses," by Olivadoti; "Precision March," by Hayes; "Village Chimes," by Bennett; "Mambo Jambo," by Prado, and "Concord March," by Alford, which will feature the Junior Band majorettes.

Highlighting the Senior Band program will be the following selections, "Star Spangled Banner," "March Fete Triumphal." by Olivadoti; "American Folk Rhapsody," by Brundman; "Impresario," by Mozart; "Blue Mist," by Osterling; "First Suite in E flat," by Holst, directed by James Diehl, student director; "Semper Fidelis," by Sousa; "Boogie March," by Mofitt, which will feature a dance routine by the Senior Band majorettes; "Nell the Farmer's Daughter," by Dorr; a novelty number, "Malaguena," by Lecuona, and "Stars and Stripes Forever," by Sousa.

Solos will be given by Wanda Tate and James Diehl, accompanied by Judy Kompanek.

A string ensemble, under the direction of Miss Pauline Cira, will present the following selections, "Marche Triomphale," by Ellis Levy, "Andante and Rondo," by Pleyel, and "Caprice Viennois" by Kreisler.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 11 (INS)—Andre Hakim's excitement was contagious even via the cablegram he sent me from Paris saying that he has beat out Hecht-Hill-Lancaster and Carol Reed for the rights to "Rapture in My Rags." Andre says, "It's perfect for Audrey Hepburn and Yul Brynner and I'm going to move heaven and earth to get them."

"Rapture in My Rags" (a strange title) is a new novel by Phyllis Hastings and is a hot seller in England. It's the off-beat story of a farm girl with no one to love who falls in love with a scarecrow until a cynical farm laborer comes along and she transfers her affections to him. Has a mood of fantasy a la "Lili."

When my good-looking young friend, Bob Kenaston, son of Billie Dove and Bob Kenaston, started talking about a movie career several years ago, I didn't take him too seriously. And, I don't think Billie (one of the great beauties of the silent screen) and his father did, either.

Well, he's fooled us all. After a training period playing small roles on both the screen and TV, he gets a top spot with Clark Gable and Doris Day in "Teacher's Pet," for Perlberg-Seaton at Paramount. Bill Perlberg is particularly high on young Kensaton and he says he's giving him this chance to prove himself because of the excellent job he did with Tony Perkins in "Tin Star."

The reason for that big smile on Corinne Calvet's face these days is that her husband, Jeffrey Stone, has just signed a long term contract with U-I where he has just finished "The Girl in the Kremlin"—and with a big boost in salary.

Jeff kicks off the new deal by co-starring with Keith Andes in "Damn Citizen!" for Producer Herman Webber.

When you think of it, Jeff has had a strange career in Hollywood. "Damn Citizen!" will be just the second picture he has made in this country in five years. When his career sagged in Hollywood five years ago, he went to Europe where he obtained steady work in movies and TV films. Until he married Corinne he had no intention of returning to Hollywood. Now look what's happened.

We'll know who gets the coveted "Marjorie Morningstar" role no later than next week. This comes straight from Producer Milton Sperling who tells me that the field has narrowed down to three, Shirley MacLaine, Natalie Wood and Claire Bloom.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Jayne Mansfield's boy friend, Mickey Hargitay, tells me he's dropped the suit he brought last year in Washington, D. C., against Mae West and Chuck Krauser brought on when Krauser took a swat at him backstage. Mickey says he can't be bothered.

The girl seems to really like more mature dates — I mean Kathy Grant, who used to be Bing's big moment, is now dating John West, NBC executive, who has a couple of children approaching her age.

It's all quiet again on the Kim Novak-Mac Krim front. They took Mac's sister and brother-in-law to the premiere of "Designing Woman" — all very family style.

Hollywood's really jumping with premieres. Tonight, "The Spirit of St. Louis" makes it's bow at a black-tie event followed by a big party at the Mocambo (Frank Sinatra put on an extra show) hosted by Jack Warner.

Jarma-Lewis, who is expecting a baby in November, tells me she's giving up her career in June to move to Chicago where her husband Ted Bensinger is taking over his family's business.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Local Man Being Held In California

A Cumberland man was apprehended Wednesday in Sunnyvale, Calif., by the FBI on a warrant charging him with fleeing Maryland to avoid prosecution for rape.

The man, James Arthur Christman, 31, was indicted by the Allegany County Grand Jury in January.

A warrant was issued by the local state's attorney's office charging Christman with raping a local 13-year-old girl.

FBI Special Agent H. G. Foster of California said Christman was arrested Wednesday and is charged in a federal complaint filed March 18 at Baltimore with fleeing Maryland to avoid prosecution in Cumberland.

Christman, married and the father of two children, is being held in the San Jose City Jail and will be given a hearing before a United States Commissioner.

Local Post Office Cuts To Save $305

HEADS TEACHERS — William J. Donahue, a member of the faculty at Allegany High School, was elected president of the Allegany County Teachers Association Wednesday at the annual meeting. He is a veteran of World War II.

The curtailment of window service and deliveries scheduled to go into effect tomorrow at the Post Office could result in savings of approximately $305 weekly, Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon said yesterday.

Emphasizing that the reduction in service and work force depends on what action will be taken today by the House Appropriations Committee, and House vote Monday, Postmaster Conlon said the estimated savings is but a "drop in the bucket" of what it will be should the embargo of third class mail and money orders go into effect on April 29.

Pointing out that there is a chance the House group will accede to Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield's request for $47 million to run his department for the last three months of the government's fiscal year, and that the House will support the committee's action, Conlon said any reduction in forces or service would be "deplorable."

It is estimated that approximately 35 hours a week will be saved in postal collections by the curtailment order, some 60 hours in carrier service, and 65 hours in delivery of special deliveries. This averages out, the postmaster said, to the equivalent of four full-time employes working 40-hour weeks.

Beginning tomorrow, Conlon explained, the curtailment order will affect Station A in South Cumberland and all other stations in the region. The only service available Saturday and Sunday will be box services and special deliveries, he pointed out.

Contract stations, stores and establishments where money orders, stamps and other postal services are available to the public, will continue to operate as before, Conlon said, with the exception that these stations will not accept fourth class mail (parcel post).

The postmaster also noted that window service will be cut at the Post Office next week. In view of the orders from the postmaster general, Conlon said the parcel post, general delivery, registry and C.O.D. windows will be open from 8:30 to 5 p.m. Normal hours have been from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Conlon also pointed out that no bulk deliveries of mail will be accepted at the Post Office either Saturday or Sunday. Usually such deliveries are accepted from the mailing platform in the back of the Post Office, but under the restrictions imposed only first class mail and newspapers will be accepted.

The impending embargo, Conlon repeated, will have the most telling effect on the general public. In this area alone, he said, the existence of many firms depends on third class mailing privileges. The embargo will also affect religious and charitable organizations who use this means of reaching the public for contributions.

Present plans call for medicines to be the only article which will be accepted for mailing under third class status, Conlon said.

The only service, he concluded, which will be available to the public either Saturday or Sunday will be the stamp machines in the lobby of the Post Office.

Somerset Bus Line Resumes Operations

The Somerset Bus Company went back into service yesterday for the first time since December 17 when its drivers went out on strike.

The firm operates buses from Somerset to Pittsburgh, Johnstown and Cumberland.

The management announced the schedule will remain the same as it was before the strike.

The contract for the drivers represented by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen was effected with management.

Service will be partially curtailed for some time between Somerset and Grantsville.

Grantsville Man Hurt In Auto Accident

Admitted to Meyersdale Community Hospital was Hobert H. Spicher.

Tfc. Charles H. DeWitt of the Maryland State Police, who investigated, said Spicher sustained lacerations of his face, possible fractures to the ribs and internal injuries.

Tfc DeWitt said the man was traveling west on the highway when he failed to negotiate a curve. The vehicle struck an embankment and came to rest crosswise in the eastbound lane of traffic.

Allegany Band To Give Concert Today

The Allegany High School Senior Band will present a concert today at 7:45 p. m. in the school auditorium.

The program, an annual project, will feature six marches and 11 other musical selections.

The marches include "The Booster", "Colonel Bogey", "Lights Out March", "Billboard March," "Officer Of the Day" and "On The Mall", featuring Ginger Davis on the piccolo.

Solos will be given by Raymond Ogden, trumpet; Marlene Brings, clarinet; Sheila Fram, flute; Lawrence Shafferman, trombone, and Allen Fisher, baritone.

Another selection, "Rocked In The Cradle Of The Deep", will feature Michael Shaffer on the bass; Charles Diehl, Frederick Sammel and Lawrence Shafferman, trombone trio. Thomas Ward will play "Willow Echoes" on the trumpet.

During the band's presentation of "Nordic Fantasy", Frances Harvey, drum majorette, will present a solo on the oboe while Allen Emerick will be featured on the clarinet. The majorettes, Lois Lee, Helen Wanless and Marlene Brings, will present "Dancing Reeds", a clarinet trio.

A trumpet duet, "The Pals", will be presented by Raymond Ogden and John Blake.

The band will also present "Csardas", "Morning Noon and Night in Vienna", "Ave Maria", and "Song Of India".

Following the concert a dance will be held in the school gymnasium with music provided by the Allegany Dance Band.

Governor Signs County Bills

Governor McKeldin yesterday signed the bill that sets up the participation of the Tri-Towns in the new waste disposal plant of the Luke Mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

The bill authorizes the Upper Potomac River Commission to construct, maintain and operate the waste treatment plant through the issuance of revenue bonds.

The measure was sponsored by the Allegany and Garrett county delegations.

Only one other Allegany County bill was included in the batch of 295 bills signed into law. That was House Bill 918 which provides for a revision of the dog laws in this county.

It provides for the establishment of a pound and dog wardens, to be financed by licenses and handled through a contract with the Animal Welfare of Allegany County, Inc.

The dog wardens will have the powers of a constable in selling licenses, and taking care of strays, sick or injured dogs.

Two other bills sponsored by Allegany County delegates were also signed — House Bill 439, by Del. Noel Speir Cook, that leaves payments of appraisers of estates up to the discretion of the orphans court judges, and House Bill 890, by Del. Estel C. Kelley, that increases from $2,000 to $4,000 the share awarded the surviving husband and widow in cases where the intestate left no surviving children or parents, but did leave a brother or sister or child of a brother or sister.

Liquor Dealers To Get State Charter

The Allegany County Retail Liquor Dealers Association met Wednesday at the Little Ritz in Frostburg and made plans for a charter presentation.

Casper R. Taylor Sr., president, said the charter affiliating the county group with the Maryland Retail Liquor Dealers Association will be presented at a dinner at the Clarysville Inn Wednesday, May 8, at 6:30 p.m.

Here for the event will be Jack Minton, Baltimore, state association president.

Certificates of membership will be presented each dealer belonging to the association. Taylor said 90 per cent of those holding liquor licenses have joined the organization.

The first telephone installed in the White House came during the administration of President Rutherford B. Hayes.

Average length of life for industrial workers in the United States reached an all time high in 1956.

Recollection Day Is Set By KC

Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, will sponsor a Day of Recollection on Sunday at SS. Peter and Paul Church.

The day's activities will begin with mass at 8:15 a. m., followed by a breakfast. A conference will be held at noon, and the program will close with a Holy Hour at 3 p. m.

Thomas E. Carroll, grand knight, said the affair is open to members and interested men of the area.

Rev. Kilian Krings, OFM, Cap., monastery superior, will serve as retreat master.

Mr. Carroll also announced that the council's annual Easter dance will be held on Friday, April 26, beginning at 10 p. m. in the council home.

Missing Links?

TORONTO, April 11 (AP) — The Royal Ontario Museum reports a thousand-year-old burial pit in Pickering Township near here may fill a long gap in province history. It is withholding announcement of the site as a precaution against vandals.

Expert Walter Kenyon reported dismembered but geometrically arranged skeletons and relics may provide missing links in the story of the Ontario Indians.

Two Staff Promotions At Luke Mill Announced

Two changes in the staff of the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company were announced yesterday by William M. Thompson, general superintendent.

Roy P. Webber, 123 Main Street, Westernport, was promoted to staff assistant to the mill superintendent, while Baxter L. Willey, 221 Miller Street, Westernport, was transferred to the technical service department.

Webber, who was a member of the technical service department at Luke, joined the company in October 1953 at the Charleston (S. C.) Mill. In August of 1954 he was transferred to the research department at the Charleston plant, and on June 1, 1956 he was transferred to the research department of the Covington, Va., plant.

Webber was then transferred on July 1, 1956 to the technical service department at Luke.

Willey, who has been employed at the Luke plant since June of 1942, was transferred to the technical service department where he will be responsible for study dealing with long range design and development in the field of paper finishing.

He joined the company as a chemist in the main laboratory at Luke and held that position until 1946 when he was changed to the coating preparation department. In 1951 he was promoted to foreman in the finishing room and in 1953 he was promoted to finishing superintendent.

A year later he became assistant paper superintendent.

A native of Steuben, Maine, he was graduated from the University of Maine in 1942 with a degree in chemical engineering.

Jordan Agrees

Jail-House Lawyers Are Problem To Officials

BALTIMORE, April 11 (AP)—"Jail house lawyers" — prisoners with a smattering of self-taught law who write their own court appeals —apparently have become quite a problem.

They had attorneys general from 18 states talking for more than an hour today on ways to curb them.

"Some of our prisoners are so good (at legal maneuvering) you'd think that half the West Virginia bar was up there," Barnard Smith, assistant West Virginia attorney general, told the Southern Regional Conference.

What concerns the attorneys general is abuse of the writs of habeas corpus after trials and convictions.

Most laws are so written that a prisoner by the mere filing of a writ claiming his constitutional guarantee of due process has been violated must be awarded a court hearing.

Up until 15 years ago in Maryland, Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert reported, this state had "practically no restrictions" on the form of application for a hearing or where it had to be filed.

One convicted murderer, Sybert said, filed 53 applications.

"No one disputes the vital part of habeas corpus in the history of free men," declared Attorney General Eugene Cook of Georgia. "But it was not intended to be used as a delay in the execution of sentence or harassment."

Cook headed a committee of the conference which studied proposed limitations on the use of the habeas corpus writ after convictions and also on lawyers for defendants unable to afford them.

In addition to proposed state laws limiting habeas corpus applications to one, the national association of attorneys general is backing a bill in Congress to put further limitations on those heard by federal courts after once going though state courts.

Louis C. Wyman, New Hampshire attorney general and president of the national association, said the Congressional bill proposes to "limit abuse by prisoners who seek through federal courts to interfere with state courts."

Civil Service Books Received

A series of Pergande civil service books with information on civil service examination on some 25 different subjects has been added to the Cumberland Free Public Library's collection, according to Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian.

There are some 40 volumes in all because the library has more than one copy of some of the most popular.

Arithmetic, bank examiner, civil engineering, clerk, clerk-stenographer, clerk-typist, electrical engineering, employment interviewer, engineering fundamentals, federal service entrance examinations, first-line supervisor (Post Office), general tests, law enforcement officers, librarian, mail handler, mental alertness tests, miscellaneous office machine operator, Post Office clerk-carrier, postal general tests, reference manual, rural mail carrier, social worker-employment interviewer; telephone operator, translator—Spanish, French, German; treasury enforcement agent, U.S. Army-Navy classification tests, vocabulary and spelling.

Between 1909 and today, United States per capita consumption of eggs increased 40 per cent, green vegetables 60 per cent and tomatoes 80 per cent.

Miss Camper Is Renamed To State Office

Some 15 representatives from the Allegany County public school system attended the recent second annual meeting of the Maryland State Federation of the International Council for Exceptional Children at Rosewood State Training School in Baltimore County.

Miss M. Jean Camper, supervisor of special education in the county public schools and one of the 15 from here at the meeting, was re-elected treasurer of the state group.

Keynote address at the meeting was given by Dr. Leon Eisenberg, assistant professor of psychiatry and pediatrics at Johns Hopkins. A welcome was extended by Dr. George C. Medairy, director of Rosewood.

Workshop sessions discussed such topics as retarded children, emotional disturbances, gifted children, and speech and hearing problems. Dr. Harrie Selznick, director of special education in Baltimore City, is the new president of the state group. The president-elect named last Saturday is Mrs. Miriam Ulrich, connected with the Montgomery County special education department.

Attending from here besides Miss Camper were John F. Manley, principal of Hill Street School, Frostburg; Miss C. Maureen Manley, his daughter, who teaches at Johnson Heights School; Mrs. Margaret E. Faulk and Mrs. Louise B. Sharpless, speech correctionists; Mrs. Valetta C. Gross, Mrs. Samantha A. Lucas, John F. Nickel, Mrs. Nellie D. Grahame, Mrs. Bernadine B. Grove and Mrs. Claudine Rice, all Pennsylvania Avenue School teachers; Mrs. Margaret C. Kirby and Mrs. Marian W. Wilson, LaVale School special class teachers; Miss T. Imogene Caudill, principal of Eckhart School, and Mrs. Helen M. Lehr, Lincoln School special teacher.

Miss Camper and some of the teachers now are making plans to attend the national convention of the International Council for Exceptional Children in Pittsburgh, Pa., April 24-27.

Six Area Men Join Air Force

Six men have been enlisted this week in the Air Force at the local recruiting station.

All enlisted for four years except a career man who re-enlisted for six years. He is Robert I. Bell, 115 Johnson Street, Westernport, an aircraft mechanic stationed at Andrews Air Force Base. He has served eight years and holds the rank of staff sergeant.

New recruits, who have been assigned to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, include Gerald E. Collins, 326 Virginia Avenue; Norman L. Lamp, 17 Boone Street; William A. Pyles, 211 Water Street, Fort Ashby, W. Va.; James E. Miller, RFD 1, Westernport; and John C. Wood, RFD 1, Everett, Pa.

Easter Cantata To Be Offered At Zion Methodist

The Junior and Senior choirs of Zion Methodist Church will present an Easter Cantata, "Victory Divine," Sunday evening at 7:30. The music will be under the direction of Arthur Brill, and Miss Nancy Brill will be organist.

The cantata for mixed voices, by Edward W. Norman with text by Elsie Duncan Yale, will include the following outstanding numbers, "The Springtime of The Soul," choir; "The Light Is Fading," choir; "The Master Loved The Lilies," by women's chorus; "The Soldiers," men's chorus with bass solo by Jay Hite and tenor solos by Thomas Murray and Leonard Sweitzer; "The Voice Of Victory," by the choir; "Glory In Our Hearts," choir and soprano solo by Mrs. Howard Williams; "Jesus Is Risen," woman's chorus; "Peace Be Unto You," soprano solo by Miss Gertrude Berry; "Ye Are Risen With Christ," choir; "Victory Through Christ," by the choirs.

The center portion will be played in the background softly while the reception of new members will be held and they will receive confirmation at the altar by Rev. Louis L. Emerick. The altar will be decorated with palms and snapdragons. The public is invited.

Potomac State Program Cited

Although Potomac State College at Keyser is a junior college branch of West Virginia University and essentially an institution for West Virginias it does help fill the college needs of young people from Maryland's two westernmost counties.

That view was expressed here yesterday by A. K. VanScoy, head of the physics department at Potomac State, who addressed the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at Central YMCA.

Mr. VanScoy, who has had 35 years experience in the field of education, expressed a hope that the campaign of the Western Maryland Section of the American Chemical Society for a four-year liberal arts college in the Cumberland area will succeed. He observed that by the mid-1960s the demands for college education will be so great that many more institutions will be needed.

The speaker said that about 75 Marylanders, or 13.6 per cent of the student body of 550 at Potomac State last year, were enrolled in the Keyser institution. In summer school nearly half of the students there are Marylanders. In the summer of 1955, 48 of the 100 were from this state.

Mr. VanScoy asserted that Potomac State offers a well-rounded educational program comparing favorably with that offered at West Virginia University for freshmen and sophomores. He cited school publications, fraternities and sororities, intercollegiate and intra-mural athletics as being part of this well-rounded program.

Local 1874 Thanks Keegan And Police

Police Commissioner William V. Keegan has received a letter of thanks from Local 1874, Textile Workers Union, for help extended by the Police Department Monday.

The department expedited the strike vote taken by the local, he said, by allowing members to park long enough to vote.

The body is at the Bolden Funeral Home here where a service will be conducted tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. by Rev. W. S. Patterson, pastor of St. Paul's Church. Burial will be in Point of Rocks Cemetery.

Educators Make

"In the field of health and physical education, hiking, archery, marksmanship, safety, swimming, fishing, skating, skiing, first aid and many other activities related to the field of health and physical education, all are a vivid part of the immediate environment of the pupils attending school in Garrett County," the superintendent maintains.

These factors are recreational activities, he points out, that are directly related to the health and well-being of individuals participating. The increasing number of people of the county who take part in the broadening recreational programs will benefit from a sound program in the schools. Those who come into the county as visitors, vacationers, tourists and perhaps to establish homes, will ultimately be surrounded by a planned outdoor activities program.

Mr. Hawkins believes that the understanding and knowledge of the scope of recreation is a direct responsibility of the school, if Garrett County is to "sell" its recreational possibilities and if it is to become a mecca for vacationers, summer and winter.

The superintendent believes that the natural beauty of the county offers its greatest educational challenge. "The ability to appreciate and enjoy the environmental beauty provided by man's Creator is the big challenge," he declared. Painting, sketching, schoolground beautification and landscaping help provide youth with the talent to enjoy and appreciate the esthetic.

The actual bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Four of hearts.

East made a very shrewd appearing shift to sink declarer's ship in today's hand. However, when the crucial moment arrived, he actually had a complete count of the South hand.

The bidding sequence is accurately recorded but does not represent the opinion of your author. Since the heart suit was somewhat shaded, South preferred to open with the minor, for it was not his purpose, with this more or less minimum hand, to show all three suits. There was the further consideration that hearts would probably not prove the best contract unless North could bid that suit on his own power.

North's response of one spade is not our normal practice, though we regard it as acceptable where no other bid appears to be available. In the present case, we would have preferred the old fashioned call of two clubs, which the hand is strong enough to sustain. It is our practice to avoid tampering with the major suits whenever some natural bid serves the purpose as well.

West led the four of hearts, and East's nine forced the king. Declarer cashed the king and queen of clubs, and West showed out on the second lead.

This was rather strange procedure, for surely the approved technique would be to drive out the ace of diamonds first. South's play was very revealing to East, though he would surely have determined South's distribution anyway.

Declarer then finessed against East's jack of clubs and led a diamond to the king. When East took the trick with the ace, he had before him a complete blueprint.

He knew that South had started with four hearts, for the opening lead of the four had marked West with four of that suit. The play had proved South to hold four clubs, and since he is marked with at least four diamonds for his opening bid, he can have no more than one spade.

With complete assurance, therefore, East played the ace of spades, felling declarer's king. A low spade to the jack and a spade back picked up the entire suit, and sent the contract down to a one trick defeat.

Healthy Effect Of Automation

The U. S. long has been world renowned as the leading industrial giant — the home of the largest manufacturers making everything from buttons to muiti-million-dollar ocean liners. If credit were to be given to one line of endeavor for the unexcelled living standard found in the United States, those involved in manufacturing would receive their due. Unknown to most of the world, and probably to the majority of Americans, is the transition from manufacturing employment to services which has occurred in the past 10 years. Last year, for the first time in U. S. history, more Americans were employed in non-goods producing services than in direct manufacturing.

Automation, the Twentieth Century word describing the heavy emphasis placed on machinery in every line of work, is responsible for this transition. The producion of goods is not being curtailed — it is simply being accomplished, through mechanization, with fewer persons. While productivity has increased almost 50 per cent in the last 10 years, the labor force involved has increased only 3 per cent. An excellent example of the manner in which machines have helped increase production without additional labor may be found in agriculture today. The number of farmers has dropped considerably in the last 10 years, yet the farm output is so high the government buys large quantities of surplus foods to prevent farm markets from being glutted.

Perhaps the heavier personnel emphasis in services may not seem important, but it is. The nation's economy is no longer tied securely to the upswings and recessions affecting manufacturing employment. The country is approaching a more stable point where future recessions will be felt locally and in fewer industries. The day of an overall economic depression seems to be past.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

False Witness

John Cogley, of the Fund for the Republic, recently wrote an article in "The Commonweal" entitled, "The Witnesses' Dilemma." In this article he quotes me as follows:

"Civil liberties are always impaired by Congressional committees. . . . The fundamental trial by jury, the right of a day in court, the right to be represented by counsel and many other basic civil rights are impaired."

Well, I might have written something like this before Congressional committees revised their rules, but I wondered what words were omitted where the four dots were used as substitutes. So I asked my young ladies to find these words of wisdom and they did in the "New York Herald Tribune" for March 25, 1940, exactly 17 years ago. I had no idea that anyone saved my articles for so many years.

The article is on "Civil Liberties," and I must say that while I am honored that John Cogley has preserved my wisdom for posterity and perhaps carried it in his pocket all these 17 years, he has permitted himself generous but uncivil liberties in this quotation. So let me give just a little longer quotation than John Cogley does:

"I note in this connection that those who shout most fervently for civil liberties often defend the procedure of the Black and La Follette committees and the National Labor Relations Board, but they condemn the Dies and Smith committees. On the one hand, they say that civil liberties are protected; on the other that civil liberties are impaired. Obviously they are not truthful. For civil liberties are always impaired by Congressional committees and by most administrative boards. The fundamental trial by jury, the right of a day in court, the right to be represented by counsel and many other basic civil rights are impaired."

What Cogley left out were the administrative boards which have, during the intervening 17 years, proliferated until today there are exceptional laws for some. For instance, an American citizen, if he buys stock here, must hold it at least six months, to get a capital gains. But anyone buying that same stock in one of the numerous tax havens that have established themselves around the world, does not need to worry about a capital gains if he has a smart lawyer and accountant. He can do business in the United States and pay no taxes anywhere and many do just that.

In another paragraph in that 17 year old article, I ask this:

"What about the civil liberties involved in this technique? What about the civil liberties involved in a squint-eyed brat out of the Harvard Law School chasing around the country demanding to see private letter files and squeaking: 'When you talk to me you're talking to the government of the United States'? What are the civil liberties in that proposition?"

Cogley does not say that since 1940, the Congressional committees have extended their rules to permit a witness to have a lawyer with him, to consult the lawyer and to be advised by the lawyer as to what his rights are under the Constitution. As one reads the transcripts of Congressional hearings, it is found that there are lawyers in Washington who are specialists in this side-line of their trade, their names appearing very often in the transcript. In the transcript are seen the names of certain lawyers, and there is a temptation to believe that the witness is a Communist or a spy or what would he be doing with such a lawyer?

Nevertheless, the lawyers are present to safeguard the witnesses. Of course, sometimes a man is involved in a Congressional hearing who is not a witness at all. The late Herbert Norman, the Canadian Ambassador to Egypt, has never been investigated by a Congressional committee. Obviously, the American Congress cannot investigate Canadians unless they live and do business in this country. But since 1951, Norman's name has been coming up in the testimony of others. The most recent instance was the testimony of John K. Emmerson, Counsellor of the American Embassy at Beirut, who is an expert in the Japanese language, history and government. He was a close friend of Herbert Norman who was also a Japanese expert. Why these Japanese experts were stationed in the Middle East has not been made clear. Surely Norman did not commit suicide because of Emmerson's testimony which amounted to nothing.

Congress Saves Taxpayers Money By Collecting Big Airline Subsidy

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — If the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the Congressional economizers want to save some more money, the CAB and Sen. Paul Douglas have shown them an important way to do it.

The collection from Pan American Airways of $5,900,000 in overpaid 1954 subsidies, plus a proposed collection of $6,500,000 as a result of bookkeeping "which requires scrutiny" is one way. It's a way by which the government can make money instead of cutting down on such important projects as schools.

The recent bookkeeping windfall to Uncle Sam was the direct result of the hiring of 30 extra auditors by the Civil Aeronautics Board to check on the subsidiaries of the farflung Pan American Airways. For a long time, certain members of the CAB, led by ex-commissioner Joe Adams, have been trying to get the money to examine Pan Am's books. These CAB officials were suspicious that the big airline, with more subsidies than any other American company, was collecting extra subsidies from American taxpayers by failing to bill its foreign subsidiaries for services. But the CAB was never able to get a thorough look at the subsidiaries' books.

Credit for finally collecting this money goes first to Sen. Douglas of Illinois, who, in speech after speech, urged his Senate colleagues both to cut down on airline subsidies and to hire enough auditors to look at the books. In the House of Representatives, Congressman John Rooney of Brooklyn did the same. Douglas argued that the American taxpayers, through subsidies to Pan Am, were paying for luxury hotels and Pan Am's foreign subsidiaries. He began this campaign in 1953, continued through 1954 and 1955.

Finally he won out. Thirty extra auditors were hired.

Credit also goes to Joe Adams, who harped on the same subject — and got dropped for his pains. After Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, close friend of Pan Am, called at the White House last December it was made known Adams would not be reappointed to the CAB.

Republicans Got Tough

Finally, credit goes to Ross Rizley, recent Republican Chairman of the CAB, and to the new Republican Chairman, James R. Durfee. Both men are "sleepers." Rizley was a lame-duck Congressman from Oklahoma who turned out to be one of the best CAB chairmen in some years, so good that adroit moves were made to get him off the board and onto the Federal bench.

Chairman Durfee, former GOP chairman of the Wisconsin Public Utilities Commission, has also proved to be a tough, play-no-favorites commissioner.

The order which Chairman Durfee has now published, reopening Pan American files, is one of the most sweeping ever issued by the CAB. After enumerating various cases in which Pan Am failed to charge its Mexican and Central American subsidiaries for services rendered, the CAB order concluded:

"As a result of these various matters, it appears that Pan American's subsidy needs may have been substantially overstated and that completion of the audit may disclose other discrepancies."

In a direct implication that Pan Am engaged in faulty bookkeeping, the CAB stated: "It was not until fiscal 1956 when the CAB received appropriations for a substantial increase in its audit staff that such a project (of auditing) could be and was undertaken.

"The board, we think, was entitled to assume that the carrier's reports and filing were correct.

"Pan American is yet to be heard from in connection with all these matters," the CAB order stated. "On the other hand, the audit may disclose still further areas requiring exploration.

Huge Subsidies

"Our duty in this respect is plainly evident when it is considered that transactions between Pan American and its affiliates aggregate some $50,000,000 annually."

This refers to the fact that Pan Am is now the only airline receiving a major government subsidy.

In 1956 Pan Am received $2,669,000 subsidy on its Atlantic Division, $11,482,000 on its Latin American Division, and $1,356,000 on its Alaskan Division. TWA received no subsidy whatsoever, though it flies the Atlantic, parallel to PAA, and has the less profitable run through the Near East. Northwest Airlines received $1,483,000 on its Great Circle Pacific run, and Pan Am is now trying to get certificated to fly that route.

Between 1951-56, TWA received a total subsidy of $4,586,000 on its foreign operations. During the same period, Pan Am received the huge total of $138,615,000.

Pan American has 30 subsidiaries all over the world. If the extra auditors hired by the CAB continue to find the same bookkeeping that they found on the books of its Mexican and Central American subsidiaries, a lot of money could come back to Uncle Sam.

Note — For the first time in history, the House Appropriations Committee has cut Pan American off without a cent of subsidy. It remains to be seen, however, whether the Senate will restore the $5,500,000 Pan Am subsidy that President Eisenhower requested for next year.

The Phenomenal Eclipse Of Joe McCarthy

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The suddenness and completeness of the eclipse of Sen. Joseph McCarthy has been, of course, a major national phenomenon. After his censure by the Senate he disappeared from public view as quickly as midget golf in the thirties, or mah-jongg in the twenties.

The question is whether he will disappear politically once and for all next year, when he must run again, as mah-jongg has ids-appeared; or whether, like midget golf, he will continue to exist as a local, largely unnoticed phenomenon. The question is an important one for the Eisenhower administration in general and President Eisenhower in particular.

The President's sentiments towards McCarthy are, of course, no secret. Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerty went out of his way to make public the snub administered to McCarthy when he was the only member of Congress not invited to the White House last year. If McCarthy is renominated by the Wisconsin Republicans the President will certainly be asked an embarrassing question—whether he endorses McCarthy's candidacy. There would be precious little weeping and gnashing of teeth in the White House if the question never arose.

It may not. Former Gov. Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin has told friends that he has virtually decided to take on McCarthy in the Wisconsin Republican primary — "I feel like a fire horse smelling smoke," he says. Kohler may yet change his mind—he backed down in 1952, after he had almost made up his mind to challenge McCarthy. But this year is different.

Kohler knows that his running would please the occupant of the White House and the Republican National Committee, although for obvious reasons neither the President nor the National Committee, will intervene directly in the Wisconsin primary. And Kohler also knows that McCarthy is far weaker than he was when he was riding high in 1952, when Kohler ducked a fight with him.

McCarthy still has the support of the Wisconsin Republican fat cats, with the possible exception of the astute Tom Coleman. But it is a much more pallid and less passionate support than it used to be. And there are signs of rank and file revolt — an anti-McCarthy Wisconsin Kohler-for-Senator club has already been organized, for example. The general consensus is that Kohler would win in a straight two-man primary fight, even if McCarthy, as is probable, had the endorsement of the regular Republican organization.

McCarthy might be saved, however, by the entry of Rep. Glenn Davis into the race. Davis, who used to be accounted a McCarthy man himself would cut somewhat into the McCarthy vote. But the McCarthy vote is solid at the core, and Davis would hurt Kohler more than McCarthy.

But even if Davis saves McCarthy in the primary, McCarthy's troubles will by no means be over. The Democrats have three potential candidates eager to take on the once-powerful demagogue.—State Sen. Gaylord Nelson, William Proxmire (who almost beat Kohler for the Governorship), and Rep. Henry Reuss, who beat the McCarthyite Charles Kersten hands down in 1954.

Reuss, who is probably the most formidable of the potential McCarthy challengers, has said frankly that he hopes McCarthy is nominated -- he would be a far easier target than Kohler. McCarthy, in fact, was not a strong candidate even in his hey day — in 1952 he ran a third of a million behind his ticket.

President Eisenhower's troubles with the lunatic fringe of his own party will not be over, to be sure, even if McCarthy is brought down. The two other members of the anti-Eisenhower right-wing radical triumvirate, George Malone of Nevada and William Jenner of Indiana, both also up in 1958, are considered safe for renomination and election. Malone doesn't matter, since nobody pays much attention to him. But Jenner is still an important symbol, largely because he called Eisenhower's old patron. Gen. George Marshall, a traitor.

But the central symbol is certainly McCarthy, who gave Eisenhower more trouble in his first term than any other man, Republican or Democrat. And the shrinking down of McCarthy, which has been as peculiar a process as the shrinking down of a human head by Ecuador's Jivaro tribe, has been, in a sense, one of the great achievements of the Eisenhower administration, reluctant as the President initially was to start the process. It has also been, it must be added, a tribute to the ultimate good sense of the American people.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Through his protaganist Abe Martin the great Kin Hubbard remarked, "Th' advantage uv havin' only one suit is you always got your lead pencil with you."

On The Side

By E. V. Durling

Do women understand men better than men understand women? The females usually have the opinion that their sex is the most difficult to understand. This is an erroneous belief. Get it right. It depends on the individual. Experienced women understand men very well. Inexperienced females such as co-eds, bachelorettes and females, who have led sheltered lives, do not. That's why young widows and divorcees usually win out in a husband hunting competition with a woman who has never been married. Experienced men understand women just as well as experienced women understand men. An experienced man usually wins a battle for a beauty from a fellow whose knowledge of the female sex is superficial. In this connection, it might be well to advise all male subscribers who feel baffled by the alleged mysterious workings of the female mind to pay close attention to the findings of our world famous Horses and Women Department.

BUYER

Am constantly buying new types of cigar holders, safety razor blades and ballpoint pens. I must have about 50 different kinds of cigar holders and at least 15 types of ballpoint pens. My most recent ballpoint pen acquisition is one which can be quickly adjusted to write in any of three colors—red, green or blue. Very handy.

SO THEY SAY

Men born under Sagittarius (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) like women who are hard to get. They don't want a girl to say "I surrender, dear," too soon. . . The lucky number of Cancer (June 22-July 23) people is two. Libra (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) men have a wonderful sense of rhythm and are the best dancers. Virgo (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) men generally have a highly developed sense of humor. Or, so say the stargazers.

RECORDS

What's the record for length of residence in the same hotel? Can you top the record of Mrs. Clara Bell Walsh who, on Oct. 1, this year, will have lived in the Hotel Plaza, Manhattan, for 50 years? Speaking of records, who is the oldest active dentist in this country? How about 82-year-old Dr. George Cunningham Sharp of Pasadena, Calif., who has been practicing dentistry for 60 years and is still going strong?

IDOLS

Teen-ager females going wild over crooners is by no means a recent development. Twenty years ago, in 1937, a teen-ager named Julie Cruze wrote a song titled "I'd Like To Be The Buttons On Your Vest." It was dedicated to Bing Crosby.

ASKING

Queries from clients. Q. Has Puccini's opera, "Madame Butterfly," ever been sung in English? If so, where? A. Opera you refer to was sung in English in this country before being rendered in Italian here. That was by the Savage Opera Company, Washington, D. C., in 1906. Was first sung in Italian in this country at the Metropolitan Opera House in 1907 with Farrar, Caruso, Homer and Scotti in the cast. Q. The quotation as to a man "building a better mousetrap" was by Emerson. You should know that. A. Should I? All right, you tell me exactly where in Emerson's works this quotation can be found.

SIDELIGHTS

It was Dwight Morrow, who said, "Any party which takes credit for the rain must not be surprised if its opponents blame it for the drought." Has your city an official flower? The official flower of Brooklyn is the forsythia. Keep that in mind. The next time you call on a Brooklyn beauty bring her forsythias instead of roses.

Helping The Handicapped With Easter Seals

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The crippled of our nation are treated differently from the way they were a half century ago. Much credit goes to a small group of people who felt that the less fortunate deserved a better life than they had. The goals of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults include helping the incapacitated to strengthen weakened extremities and education to put residual talents to work.

Above all, faith in mankind can be regained because the program of this organization has decreased the stigma and the superstitions associated with being physically handicapped.

Every year more than 300,000 children and adults are injured permanently through accident or disease. Others come into the world with cerebral palsy or other defect. Little was done for these unfortunates in the past but now they receive the services of a highly skilled group of physicians, nurses, physical therapists, and other technicians.

This is done in 1,100 centers located in every state, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia. Through contributions and grants, the National Society has helped 119,547 crippled children and 25,083 crippled adults.

One was a lad who had lost both hands in a train wreck when little more than a year old. Now the boy is able to play baseball and football and go fishing with his pals.

Another was a teen-aged victim of a serious auto accident. Her spinal cord was severed and she was doomed to life in a wheel chair. Today she is occupied on the production line of an aircraft plant, grateful and happy to be self-supporting.

The next largest group consists of children with speech disorders due to harelip and cleft palate. The organization also rehabilitates patients with cerebral palsy, the residual paralysis of polio, multiple sclerosis, and muscular dystrophy. As a result, children are walking today who did not walk a year ago. Boys whose hands were useless two years ago are working on construction jobs.

The Easter Seal societies have 1,789 technical staff members exclusive of clerical workers. They could use 3,000 if they had the money, because the demand for help is so great. In addition, they have more than 350,000 volunteers.

TOMORROW: Letters from readers.

CHAPPED HANDS

Mrs. E. writes: My hands get chapped these days when I wear woolen gloves. How can this be prevented, outside of not wearing wool?

REPLY

Several suggestions on chapping and winter itch have been incorporated into our leaflet on this subject. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for this leaflet.

GLOMUS TUMOR

Mrs. F. W. writes: My 13 year olc and I both have developed a growth under the nail of the right big toe. They are painful and the nails are being forced up. What should be done?

REPLY

Surgery is the answer. Subungual tumors are not common, and it is unusual for two members of the same family to develop them.

BARKING CHILD

Mrs. D. writes: My 2-year-old gets colds frequently and each time he has one he barks like a dog. Can you offer any explanation?

REPLY

Some youngsters develop a distinctive cough when they have a cold. In your boy's case, this may be due to constriction or narrowing of a segment of the trachea (windpipe) resulting from inflammation. A barking cough also develops when the trachea is not fixed and vibrates like an old rubber tube. If the symptom is persistent, obstruction is suspected.

WRIST LUMP

H. L. writes: A lump developed on my wrist after I fell. What caused it?

REPLY

Anything from fracture to a ganglion. The latter is a soft, cyst-like structure that can be removed surgically or treated by injecting with hydrocortisone or prednisone.

ALLERGY AND THE NOSE

F. K. writes: Could an intestinal allergy make the nose run?

REPLY

No, but the nasal membranes may be sensitive to the same allergens that disturb the intestinal tract. The effect is comparable to having bronchial asthma and hay fever at the same time.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Phyllis McGinley proves that there lives in our land one honest female, at least. She's seven years old — and she admitted calmly to her mother and father that Billy Brown had kissed her after class. "How did that happen?" gasped her mother.

"It wasn't easy," admitted the young lady, "but three girls helped me catch him."

Art Linkletter had a little problem girl on his hands in the broadcasting studio. When asked what she wanted to be when she grew up, she replied, "Marilyn Monroe—because she's famous all over."

Buried City Brought To Light

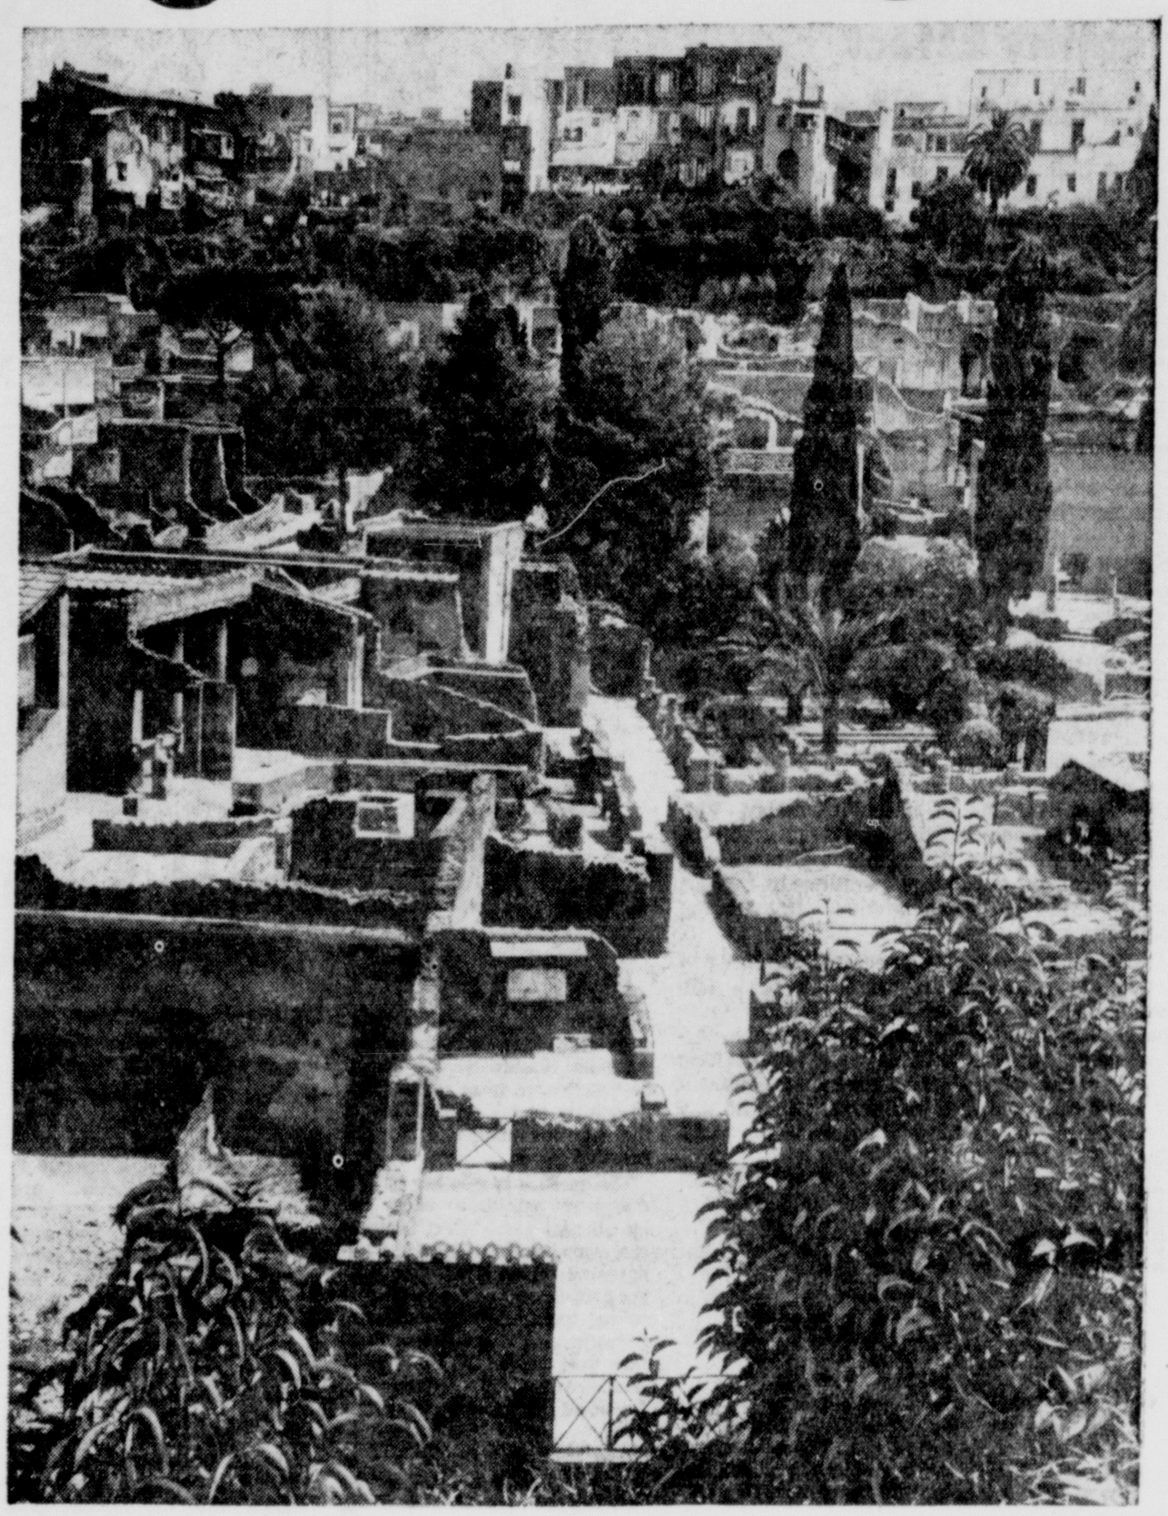

Workmen dig carefully into the ruins of Herculaneum, hoping to find new treasures with each turn of the spade. At right is Dr. Olga Elia, Italian archaeologist, who is helping to supervise operation.

The Italian peninsula is a veritable treasure house of buried wonders — villas and cities of the early Roman empire that time has trampled in the dust. Nature's violence, like the great eruption of Mt. Vesuvius in 79 A.D., helped the process of burial. But new excavations are uncovering more and more of the country's ancient treasures lying deep under its layers of lava, debris and ash.

One of the latest projects in excavation is being carried on, after a lapse of many years, at the long buried city of Herculaneum, some six miles from Naples. Herculaneum, like Pompeii, its "sister city," was destroyed by Mt. Vesuvius. Like Pompeii, too, Herculaneum was a bustling, prosperous Roman city. Archaeologists dug through the hardened ashes many hundreds of years later. They found priceless works of art and manuscripts, as well as the tools of daily living. The new diggings, which are being carried out under the auspices of the Italian government, promise to reveal more.

Excavations at Herculaneum present a tough problem. In some places the city is covered to a depth of 50 feet. Notwithstanding, the excavators hope to reach the Forum, the arena, and the bulk of the public buildings which made Herculaneum the great city it was.

View of Herculaneum looking east, with ruins of early Roman villas in foreground and center. They belonged to the wealthy and were elaborate in design. On cliff in far back are modern structures that will be torn down to allow further excavations.

Mosaic of colored marble tiles, depicting hunting scene, has been partially restored. People of Herculaneum were very fond of hunting and liked to decorate their rooms with scenes of the sport.

Entrance to Herculaneum's "palestra," or gymnasium area, was flanked by these graceful marble columns of Greek inspiration.

Two-story dwelling was occupied by several families in ancient Herculaneum. It was constructed of brick, wood and stucco.

Try Stuffed Prune Salad For Spring

Delicious and nutritious would be the words for peanuts. High in protein—higher than many other commonly accepted protein foods, peanuts are also packed full of dietary essential vitamins, particularly the B vitamins. That also holds true for peanut butter! As a supplement to the regular diet, or as a substitute for other more expensive dishes at times when budgets need careful watching, or for restricted meals during Lent, nutrition-wise homemakers will look to peanuts to satisfy both the needs and tastes of their families.

Peanuts go well with fruits and vegetables. When mingled with cabbage slaw, they give a remarkable crunchy texture. The same goes for fruit salad, in which the meaty flavor contrasts well with the sweetness of the fruit. Stuffed sweet potatoes with peanut butter, or chopped peanuts in meat loaf, will make a good dinner plate. Peanut butter cookies or muffins will make a welcome dessert or hit the spot with the youngsters' afternoon milk. And of course, peanut butter sandwiches are old standbys.

For a rich and satisfying luncheon salad, combine peanuts with prunes — also a March plentiful food — to make delicious Peanut-Stuffed Prune Salad, recommended by U. S. Department of Agriculture home economists. This recipe makes six servings.

- 18 cooked prunes
- ½ cup cottage cheese
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- ¼ cup chopped peanuts
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- Mayonnaise or peanut butter salad dressing

Pit and chill prunes. Combine cottage cheese, grated orange rind, peanuts and salt. Moisten with the dressing and stuff into the prunes. Serve on shredded lettuce.

To enhance fish fillets that are a bit dry or too bland in flavor, dress them with a zesty mustard butter sauce. Just mix ½ cup melted butter with 1 tablespoon prepared mustard and 2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley or watercress.

Old Fashion Tuna Noodle Loaf Becomes New Fashion With A Cheese Sauce

Give Lenten menus a face lifting with a new version of a favorite with young and old alike, a Tuna Noodle Loaf. Flavor the tuna with grated carrots and nutmeg, layer it with noodles in a loaf pan and serve it with a Carnation-tested cheese sauce recipe that's the best you've ever tasted.

Anything as good as this sauce should take long hours of preparation, but it doesn't. Three minutes' cooking time is all you need because of the better blending action of evaporated milk. No lumpy failures either . . . you turn out a satin-smooth sauce with a mellow cheesy flavor every time.

Serve this dish often during Lent but keep it in mind for emergencies all year 'round. It's a pantry shelf special that is fittin' fare for company was well as family.

Carrot-Tuna Noodle Loaf

(Makes 6 to 8 servings)

- 2 tablespoons salt
- 4 to 6 quarts boiling water
- 1 pound wide egg noodles (about 4 cups)
- 2 eggs, well beaten
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- 1 cup grated carrots
- 2 6½-ounce cans chunk-style tuna, drained
- ¼ cup mayonnaise
- 3-Minute Cheese Sause*

Add salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.

Combine noodles and eggs; mix well. Combine nutmeg, carrots, tuna and mayonnaise; mix well. Arrange layers of noodle mixture and tuna mixture in greased 9x5x3-inch baking pan. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 45 minutes, or until firm. Serve with 3-Minute Cheese Sauce.

3-Minute Cheese Sauce

- 1⅔ cups (large can) undiluted evaporated milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoons dry mustard
- 1 tablespoon steak sauce
- 2 cups (about 8 ounces) grated process-type American cheese

Simmer evaporated milk, salt, mustard and steak sauce in saucepan over low heat to just below boiling (about 2 minues). Add cheese; stir over low heat until cheese melts (about 1 minute longer).

Each day of the shortest month of the year means menus. Soup used as an ingredient or appetizer helps the problem. Cream of mushroom and cream of chicken are great for cooking and eating!

Chicken And Noodles

- 2½ to 3 lb. stewing chicken, ready-to-cook weight, cut up
- 6 tablespoons flour
- ¼ cup chicken fat or other shortening
- 1 medium onion, finely chopped
- 1 clove garlic, optional
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ to ½ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon allspice or ginger
- ½ cup hot water
- 1 package noodles, 6 to 8 oz.*
- ½ cup chopped parsley

Coat chicken with the flour. Brown in the moderately hot fat, turning to brown evenly. Sprinkle onion, garlic if used, and seasonings over chicken. Add water, cover tightly, and simmer until thickest pieces are fork-tender, 3 to 3½ hours. By this time there should be rich drippings in the pan. If the water evaporates before chicken is tender, add more water in ⅓-cup portions, as needed. About 15 minutes before chicken is done, cook noodles following package directions. Drain. Meanwhile lift chicken to warm service dish. Blend noodles and parsley with the pan drippings and arrange around chicken. 6 servings.

* The same quantity of macaroni or spaghetti may be substituted for noodles.

Calorie Conscious?

Is your family a post-holiday diet? They'll love frozen seafood because it's low on calories, high in taste. Home economists suggest that you brush thawed fish fillets or lobster tails very lightly with butter. Sprinkle with lemon juice, salt and paprika and broil to a golden brown. Garnish with a twist of lemon. For non-dieters, serve with brown butter or tartar sauce.

Easy Stew

One of the easiest of all stews to prepare is made with hamburger. It's said that hamburger stew is easy to prepare because it was developed by cowboys, who while roaming the Western ranges, didn't travel with a great deal of cooking equipment. For their stew, they simply combined all of the ingredients in a big pot and let them simmer away over a campfire You'll agree that the cowboys turned out a delicious dish once you've tasted this stew:

Hamburger Stew

- 1½ pounds ground beef
- 3 medium potatoes, pared and diced
- 2 small onions, chopped
- 2 cups milk
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper

Versatile Corn One Dish Meal

Corn has long been a popular and adaptable vegetable. Available in a variety of styles canned corn can be served often without losing its welcome at the table.

Plump, golden kernels, smooth cream style, corn on the cob, or tender juicy white kernels — choose your favorite, but choose canned corn often.

Corn is the basis of many hearty main dishes. Corn-stuffed peppers are an appealing, easy meal-in-a-dish. Use either whole kernel or cream style corn.

Corn Stuffed Peppers

- 6 green peppers, cut in half lengthwise
- 1 can (12 oz.) Whole Kernel Golden Corn and one cup medium white sauce OR
- 1 can (1 lb.) Golden Cream Style Corn
- 2 cups cooked ham, ground
- ¼ teaspoon dry mustard
- ½ cup buttered bread crumbs
- Pimiento strips

Wash the peppers; remove seeds and seed parts. Place in ½ cup of boiling salted water; steam in covered pan 5 to 8 minutes.

Combine corn (white sauce), ham and mustard. Fill drained green peppers with mixture. Sprinkle with crumbs and decorate with Pimiento strips. Place in a shallow baking dish with ¼ cup water; bake for 30 minutes at 375°F. Serves six.

Sunny Corn Scallop

- 1 can (1 lb.) White Cream Style Corn
- ⅓ cup milk
- ½ cup cracker crumbs
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon chopped Pimiento
- ¼ cup Ripe Olives, sliced
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Corn Fritters

- 1 can (8 oz.) Whole Kernel Golden Corn
- ½ cup sifted flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon paprika
- 1 egg, separated

Sift flour, baking powder, salt and paprika together. Add corn and beaten egg yolk. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Drop from tablespoon into hot deep fat (365°F.) and fry until golden brown. Turn once. Drain on absorbent paper. Makes two servings.

Simplified Recipe Makes Tangy Cream Sauce Easy

Every good cook knows how often she prepares cream sauce for her favorite recipes. Mixed with dry mustard, grated cheese or other seasonings, it adds wonderful variety to meat or vegetables or to platter combinations of vegetables and cheese.

But making a good, basic cream sauce is usually a chore. It must be continually stirred to avoid a lumpy failure.

Here's one that doesn't need your undivided attention. It takes only about five minutes. Requires little watching, even less stirring—and, best of all, it never fails. All you need is butter, flour, salt, and dairy-cultured sour cream from your grocer or milkman.

The dairy cultured sour cream gives it a creamy, tangy flavor that combines well with meat or any vegetables. Try this tangy sauce with these easy-to-prepare "supper platters." They're quick, one-dish meals that will save you clean up time. Add milk, bread, and ice cream for dessert—and the supper's complete.

Simplified Tangy Cream Sauce

1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ pint dairy cultured sour cream

Ham and Broccoli Bundles

*Tangy Cream Sauce
1 precooked center ham slice
1 10-ounce package frozen broccoli
4 strips pimiento

Prepare Tangy Cream Sauce. Broil ham slice; brush with butter during broiling. Cook broccoli following package directions. Place ham on hot serving platter and cut into four servings. Spoon Tangy Cream Sauce on ham. Drain broccoli; season with butter, salt and pepper. Divide vegetable into four servings and arrange on platter. Garnish with narrow strips of pimiento around broccoli stems to make bundles. Makes 4 servings.

Creamy Vegetables and Cheese Sandwich Platter

*Tangy Cream Sauce
1 10-ounce package frozen brussel sprouts
1 10-ounce package frozen cauliflower
4 slices bread
2 slices process American cheese

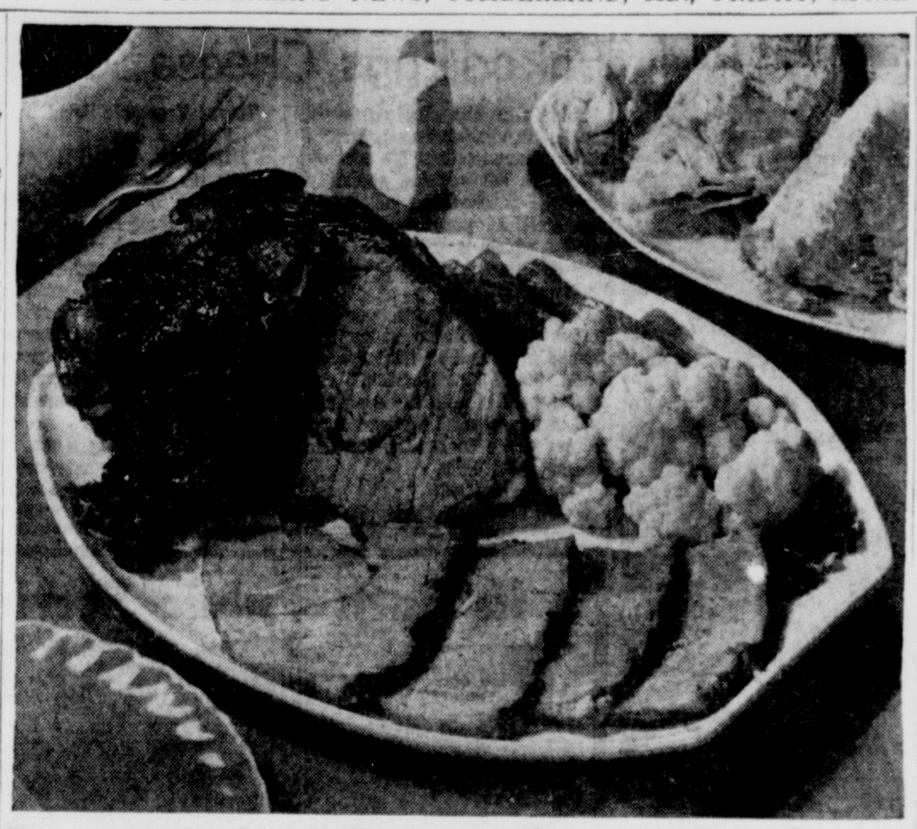

Prepare Tangy Cream Sauce. Cook frozen vegetables together following package directions. Toast bread. Cut two pieces of bread and cheese slices diagonally into fourths. Put cheese on toast points and place under broiler until cheese is bubbly. Cut two other pieces of toast in half diagonally and arrange on serving platter. Spoon hot sauce over toast. Drain vegetables and season with butter, salt and pepper. Arrange vegetables on sauce. Place broiled cheese points around the sides. Makes 4 servings.

Pork And Beans Caraway

1 can (1 lb. 15 oz.) Pork and Beans.
1 lb. franks or wieners
¼ cup brown sugar
¼ cup Apple Jelly
¼ teaspoon caraway seeds

Combine all ingredients. Simmer in an electric skillet for 20 minutes, or heat in the oven, at 350°F., for 30 minutes. Makes five to six servings.

Browned And Braised Savory Pot Roast

This veal rump roast was browned in hot fat, then braised in a sweet-sour sauce. It could have been cooked by dry heat—oven roasted—with bacon or salt pork strips covering it. Cauliflowerets and carrots accompany the juicy pot roast.

Savory Veal Pot Roast

5 pounds veal rump roast
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon basil, marjoram, or poultry seasoning
1 tablespoon brown sugar
1 tablespoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 small onion, diced
2 tablespoons vinegar
¼ cup water

Roll veal in flour mixed with paprika. Brown in hot fat in a large, heavy pan. Add mustard, basil, sugar, salt, pepper, onion, vinegar, and water. Cover pan and cook over low heat about 2½ hours, or until meat is tender. (To test doneness, pierce the meat with a fork to determine tenderness.) To thicken drippings for gravy, blend 1½ tablespoons flour with ¼ cup water, then slowly add to drippings in pan. Continue to stir while cooking until gravy boils and thickens. Taste for seasoning adjustment. 8 to 10 servings.

Sherried Grapefruit

Broiled grapefruit is a wonderful way to start a meal, but it is also a good, light dessert. Sprinkle each sectioned grapefruit half with brown sugar or a tablespoon of maple syrup or molasses, grate with cinnamon or nutmeg or cloves, then pour in the center two tablespoons of Spanish sherry, either a nutty amontillado or the sweeter oloroso type. Put under the broiler until slightly brown around the edges. This is a wonderful breakfast dish, when served with popovers and coffee.

Frankfurters With Spiced Kraut

1 1-pound 11-ounce can sauerkraut
1 teaspoon celery seed
Dash celery salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
6 frankfurters
3 small onions
¼ cup melted butter or margarine

Combine sauerkraut, celery seed, celery salt and mustard; toss lightly but thoroughly. Slash each frankfurter diagonally in four places. Peel onions and cut each into 8 thin slices. Insert an onion slice in each slit in frankfurters. Arrange half of sauerkraut mixture in bottom of a 1½-quart casserole. Place 3 frankfurters on top of sauerkraut mixture in casserole. Top with remaining sauerkraut mixture. Place remaining 3 frankfurters side by side on top of casserole. Pour butter or margarine over all. Bake in moderate oven (350°) 25 minutes.

Taste-Tempting Meal For Lent

Two convenience items in the modern super market combine this Lent to give the homemaker a taste-tempting meal with a minimum of time and effort.

The basic ingredients are fish sticks crowned with golden ready-to-serve pasteurized process cheese spread. Serve on hot toast and presto! . . . a meal in a minute.

The cheese spread is one of the most adaptable on the market. Heated and served over vegetables, or for cheeseburgers, this spread adds a party air to the simplest of meals. Served "as is" this cheese food makes a delectable spread for crackers.

Cheese is one of the most economical staple items of the Lenten diet. Its variations are unlimited and provide incomparable eating pleasure. And this particular cheese food is the homemaker's best friend, for it leaves her free to enjoy spring activities to the fullest.

Treat your family to fish sticks with cheese topping soon. They will appreciate it and so will you.

Fish Sticks And Cheese Spread On Toast

*Cheese spread
Hot broiled or baked fish sticks
Toast slices, crusts trimmed

Heat the cheese spread in a small saucepan over very low heat, or in a double boiler. For each serving place 3 fish sticks on a slice of toast. Pour the hot cheese spread over the fish sticks.

An easy-on-time frosting for cupcakes is made in a flash by placing two creamy candies, such as the popular mint appetizers, on each warm cupcake as it comes from the oven. Return cakes to a 350 degree oven for 3-5 minutes.

Fruit Nut Bread

(Makes 2 loaves)

¾ cup (1 envelope) instant nonfat dry milk powder
½ cup sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup soft butter
½ cup boiling water
2 packages of cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
½ cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
2 eggs, beaten
5 cups sifted flour (about)
1 teaspoon mace
1 cup (8 oz. jar) mixed candied diced fruits
½ cup chopped toasted blanched almonds
½ cup chopped walnuts

Combine instant nonfat dry milk powder, sugar and salt in large mixing bowl; add butter. Pour boiling water over mixture; stirr until dissolved. Cool to lukewarm. Sprinkle or crumble yeast over water (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast or lukewarm for compressed yeast). Stir until dissolved. Add to milk mixture. Stir in beaten eggs. Sift together 3 cups of flour and mace. Add to milk mixture; beat until well blended and smooth. Gradually add fruits, nuts and remaining flour; beat until mixture is smooth and well blended.

Turn dough out onto lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in buttered bowl; brush top with melted butter. Cover with a towel; let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Punch down and turn out on lightly floured board. Cut dough in half. Shape into 2 loaves; place in buttered (9x5x3-inch) pans. Brush with butter. Cover, let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 40 to 50 minutes or until well-browned and loaves sound hollow when tapped on bottom. Cool. Frost with confectioners' sugar icing. If desired, garnish with almonds and candied fruit.

America's ninety glass container factories turn out nineteen billion units annually—enough to circle the globe twenty-two times.

Molasses Caramel Bavarian

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 tablespoons sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, separated
1 cup milk
¼ cup unsulphured molasses
½ teaspoon rum flavoring
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Mix together gelatine, sugar, and salt in top of double boiler. Beat together egg yolks, milk, and unsulphured molasses; add to gelatine mixture. Place over boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatine dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; add rum flavoring. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Fold into gelatine mixture; fold in whipped cream. Turn into a 5-cup mold or individual molds, chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with additional whipped cream, if desired.

Hot Cross Buns

(Makes 4 dozen)

2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
½ cup warm water
¾ cup hot water
6 tablespoons sugar
⅓ cup shortening
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg, beaten
3½ cups sifted flour
1 cup instant nonfat dry milk powder
¾ cup raisins or currants
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten

Sprinkle or crumble yeast into warm water; stir until dissolved. Into the hot water, stir sugar, shortening, salt and cinnamon; cool to lukewarm; add yeast. Add egg and 2 cups of the flour; beat until smooth. Sift together remaining flour and instant nonfat dry milk powder; stir into mixture. Add raisins or currants. Place dough in a greased bowl; brush top with soft shortening. Cover tightly with waxed paper. Store in refrigerator at least 2 hours before using (will keep in refrigerator about 5 days). When ready to use, punch down dough and cut off amount needed. Shape into balls 1½-inches in diameter; place in greased 8-inch square pan. Brush with egg yolk; cover; let rise about ¾ hour or until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) about 30 minutes. When cool; make a cross with confectioners' sugar frosting atop each bun. If desired, sprinkle lightly with confectioners' sugar.

Pennsylvania Dutch Ham Supper

Ham and Apple Soup:

3-pound ham hock
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ teaspoon whole cloves
1 small onion, finely chopped
6 green cooking apples, cored and quartered
1 quart water
Saltine crackers

Brown ham in soup pot; cover with water and simmer 1½ hours. Stir in brown sugar. Put cloves in cheese cloth bag; drop in soup. Toss in onion and apples; add water as necessary. Simmer 2 hours longer (taste now and then, and remove clove bag when spice flavor suits you).

Dumplings:

Roll 20 saltine crackers to crumbs. Add 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. Stir in 3 tablespoons melted fat. Beat 2 egg yolks with ⅓ cup milk; add to dry ingredients. Beat 2 egg whites stiff; fold into cracker mixture. Drop by spoonfuls into soup; cover. Stream 15 minutes without removing cover. Serve to 4 with saltine crackers and a typical salad of grated carrots, romaine, and hard-cooked eggs. (Halve 6 hard-cooked eggs; combine the yolks with ¼ cup mayonnaise and 2 tablespoons vinegar; season to taste. Fill the egg whites with grated carrots and top with egg-yolk dressing.)

They're Still Called Hamburgers

Ground beef patties may be as different as day and night. Sometimes they may be made of two thin patties put together with a tasty stuffing, or there may be seasonings that make them different. Whatever type beef patties . . . here is the basic seasoning. To each pound of ground beef add one teaspoon of salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper. For a change you might like to add a hint of Worcestershire sauce, thyme, poultry seasoning, horseradish, dry mustard or chopped parsley. As for stuffing, a bread combination is always tasty. Or you can put two patties together with a filling of grated apple, blue cheese, grated American cheese or finely minced parsley.

Hot Canapes Espagnol

Hot bites of food taste good at cocktail time, but they are often difficult to prepare. An easy way is to saute bits of sea food in a chafing dish or electric skillet, right at the cocktail table. You can let everybody do their own, but it's no work to do it for a crowd. The simplest way of cooking is to place a tablespoon of butter in the pan, and when this has melted, add half a dozen raw scallops, or half a dozen cleaned shrimp, a can of crab meat or flaked South African rock lobster tails. Cook for a minute or two in the butter, stirring with a fork, then pour over this a quarter cup of dry Spanish sherry, either a fino type or a nutty amontillado, and cook for another minute. Serve on a variety of crackers crisped in the oven, along with a bowl of raw vegetables. Such bits of food are called tapas in Spain, and are served with glasses of dry fino.

Baked Eggs, Cheese Sauce Tasty One Dish Meal

This is a one dish casserole meal with a golden brown, bubbly cheese sauce topping! It's creamy—good to eat and the piquantly seasoned mashed egg yolks simply melt in your mouth. The cheese sauce is made an easy way and the rice and green peas cook quickly.

Cooked rice and green peas seasoned with Tabasco sauce are spread in a shallow baking dish. Then come hard-cooked egg whites refilled with the seasoned and mashed yolks. A real easy cheese sauce covers the top and browns beautifully.

Baked Eggs and Cheese Sauce

Ingredients:

6 hard-cooked eggs; 2 cups water; 1 cup uncooked white rice; 1 teaspoons salt; ¾ cup milk; 1 lb. processed cheese, grated; 1½ cups cooked and seasoned green peas; ¼ teaspoon Tabasco sauce; ¾ cup water; ½ teaspoon salt! ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; 5 tablespoons mayonnaise; Paprika.

Method: Put the eggs on to hard-cook. Cool in running water after they cook. Put the 2 cups water, rice and 1-½ teaspoons salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down low. Cover with a lid and simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes.

Pour the milk into a saucepan. Place over a very low heat. Add the cheese. Allow to heat, stirring occasionally until the cheese melts. Keep the heat low. Do not allow to boil.

After the rice cooks, stir in the peas, Tabasco sauce and ¾ cup water. Spread in a greased shallow baking dish about 12" x 7½" x 2".

Cut the eggs in half lengthwise. Remove the yolks. Add the ½ teaspoon salt, Worcestershire sauce and mayonnaise. Mash with a fork until the mixture is smooth. Refill the whites smoothing over the tops. Place the egg whites over the rice mixture. Cover the eggs and rice with the cheese-milk mixture. Sprinkle lightly with paprika. Bake in a pre-heated 350°F. oven 25 to 30 minutes or until the cheese browns and most of the water is absorbed. Serve immediately.

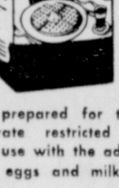

An excellent deodorizer for jars and bottles may be made from a solution of dry mustard and water.

Meat And Fruit Combinations

Next time you're wondering what type of fruit to serve to complement a certain meat cut, look no further. Combine spiced orange slices with veal shoulder roll, a leg of lamb with currant pears and mincemeat apples with a baked smoked ham.

Carrots Jerez

A delicious vegetable to serve with pork, ham or other spicy meats is made by placing cooked carrots in a frying pan in which a tablespoon of butter has been melted browning them lightly, then adding two tablespoons of Spanish sherry, either a nutty fino or sweet oloroso. Let the carrots cook in the sherry for another minute before serving.

Spanish Pot Roast

The next time you make a pot roast, use one of the dry Spanish sherries, either a fino or nutty amontillado type, as the liquid in order to blend and bring out all the flavors of the roast. Brown the pot roast in the usual way, using three tablespoons of Spanish olive oil and adding a sliced small onion and a tablespoon of sherry. Simmer tightly closed for three hours, then add a cup of sherry and the vegetables—half-cups each three hours, then add a cup of sherry and the vegetables—half-cups each of sliced carrots, celery, some whole baby onions and small potatoes—and don't forget to toss in at the last minute a few stuffed green olives. Serve wih a green salad and a light dessert. Glasses of chilled dry fino or amontillado go well with this juicy pot roast.

Meat And Vegetable Pie au Gratin

- ¼ cup butter
- ¼ cup flour
- 2 cups milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ pound sharp American cheese
- 2 cups diced cooked ham, veal or beef
- 2 cups cooked carrots
- 2 cups cooked potatoes

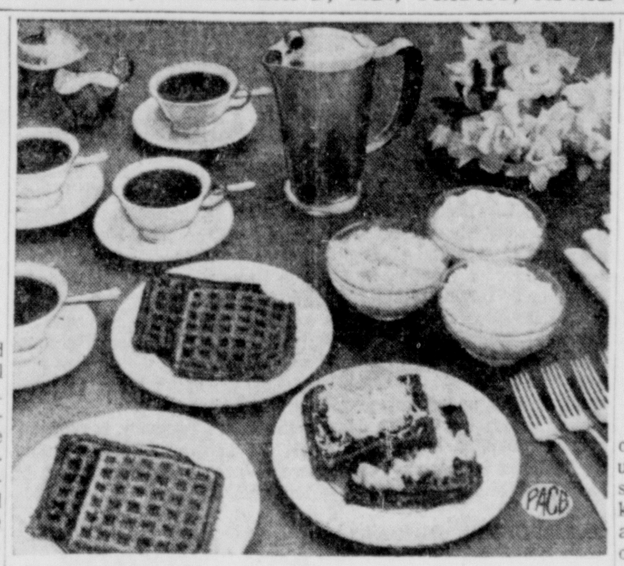

Melt butter, blend in flour, add milk and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add salt and cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Combine cheese sauce with diced vegetables and meat. Pour into buttered casserole, top with buttered crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven, 350° F., for 45 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Ham For Easter

No matter at what Easter meal you plan to entertain, there's a kind of ham suited for the occasion. From Easter breakfast to late dinner, ham is the versatile meat to serve. Here are some suggestions for meals with this popular smoked meat.

Garnished and glazed whole or half ham makes an elegant meat for Easter dinner. Bone-in, boned and rolled, or canned ham, garnished with orange sections on watercress, makes an attractive main meat. The easily carved canned hams are fine for a buffet meal, too.

If serving dinner for only a few, ham slices are a convenient choice. Buy two slices and bake them with an orange and bread crumb stuffing. For a breakfast or brunch Easter day, frizzle thin ham slices and serve with an omelet or hot cross buns. Other suggestions for a brunch, or a supper, are ham a la king, creamed ham and ham and potato casserole. Use leftover ham or cook a ham shank to dice for these dishes.

Gingerbread Waffles And Coffee, Hawaii Favorite

Waffle desserts are always fun—and when they come from Hawaii, they're downright exciting! Here's a new recipe direct from Honolulu called Gingerbread Waffles. Flavored with coffee and spices, they're served crispy-hot with a special topping. Altogether they're almost too good to describe!

The topping is all Hawaiian and, indeed, extra-special. It's a delightful combination of flaked coconut, crushed pineapple and cinnamon-flavored whipped cream. These ingredients can be put in separate serving bowls so that everyone can "build" his own topping.

There's really only one beverage that can do justice to this new dessert — coffee, of course! You'll find that, when you're pouring the batter on the waffle iron for the second and third go-'round, you'll need enough coffee on hand for seconds and thirds, too.

Gingerbread Waffles

- 2½ cups sifted cake flour
- 1½ teaspoons baking soda
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ginger
- 1 teaspon cloves
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup melted butter or margarine
- 1¼ cups light molasses
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- ¾ cup strong, cold coffee

Mix and sift flour, baking soda, spices and salt. Combine melted butter, molasses, egg and coffee. Beat until well blended. Add dry ingredients and beat well (batter will be quite thin). Bake on waffle baker set for medium heat. Serve with flaked coconut, crushed pineapple and cinnamon-flavored, sweetened whipped cream. Makes

Cranberry Banana Toast

Place slices of bread under broiler and toast on one side. Spread butter or margarine on the other side. Spread with Jellied Cranberry Sauce. Cover with sliced bananas. Sprinkle with brown sugar and dash of cinnamon. Broil slowly until bananas are a light brown and cranberry sauce is bubbly.

Tender Veal In Cream

Veal, a mild flavored meat, when cooked in a savory cream makes a delectable dinner entree sauce. This version of veal chops in cream sauce uses sweet cream seasoned with bay leaf and thyme.

VEAL CHOPS WITH CREAM

- 4 veal chops
- 3 tablespoons drippings or fat
- 1 small clove garlic, crushed
- ¼ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 cup water
- ½ cup cream
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon thyme
- ½ bay leaf

Brown chops on both sides in hot fat. Remove meat from pan, and to drippings in pan, add garlic and cook ½ minute. Add mushrooms and cook 2 or 3 minutes. Remove pan from heat and blend in flour. Stir in water, return to heat and cook until mixture boils, stirring constantly. Slowly add cream while stirring. Season with salt, pepper, thyme and bay leaf. Return meat to sauce, cover and simmer 1 hour or until meat is tender. Add more water during cooking, if necessary. 4 servings.

Frankfurter Chili And Kraut

(Makes 6 servings)

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ½ cup chopped onion
- ⅓ cup chopped green pepper
- 6 frankfurters, sliced crosswise
- 1 1-pound 11-ounce can sauerkraut
- 2 cups cooked or canned kidney beans, drained.
- 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon chili powder

Melt butter or margarine; add onion and green pepper and cook until tender. Add frankfurters and saute 5 minutes. Add sauerkraut, kidney beans, tomato sauce, salt and chili powder. Cover and cook over low heat 30 minutes.

Frozen Fillips

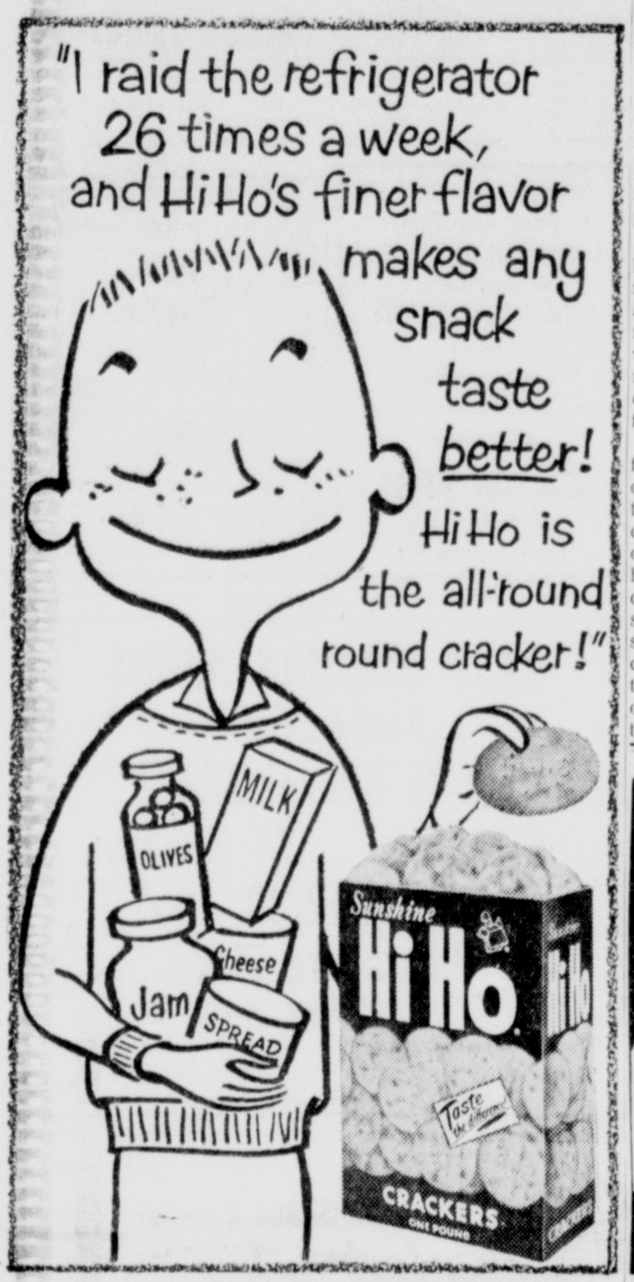

To have on hand tidbits that add dash to a dish, home economists recommend freezer storing such taste-tempters as salted peanuts, cheese, and cocoanut. A few salted peanuts gives cold applesauce an unexpected crunch and flavor; grated swiss or cheddar cheese rolled lightly into baking powder biscuit dough is a delightful change from the usual biscuits and cocoanut makes a wonderfully new dish of an ordinary curry.

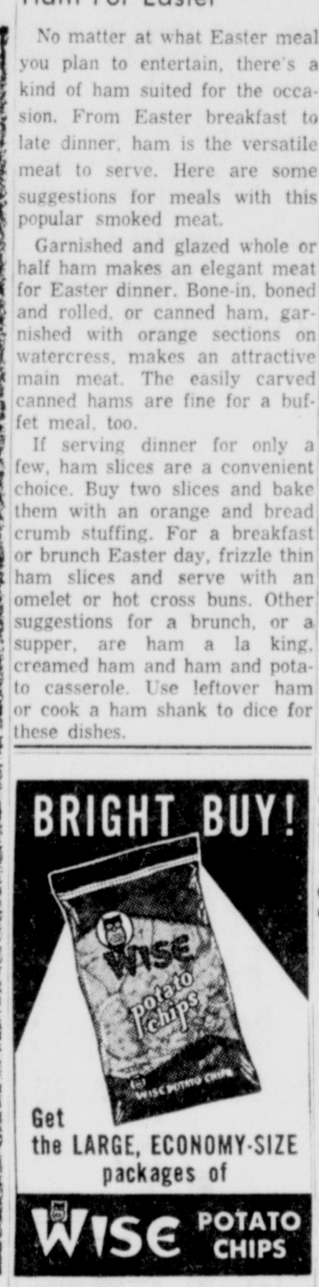

Lemon Tuna Bake

Match your mood on a sparkling sunshiny day in spring with Lemon Tuna Bake. In a (1½-quart) baking dish, place 1 quart of toasted bread cubes and pour over them tuna-celery sauce. To make sauce: Saute ¼ cup chopped onion in ½ cup butter or margarine. Blend in ¼ cup flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and ¼ teaspoon sage. Add 1½ cups milk and cook until thick. Stir. Add 1 cup chopped celery, 2 cups drained, flaked tuna and gradually stir in ¼ cup lemon juice. Combine 1 pint soft bread crumbs, ¼ cup chopped pimiento and ¼ cup melted butter. Sprinkle crumb mixture over casserole and bake in a moderate oven (375°F.) for 20 minutes.

Spanish Touch For Desserts

For a good party dessert, try heating some canned sliced peaches; just before you take them off the fire, add a quarter cup of Spanish sherry, either the nutty amontillado or the sweet oloroso type. Sprinkle with almonds or shredded coconut.

Blue Martins Herald Arrival Of Spring In Mountain City

FROSTBURG — The Blue Martins returned to Frostburg yesterday and noisily took up their abode in the large octagonal birdhouse mounted high above the pavement on Main Street near its intersection with Broadway.

The arrival of the Martins, according to the testimony of older citizens who keep such authoritative data, officially marks the coming of spring to Frostburg, all other signs and omens not withstanding.

The large octagon shaped bird house which is occupied during summer months by the birds was built several years ago. Previous to this an ornate white marble house was mounted nearby. The present structure consists of twenty-four good sized apartments, intended to house one gentleman and one lady Martin. This apparently does not meet with the approval of the birds at all times, and they cause such excitement with their chattering that folks passing by on the street often stop to see what is the trouble.

With all of the chattering, the arrival of the Martins and of spring is always marked with rejoicing on Main Street.

New Zoning Board Calls First Session

WESTERNPORT — The first meeting by members of the Board of Appeals to hear complaints relative to the zoning ordinance recently passed by Mayor Okey E. Michael and Town Commissioners will be held at 7 p. m. today in the city clerk's office.

The committee recently selected Harry Richards, a former town commissioner as its chairman and Ray L. Wilt, commissioner of lights and public property and George Failing who was chairman of the committee which drew up the ordinance are the other members of the appeal board.

PSC Students Setting High Grade Averages

74 Attain Score Of "B" Or Better

KEYSER—Potomac State College has announced the grades at the close of the first half of the second semester. They show 74 students, 36 sophomores and 38 freshmen have attained an average of 3.000 (B) or better, according to statistics released by the office of Dean K. S. McKee.

Two sophomores and a freshman achieved 4.000 (straight A) averages. They are, Jean Ann Kight, daughter of Mrs. Wilda W. Kight, 31 G Street, Keyser, a sophomore pre-business major with 16 hours; George E. Brady, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Brady, Shallmar, Md., a sophomore geology major with 15 hours; Rebecca E. Green, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Eldred Green Sr., 53 Harrison Street, Piedmont, a freshman pre-medical major with 18 hours.

Four other freshmen scored 3.500 or better. They are, Mary Ernestine Locke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emery Dale Locke, Harrisville, W. Va., a home economics major with 21 hours; Patricia Hewitt, daughter of Mrs. James Litten, Keyser, and R. S. Hewitt, Chicago, a medical secretarial major with 21 hours; Robert A. Pomroy, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Pomroy, Junction, W. Va., an engineering major with 15 hours; Krista Leatherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Leatherman, Keyser, a pre-education major with 19 hours.

Four other sophomores scored 3.500 or better. They are Wesley Shanholtzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde T. Shanholtzer, Moorefield, a physics major with 19 hours; Joyce Boone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Boone, Keyser, a home economics major with 17 hours; Browne Kooken, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. Browne Kooken, Westernport, a pre-law major with 15 hours; Jack K. Gerhard, son of Mrs. Erene Gerhard, Ellerslie, Md., an engineering major with 14 hours.

Butler Trial May Be Set Next Month

PIEDMONT—The trial of Howard Butler, 55, who is being held in Mineral County Jail at Keyser on a charge of murder in the December 30 slaying of Mrs. Velma Marie (Greenhorn) Sharon, 43, also of Piedmont, is expected to get under way the first part of May.

Butler, who underwent plastic surgery on his left jaw at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, was indicted for murder by the grand jury of the January term of court.

Donald C. Hott, prosecuting attorney for Mineral County, said yesterday it is expected that Butler's trial will be scheduled for the first part of May.

However, no definite date has been set but the case will probably be placed on the court calendar this month by Judge Ernest M. See.

Meanwhile, the April grand jury will convene in Keyser Tuesday, according to the prosecutor, who said the criminal trials for the term of court will probably begin April 29.

Edward J. Ryan, Cumberland attorney, and Joseph Blundon of Keyser are counsel for Butler.

Mrs. Sharon was found dead in the bedroom of Butler's apartment by Police Chief Gene Keyes of Piedmont. Butler was still conscious from wounds and was taken to Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser before being removed to Memorial Hospital where he was a patient until February 4.

President Women's Auxiliary Resigns

MT. SAVAGE — The Women's Auxiliary of St. George's Episcopal Church met in the guild room of the parish house with Mrs. Maude Morrison presiding.

Rev. Stevenson, the supply pastor of Holy Cross Church and St. Phillip's Episcopal Church, Cumberland, spoke on "The Ten Commandments." Mrs. Morrison resigned as president of the organization. Miss Margaret Uhl, vice president, will take over Mrs. Morrison's duties until election in June.

Marlinton Angus Breeder Buys Burlington Herd Sire

BURLINGTON, W. Va.—E. H. Williams of Marlinton, W. Va., a breeder of purebred and registered Aberdeen-Angus cattle, has just purchased a herd sire from the Longview herd of Burlington. This young bull, "Longview Envious Emulous" is to be used in Mr. Williams' herd on his Virginia farm. He is a double bred grandson of the famous "Envious Emulous," was sired by "Longview Envious Emulator 33." The "33d" was Reserve Champion two years ago in the Southern Regional Show and sale at Montgomery, Ala., being purchased at that time by Dr. L. M. Crawford, who was president of the Alabama Angus Association. The dam of the "33d," "Blakeford G. R. Blackbird 2" was sired by "Queens Grenadier" that came to the Longview herd from the formerly famous Blakeford herd of the Eastern Shore of Maryland. The dam of Mr. Williams' purchase is "Longview Envious Pride," a daughter of "Envious Emulous" and a great-granddaughter, on her dam's side, of "Blackbird Bandolier of Page" that was purchased in 1949 for the Longview herd from the Walking Horse Farm of New Jersey owned by Paul Whiteman. This is the third bull purchased by Mr. Williams from the Longview Farm.

Roy L. Saville of Augusta has purchased "Longview Envious Emperor." His sire is "Longview Envious Emulator 20," a son of old "Envious Emulous." The dam of this prospective herd sire is "Miss Empress A," a true Blackcap Empress that came to the Longview Farm from Springfield, Ohio, in 1949. "Miss Empress A" is an own daughter of the very famous bull, "Bell Boy M. K." and on her dam's side she is out of a daughter sired by "Glencarnock Revolution 6," the sire of "Blackbird Bandolier of Page" and a son of "Blackcap Revolution," a three times International Grand Champion.

According to owner W. G. Merrells, "There is an increasing demand for Longview breeding and to date we have sold purebred and registered Aberdeen-Angus into twenty-three states."

Names Adopted For Buildings At Maryland Teacher Colleges

William A. Gunter Among Those Honored

FROSTBURG — R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers College has announced that the state board of education has approved names for several buildings at the Maryland state teachers colleges.

At Frostburg the present residence hall for women now also housing dining facilities will be called Catherine Frost Hall for one of the founders of the city of Frostburg. The oldest building on campus will retain the name of Old Main. The present laboratory school will be named Allegany Hall and the science building takes the name of Garrett Hall for the two westernmost counties of the state.

The new residence hall for women has been named the I. Jewell Simpson Hall, named for a retired assistant state superintendent of schools in Maryland. The men's residence hall will be called the Wendell D. Allen Hall for the president of the Maryland State Board of Education. The new dining hall-union building to be constructed during the next year will be named William A. Gunter Hall for a member of the state board of education and lifetime resident of Western Maryland. All of these names will become effective in September. Appropriate ceremonial observance will be held in the fall at the college campus.

Buildings at Frostburg previously named by the State Board of Education are Compton Hall for Dr. Lillian C. Compton, retired president of the college; and Lowndes Hall for Lloyd Lowndes, former governor of Maryland, and for Tasker G. Lowndes, member and president of the State Board of Education, 1925-52.

At Bowie State Teachers College the following buildings on that campus also have been named at the recent meeting of the State Board of Education: men's dormitory, Dwight O. W. Holmes Hall; women's dormitory, Lucretia T. Kennard Hall and gymnasium, Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin Gymnasium.

At Towson the following names have been established by the State Board of Education: administration, Stephens Hall; gymnasium, Wiedefeld Gymnasium; men's dormitories, Henry S. West Hall and George W. Ward Hall; new library, Albert S. Cook Library and women's dormitory, E. B. Prettyman Hall.

Marjorie Guididas To Represent Potomac State As Princess At Apple Blossom Festival In May

KEYSER — Miss Marjorie F. Guididas, Potomac State College's princess for the Court of Queen Shenandoah XXX at the thirtieth annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival, will leave Wednesday, May 1, for the princesses' headquarters at the George Washington Hotel in Winchester, Va.

The princesses' gowns are to be of specially designed creations of eyelet nylon in varying shades, and Miss Guididas' gown will be blue. They will be wearing these dresses at the coronation, as they ride on floats in the grand feature parade, at the tea dance and at the queen's ball.

An English beauty from across the seas—the mother city of Winchester, England—will be Queen of the 1957 Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival on May 2-3.

Miss Anne Denise Doughty-Tichborne, whose forebears have lived in Hampshire, near Winchester, England since Saxon times, will come to Virginia, during the nation's 350th anniversary year, to be crowned Queen Shenandoah.

The queen is a young lady of 19, with fair complexion, dark grey eyes and a cloud of raven tresses. The daughter of Sir Anthony and Lady Antonia Doughty-Tichborne, she was educated in England, Italy and Spain. She plays the piano, swims and skiis, enjoys horse racing, polo and cricket matches, swings a tennis racket, enjoys reading detective stories and enthuses over American movies.

On her seventeenth birthday, Miss Doughty-Tichborne was presented to Her Majesty, Queen Elizabeth at Court.

The Apple Blossom Queen has a number of American connections. Her maternal uncle, William Snagge, is married to the former Miss Eleanor Randolph Smith of Massachusetts. Her maternal aunt, the Viscountess Harcourt has only just returned to England from Washington, D. C., where, until recently, Viscount Harcourt was Economic Minister, attached to the British Embassy.

Queen Shenandoah-elect will be accompanied to Winchester by her mother, Lady Tichborne. She will be crowned ruler of the spring fete at ceremonies on Thursday, May 2, at 2:30 p. m. by her fellow-countryman, Lord De La Warr, of London, former British postmaster general.

Frostburg Firemen Will Destroy House In Practice Session

FROSTBURG — The Frostburg Fire Department has purchased an old frame dwelling house in Midlothian, and will burn it on Sunday at 1 p.m. for fire training purposes, according to Paul C. Haberlein, chief of the department.

The Clarysville Fire Company has been invited to participate in the demonstration which will include the use of fog nozzles, chemical and foam type extinguishers. The Clarysville Fire Company will use their large tank truck in fighting the blaze and at least three pieces of equipment from Frostburg will be used in the training session.

Fire Chief Haberlein asks that all members of the Frostburg Fire Deparment be present to take part in this practice, as much valuable experience may be gained when fighting a fire under such ideal conditions.

The building which will be set afire is an old frame home, and should burn quickly; however, it is hoped that the blaze may be extinguished several times before the destruction is complete.

Work Starts On Replacing Filtration Basin Floor

Westernport Employs Local Contractor

WESTERNPORT—The work of removing and replacing the concrete in the number two subsidence basin of the filtration plant which was cracked, has begun by the A. G. Clark Builder, local contractor.

Mayor Okey E. Michael, announced at the regular meeting of the Town Commissioners Wednesday night, announced that Clark had accepted a contract to do the work on a cost plu basis. It will take about two weeks to do the job after which it will have to set for seven days before it is painted.

The George Construction Company of Cumberland who laid the concrete basin, which later developed a crack, refused to remove the entire basin and replace it without cost to the town. The company agreed to remove that part which was cracked and replace it without cost.

The construction company contended that the crack was due to specification prepared by Glace and Glace engineering firm of Harrisburg, Pa. Harry Richards, inspector of the job, stated it was caused by not being kept covered properly.

It was ordered by city officials that a final notice be sent to residents living in the Savage River Dam area that are furnished water from the town, that after 30 days the town would only bc able to provide them with raw water. When the filtration plant, located on Westernport Hill is put in operation, the town's chlorination plant in the area of Savage River Dam will be discontinued.

The raw water will be furnished those in that area who sign an agreement with the town that they will not hold the town of Westernport responsible for any damages incurred by drinking raw water. Already several residents in that area have signed such an agreement.

The Bloomington Water Company which receives water also from Westernport has installed a chlorination plant for the citizens of Bloomington.

Maplehurst Bridge Fans List Points In Masters Game

FROSTBURG — Mrs. James Shryock and Mrs. Charles Meehan topped the field with 81½ points in the fractional masters point game played by the Maplehurst Bridge Club at the clubhouse Wednesday. Seven tables played 21 boards with an average of 63 and a top of six.

In first place were Mrs. Shryock and Mrs. Meehan with 81½; second place: Mrs. E. L. Jones and Mrs. Mary Deal with 78½; third place: Mrs. Gerald Groves and Roger X. Day Sr. with 69½.

First place went to Mrs. Ralph M. Race and Mrs. Eleanor Root with 70 points; second were Miss Loretta Hannon and Mrs. Charles Grahame with 69; and third, Mrs. John Cook and Robert Prichard with 65½.

Each Monday at 8 p. m. C. C. DeHaven will conduct bridge lessons at the Maplehurst Club House, and each Wednesday at 8 p. m. the bridge club will meet for an evening of bridge. This newly organized unit of the Maplehurst Club has proven to be very popular and more and more players are showing an interest as the games progress.

Angus Breeders Schedule Sale

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — The first of three sales scheduled by the West Virginia Aberdeen-Angus breeders will be a state show and sale planned April 19 here.

West Virginia's best breeders have consigned nine bulls and 34 females for this big show and sale event. The Tri-County Fair Grounds will play host to the morning show and the sale will get under way at 1 p. m.

The annual meeting of the Aberdeen-Angus Association will be conducted here at 7:30 p. m. April 18.

Meanwhile, preparations are being completed for the largest of 14 West Virginia Spring feeder cattle sales which is scheduled April 17 in nearby Moorefield. Some 800 head of cattle will be offered for sale.

Another of the sales will be conducted April 26 at Terra Alta, where 450 head of cattle will be offered. Terra Alta also will be the scene of the Dunrovin-Brookside Aberdeen-Angus sale May 11.

Catalogues and complete information on the Angus sales are available from Clyde Bonar, Burlington, W. Va., sales manager for the association.

Clarysville Firemen Hold Benefit Tonight

CLARYSVILLE — Clarysville Volunteer Fire Company will hold "Country Store Night" beginning at 9:30 p. m. today at Clarysville fire dance hall.

No admission will be charged for the round and square dance. Music will be played by "The Coronets" four-piece dance orchestra, from the local area.

Proceeds from the public dance will be placed in the Clarysville Fire Company building fund for the erection of their new building this Spring to accommodate their fire truck, tank truck, banquet room and dance hall.

Steels Thrown For Loss In Mixed Stock Market

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—Steels took losses on profit-taking but sugar and drug shares rose in today's mixed stock market.

The range of gains and losses went from fractions to around 2 points.

Volume held up well, reaching 2,350,000 shares compared with yesterday's 2,920,000, the year's highest level.

The day brought a liberal assortment of depressing news: An easing in steel scrap prices at Chicago; preparations by U.S. Steel to close five of its plants because of a threatened rail strike; a decline in rail carloadings; a drop in housing starts to the lowest level for any March since 1949; and a raise in bankers acceptances rates, another sign of tighter credit.

Despite these news items, advances outnumbered declines by 468 to 417, of the 1,144 issues traded; and there were 75 new 1957 highs as against 16 new lows.

Weighted by the blue chip issues, however, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks showed a decline of 30 cents to $177.90, with the industrials unchanged, the rails down 50 cents and the utilities down 20 cents.

Of the 15 most active stocks, there were 8 advances, 6 declines and one unchanged.

Studebaker - Packard was the day's most active stock, up ¼ at 8⅛ on 67,500 shares. Second was Bethlehem Steel, off ⅛ at 44⅞ on 39,600 shares. Third was General Dynamics, up 1⅞ at 67⅜ on 30,100 shares.

Also heavily traded, were Foster Wheeler, up 1⅞, U.S. Steel, off 1 and Chrysler off ⅞.

Cuban American Sugar rose 2¼, West Indies Sugar ½ and South Porto Rico Sugar 1⅝. As the drug issues rose, Schering added 1½, Pfizer 1⅜ and Parke, Davis ⅜.

Superior Oil of California added another 85 points to close at 1,390. But Gulf Oil dropped ⅞ and Royal Dutch ⅝.

Prices were irregular in the American Stock Exchange, where volume totaled 980,000 shares compared with 1,010,000 yesterday. Trading was suspended in General Plywood for 7 minutes to permit matching of orders as it declined rapidly in price. It closed at 9⅜, off ¾. There was no immediate explanation for the flurry. Other losers were St. Lawrence, Skiatron, and Mesabi Iron. Gainers included A&P, British Petroleum and Northeast Airlines.

Corporate bonds declined in moderately active trading. U. S. government bonds were lower in light over the counter dealings.

Allegany, Fort Hill And LaSalle Play At Home Today

High School League Opens 19th Season

Bruce, Mt. Savage, Valley Play Here In Games 4 P. M.

Fort Hill and LaSalle, the 1956 co-champions, and Allegany's Campers will play home games tomorrow as the 19th season of the Allegany County High School Baseball League gets under way.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh's Fort Hill Sentinels will entertain Joe Carter's Mt. Savage High Indians at 4 p. m., Coach Norman Sell's LaSalle Explorers will play host to the Valley High Black Knights at 4 p. m., on Stitcher Field and over at Campobello the Campers, with Gene Shaw at the helm, will tackle Bruce High of Westernport at 4 p. m.

The fourth game of the day finds Coach "Stony" Jackson's Flintstone High Aggies colliding with Beall High's Mountaineers at 3:30 at Flintstone.

Fort Hill and LaSalle wound up the season with 13-3 records last season.

Capon Bridge High School of Hampshire County will be angling for its third straight win of the P.V.C. season today when the Warriors will be met at Wardensville High School.

Weather permitting, there will be five other PVC contests on tap today, namely, Fort Ashby at Paw Paw, Moorefield at Franklin, Keyser at Romney, Petersburg at Circleville and West Virginia School for the Deaf.

Moorefield is the defending champion in the P.V.C. and takes a 23-game victory string into today's game.

Jones And Vejar To Fight Tonight

SYRACUSE, N. Y., April 11 (AP)—Two of boxing's most televised performers, Chico Vejar and Ralph (Tiger) Jones, collide here tomorrow night in a 10-round, nationally televised middleweight bout.

Fifth-ranked Jones has been installed as a 3-1 favorite to win in his 31st video appearance. Vejar, of Stamford, Conn., will be making his 26th fight before the cameras.

Jones has a record of 43 victories, 17 losses and 3 draws. Vejar, 25, boasts a 72-8-2 mark, including 34 knockouts. Jones has stopped 11 opponents.

The fight will get the usual Friday night radio-television treatment (NBC TV, radio, 10 p. m. EST).

Ford To Head Select Field

Round Robin Golf Set May 29-June 2

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—Doug Ford, the new Masters champion, and Sam Snead, a four-time winner, head a field named today to compete in the annual Round-Robin Golf Tournament at Wykagyl Country Club, New Rochelle, N.Y., May 29-June 2.

Proceeds of the tournament, which drew more than $70,000 last year, go to the Boys Clubs of New York and New Rochelle and the New Rochelle Hospital.

The field consists of established stars plus a sprinkling of new talent which is burning up the Professional Golfers Assn. tour.

Newcomers to the field are Bill Casper Jr., Mike Fetchick, Ken Venturi and Dick Mayer.

Buccos Belt Tigers, 10-2

Pittsburgh Bags 19th Spring Win

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 11 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, hottest major league team this spring, pounded young Don Lee for eight hits and seven runs in the first five innings today and went on to whip the Detroit Tigers 10-2.

The Pirate assault included a three-run homer in the fifth by rightfielder Paul Smith and a two-run drive at the 385 foot mark by Dale Long in the fourth.

The Tigers collected two runs in the second off Dick Hall when Al Kaline opened with a scratch single and Charlie Maxwell homered.

The victory was the 19th of the spring against eight losses for Pittsburgh. Detroit's record is 8-17.

Yanks Upset At Richmond

Farmhands Rally, Whip Champs, 6-5

RICHMOND, Va., April 11 (AP)—The world champion New York Yankees were upset by their Richmond farmhands 6-5 today to the delight of an overflow crowd of 10,469. The Virginians rallied for two runs in the ninth with a pinch hit by catcher Neal Watlington driving in the winning run after two were out.

The Yankees, aided by homers by Mickey Mantle and Hank Bauer, and an unearned run, led 5-4 going into the final inning. Righthander Tom Sturdivant had pitched a four-hitter until then.

But a walk to Jerry Thomas and singles by Harry Chiti and Tom Carroll brought in the tying run. After Sturdivant whiffed Bob Kline for his 10th strikeout, Watlington came through with the winning hit.

Mantle put the Yankees ahead with his two-run rap over the left field wall off starter Jim Coates in the first inning. But the International Leaguers retaliated with a four-run splurge on a solo homer by Gordon Windhorn and a three-run smack by Chiti.

Louis May Be Able To Settle Tax Problems

Hope Is Expressed By Commissioner

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—Former heavyweight champion Joe Louis may be able to settle his income tax problems "very soon," U.S. Commissioner Russell Harrington of the Internal Revenue Service said today in a television appearance.

On the "Today" show (NBC-TV) Harrington was asked by Dave Garroway if Louis would be allowed to make a settlement for the back taxes he owes.

"We're working on that now and we hope to get that settled very soon," Harrington replied.

Louis's debt for back income taxes was placed at approximately $1,238,000 last February when he placed his problems in the hands of K. E. Porter, Phoenix, Ariz. tax consultant. At that time Porter said the debt was increasing at the rate of $278 to $300 daily because of interest.

Louis' attorney, Aaron Payne, said the ex-champion's income was $20,000 a year paid by the International Boxing Club for public relations work and $100 a week from a Chicago milk firm in which he has an interest.

Nieman Suffers Bruised Shoulder

BALTIMORE, April 11 (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles and their American League fans heaved a sigh of relief today after a medical huddle decided outfielder Bob Nieman's sore shoulder was only bruised.

Nieman returned to Baltimore yesterday ahead of the touring Orioles with a report that he might have a fracture. He hurt the shoulder in an exhibition game Tuesday with the Chicago Cubs in Dallas.

20-Game Pitchers

AMERICAN LEAGUE—Whitey Ford, Yankees; Frank Lary, Tigers; Paul Foytack, Tigers; Billy Pierce, White Sox; Herb Score, Indians; Tom Brewer, Red Sox.

NATIONAL LEAGUE — Don Newcombe, Dodgers; Warren Spahn, Braves; Bob Friend, Pirates; Robin Roberts, Phillies; John Antonelli, Giants.

Ike Agrees To Toss Out First Ball

Major Loop Opener Is Set For Monday

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower agreed today to toss out the first ball at the traditional opening of the major league baseball season Monday.

The Washington Senators and Baltimore Orioles of the American League will play at Griffith Stadium.

Eisenhower got his annual pass to the Senators' games, along with one for Mrs. Eisenhower, from the club president, Calvin Griffith.

"He's going to be up there with us Monday to throw out the first ball," Griffith told newsmen. "He asked how the ball club had improved and about certain players, including the new ones.

"He knows his ball players pretty well. He must read the sport pages pretty thoroughly."

Griffith said he told Eisenhower the Washington club looks for a "25 per cent improvement" this year and expects to climb to fifth place. The Senators finished seventh last year.

Griffith wasn't announcing yet the name of the Washington starting pitcher for Monday. But he said the President asked about several hurlers, including Camilo Pascual, Chuck Stobbs, and Bob Chakales.

"No, sir," Griffith said, nothing was said during his talk with Eisenhower about the possibility of shifting the Senators to Los Angeles. He said the Senators hope they have a club that will stir up the interest of Washington fans.

Along with the passes for the President and First Lady, Griffith brought along a handsome ostrich-skin handbag for Mrs. Eisenhower.

Country Boy, Garland Shifflett, Is Chuck Dressen's No. 1 Choice

By WALTER L. JOHNS

ORLANDO, Fla. — A country boy, who couldn't go into a hotel dining room last spring because he didn't have the proper clothes, is heading for a fancied dress spot on the Washington pitching staff this season.

Called "Duck" by his mates because of his bowlegs, Garland J. Shifflett, 21, of Elkton, Va., was the favorite among Charley Dressen's pitching rookies last spring and this year he's top choice and labeled a future star.

Dressen admits that "maybe I make a mistake in not keeping him on the club last year" but Shifflett, now outfitted in proper clothes by the Washington club, isn't making any mistakes as he seeks a spot on the Senator varsity.

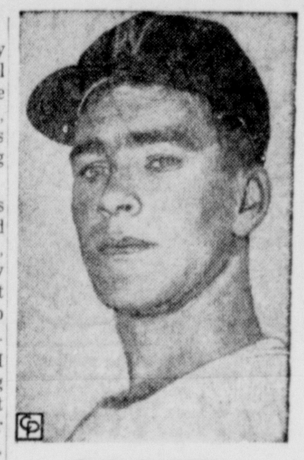

He has looked good in camp games and Dressen is helping him with his curve ball.

Shifflett, who is only 5'10" tall, is a righthander. He comes up this year from Charlotte where he had a 11-12 record. His only other previous experience was with Erie in 1955, where he was 11-5.

Crazy about baseball, Shifflett quit school at Elkton when he was 17 after pitching for the high school team and in a semi-pro loop. He worked in a steel mill for a while and then got a tryout with Washington in 1955. The club liked his style so well it gave him a contract and $4,000.

Garland Shifflett

Shifflet, who had come to camp with only a few jackets and trousers "because I'm a country boy," couldn't get in the club's dining room without a suit. When the club heard about this it bought the youth a new outfit so he could eat with the rest of the boys.

Last winter Shifflett worked in the steel mill again. But he didn't let baseball slip by. He worked the 3 p. m. to midnight shift and on his lunch hour he warmed up with his foreman in one of the company yards.

Shifflett is one of five children. His father works in a chemical plant and did some pitching as a youth until his arm went bad.

Sentinels Launch Track Season At Stadium Today

Hagerstown, Martinsburg Test Locals

Triangular Meet Of 15 Events Will Commence At 3:30

Fort Hill High School will play host to the thinclads of South Hagerstown High School and Martinsburg High School in a triangular track and field meet of 15 events today at 3:30 o'clock at the stadium.

It will be the opening meet of the season for Fort Hill and Martinsburg. South Hagerstown lost to Frederick High School in dual meet on April 5 by the score of 68-25. The meet's outstanding athlete was Terry Strock who won the 100, 220 and 440 for Coach Paul Flick's Rebels.

Events on today's program are:

Track—100 and 220 dashes, 440, 880 and mile runs, high hurdles, low hurdles, 440, 880 and mile relays.

Frostburg State Teachers College will oppose Fairmont State in a dual meet Saturday in Fairmont. Shippensburg (Pa.) Teachers defeated Frostburg on Wednesday by the score of 103-23.

ABC Radio Network Separate Subsidiary

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—The American Broadcasting Co., radio network is being set up as a separate subsidiary of its parent firm in an announced bid to "achieve the No. 1 position in network radio."

ABC television activities are not involved in the change.

Leonard H. Goldenson, president of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc., said today that effective May 1 ABC will be a separate and autonomous subsidiary of the corporation. Goldenson announced that Robert E. Eastman will be network president.

WINNER of 91 games while losing 47 in six seasons at Miami university in Ohio, William D. Vic Power Injured When Struck By Ball

KANSAS CITY, April 11 (INS)—Vic Power, hard-hitting first baseman of the Kansas City A's, was knocked unconscious today when a thrown ball hit him between the eyes as he was going into second base.

Power was taken on a stretcher to the clubhouse where he finally regained consciousness. He was later removed to research hospital where it was reported the 25-year-old athlete suffered no serious injury.

He will be held overnight at the hospital for observation and probably released in the morning.

The throw that struck down the Arecibo, Puerto Rico, native was unloosed in the fifth inning by Don Zimmer of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

St. Louis Cards Beat Pierce, 5-0

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 11 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals whacked star lefty Billy Pierce of Chicago for seven hits and three runs in seven innings to defeat the White Sox 5-0 today.

All three runs off Pierce came on homers by Stan Musial and ex-Chicago Cub catcher Hobie Landrith. Bonus pitcher Jim Derrington yielded the final two Cardinal runs on two hits and an error in the ninth.

Lindy McDaniel and Willard Schmidt handcuffed the Pale Hose with five hits. McDaniel, 21-year-old bonus right hander, scattered four hits in six innings in a serious bid for a starting job.

Cubs Nose Out Baltimore, 7-6

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., April 11 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs stirred up Dee Fondy's two homers and two rally-killing double plays into a winning recipe today, defeating the Baltimore Orioles 7-6 in an exhibition baseball game.

Both of Fondy's homers came with one aboard, one in a three-run fifth inning and the other in the sixth to give the Cubs a 6-0 lead.

Farrady Post, Green's Lead Shuffle Tests

Division Playoffs End Here Tonight

Frostburg teams took the lead last night as the final playoffs got under way in the National and American divisions of the Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League.

Farrady Post, American Legion, defeated the Cumberland Knights of Columbus by the score of 82-63 in the first three games of the American Division playoffs in the Mountain City. By sweeping three games by scores of 26-24, 28-20 and 28-19, Farrady Post took a lead of 19 points.

The last three games of the series is scheduled for tonight at 8:30 at the K. of C. Home.

Green's Chevrolet bagged two out of three games from Fisher & Robinette at Frostburg to take a lead of 21 points in their National Division series. The totals were 79 and 58.

Yankees Are "Loaded" For Pennant Race

Stengel Has Club Of 2-Way Players

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—The word for the New York Yankees is "loaded." Casey Stengel had the best crop of youngsters in Florida and he heads into the American League race with a well-balanced ball club made up of two-way players.

Although the Yanks lost to their Richmond farm club today after barely struggling past two other minor league teams on the way home, it is the general impression that they can't miss when the bell rings for the regular season. Only injuries to key men like Mickey Mantle or Yogi Berra could change the picture.

While other clubs must settle for a man who can handle one position, Stengel demands the two-way or three-way ballplayer. An infielder must be ready to shift to the outfield and on outfielder must be prepared to catch or play shortstop.

That is one reason some people predict the rest of the league might as well "wait 'till '60" before making any serious moves to challenge Stengel's authority.

To make things interesting in St. Petersburg, Stengel announced he would move Bill Skowron from first to third base. As Skowron once played third in the minors, it wasn't an impossible switch. The idea was to jog Andy Carey, the third base regular, into improvement on his poor 1956 season.

Billy Martin, who plays second, short and third, also showed up at first base in some of the workouts at Miller Huggins Field. Gil McDougald already has proven he can do the job at second, short and third. So has Jerry Coleman.

Joe Collins never knows whether he will be in the outfield or at first base, so he shows up at the park every day with two gloves, a mitt and a regular fielder's glove.

Los Angeles Player Shot, Accidentally

"Bud" McFadin's Condition Fair

HOUSTON, Tex., April 11 (AP)—Lewis (Bud) McFadin, 28-year-old former All-America football guard and star lineman for the Los Angeles Rams, was shot accidentally today.

Hospital attendants said tonight that McFadin's condition was fair.

The former University of Texas star was struck in the abdomen by a bullet from a .41 caliber revolver shortly after he and friends had returned from target shooting at the Atascocito Country Club, where McFadin is general manager.

Kenneth W. O'Connor, 28-year-old employe at the club, told investigators the revolver was discharged as he was handing it to McFadin. Other witnesses were Ray Fondren, 52, and Henry Kline 70-year-old night watchman at the club.

McFadin was left guard on the University of Texas team from 1948 through 1950. He made All-Southwest Conference teams in 1949 and 1950 and was an All-America in 1950.

STILL TEAMMATES

FOR A QUARTER of a century Tony Cuccinello (left) and Al Lopez have traveled baseball's byways together, with a few exceptions. Still teammates, with the Chicago White Sox, Coach Tony and Manager Al were players together for Brooklyn, then the Boston Nationals, and joined again as bench mates in 1948 at Indianapolis. When Lopez moved to Cleveland as manager Tony was coaching Cincinnati but Al soon brought Tony back with him. When Al went to the White Sox, Tony went along. (International)

25 Sectionals Scheduled For National Open

21 Of 162 Players Given Exemptions

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—Twenty-five qualifying sections, one less than last year, have been established to fill 141 berths in the National Open Golf Tournament, the U.S. Golf Assn. announced today.

Qualifiers at the various sites will join 21 exempt players to form a field of 162 for the 57th Open June 13-15 at the Inverness Club in Toledo, Ohio.

All of the sections, except Honolulu, will conduct their qualifiers on Monday, June 3. Honolulu's will be held Monday, May 27. Play is over 36 holes with the number of entries determining the quota each section will send to the national tournament. There were 1,921 entries last year.

Exempt Players

The exempt group includes defending champion Cary Middlecoff and the Open champions of the previous four years, Jack Fleck, Ed Furgol, Ben Hogan and Julius Boros; 1956 National Amateur champion Harvie Ward; last year's PGA champion Jack Burke; Peter Thomson of Australia, 1956 British Open champion; 1956 British amateur champion John Beharrel, the head professional of the host club, and the 10 low scorers and those tying for 10th in the 1956 Open.

This latter group includes Masters' winner Doug Ford, amateur Billy Joe Patton, and professionals Ted Kroll, Arnold Palmer, Ken Venturi, Wesley Ellis, Jerry Barber, Billy Maxwell, Bill Casper Jr., Pete Cooper and Freddie Haas.

Sites Are Shifted

New Orleans was eliminated from the schedule of qualifying locations this year while several shifts in sites were made, including: Birmingham, Ala., instead of Atlanta; Washington, D.C., instead of Baltimore; Jacksonville instead of Dunedin, Fla.; Marion, Mass. instead of Falmouth, Mass.; Hendersonville, N.C. instead of Morganton, N.C.; Portland, Ore. instead of Seattle, Wash.; and Memphis instead of Nashville, Tenn.

The New York metropolitan area again was awarded three sections, two in Westchester County and another on Long Island and there will be two locations each at Pittsburgh, Phildelphia, Cleveland and Detroit, and two at Dallas if the number of entries warrant. Other qualifying sites will be at Los Angeles, San Francisco, Denver, Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City, St. Louis, Springfield, N.J., Buffalo, N.Y., and Cincinnati.

BEST BET FOR TOP MARK

SECOND to the Rev. Bob Richards in the 1956 Olympics in Australia, Bob Gutowski of Occidental college clears the bar at 15 feet 4 inches in Los Angeles to break the N.C.A.A. record set by Don Bragg last June. Gutowski is rated the best bet to break Cornelius Warmerdam's mark of 15 feet 7¾ in. (International)

1957 Pennant Preview

Following is the second in a series of four articles capsuling prospects for the 16 major league baseball teams.

By TONY GALLI
INS Sports Writer

The four top contenders, Brooklyn, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, and St. Louis figure to make the race a close one, similar to the down-to-the-wire finish of last season.

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS — Strengthened by trades but possibly not enough to improve fourth place finish of 1956.

Pitching a question mark with form of Vinegar Bend Mizell decisive factor. Support from Herm Wehmeier, Murry Dickson and Sam Jones. Catchers Hal Smith and Hobie Landrith no fence busters.

Redlegs Lack Pitching

CINCINNATI REDLEGS—Redlegs biggest muscles, with pitching improved but not enough. Reds hope for another good season by 19-game winner Brooks Lawrence. Joe Nuxhall, Johnny Klippstein, Warren Hacker, Hal Jeffcoat and Art Fowler spelling him. Ed Bailey and Smoky Burgess give Redlegs best catching staff in the league.

Infield very good. Ted Kluszewski (first), Johnny Temple (second), Roy McMillan (short), all topnotch. Third a question mark with Don Hoak and Alex Grammas. Outfield strong. "Rookie of the Year" Frank Robinson, Gus Bell and Wally Post all hit the long ball. Consensus: second or third place.

MILWAUKEE BRAVES — Braves could use help at second and a hard-hitting outfielder for insurance but have the pitching and hitting to overtake Brooklyn.

Pitching is best in the league with Warren Spahn, Bob Buhl, Gene Conley, Lew Burdette, Taylor Phillips, Ray Crone, Dave Jolly, Ernie Johnson and Red Murff. Batting could be stronger but Del Crandell and Del Rice are fine receivers.

Braves Picked First

First, short and third handled by Joe Adcock, Johnny Logan and Ed Mathews, respectively. Second-base hole to be plugged by Danny O'Connell and Felix Mantilla. Team lacks topnotch reserves outside of slick-fielding first baseman Frank Torre. Batting champ Hank Aaron and Bill Bruton solid performers and Bobby Thomson hopes to boost his .235 average. Andy Pafko, Wes Covington and Chuck Tanner in reserve. Consensus: first place.

BROOKLYN DODGERS — Champion "old men" are a year older but still blessed with experience and the return of Johnny Podres. Don Newcombe No. 1 man and Walter Alston looks for another winning year from "ancient" Sal Maglie. Brooks also have Roger Craig, Clem Labine, Don Bessent, Ed Roebuck and Rene Valdes. Catching a problem if Roy (glass hand) Campanella is sidelined. Al Walker not the replacement Brooks would prefer.

Gilliam, Sandy Amoros and Gino Cimoli bidding for job in left. Solid in center with Duke Snider and in right with Carl Furillo. Consensus: second or third.

Team To Drill

Noren's Single Sinks Dodgers

Kansas City Wins In 9th Frame, 5-4

KANSAS CITY, April 11 (AP)—Irv Noren's single off Don Bessent in the ninth inning scoring Bill Shantz capped a 4-run rally and gave the Kansas City Athletics a 5-4 exhibition baseball victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers as light snow began to fall over Municipal Stadium in 34-degree weather today.

Trailing 4-1, coming into the ninth, the A's gave the shivering 8,531 fans a warming rally as Tim Thompson and Billy Hunter led off with singles. After Cletus Boyer looked at a third strike, rookie Milt Graff singled to fill the bases. Gus Zernial's single plated two runs and when Bessent threw wildly on Johnny Groth's tapped roller, Graff raced home with the tying run.

Pugh Named Aide To Coach Waldorf

WESTMINSTER, Md., April 11 (AP)—Richard A. Pugh, physical education instructor and vice-president of Southern High, Lothian, Md., has been named assistant football coach of Western Maryland College, President Lowell S. Ensor announced today.

Pugh graduated from District of Columbia Teachers College, formerly Wilson College, in Washington, and has continued his studies toward a master's degree in physical education at the University of Maryland.

He is married and the father of four children.

Boston Bows To Montreal

Canadiens Win 3rd Hockey Game, 4-2

BOSTON, April 11 (AP)—Montreal—fulfilling a promise of Coach Toe Blake—rocked luckless Boston 4-2 tonight to virtually wrap up their second straight Stanley Cup Hockey Championship.

Two goals by Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion and goalie Jackques Plante's ceaseless efforts highlighted the Boston Garden contest which sent the Canadiens into a 3-0 lead in the best-of-7 series.

Doug Ford's Sub-Par 68 Leads 135 At Greensboro

Gourley, Furgol Trail By Stroke

By KEN ALYTA

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 11 (AP)—Doug Ford, winner of the Masters Golf Championship only four days ago, continued his hot streak today as he knocked two strokes off par with a 34-36—68 to lead the first round of the $15,000 Greater Greensboro Open Tournament by one stroke.

The Mahopac, N. Y., professional's nearest rivals were Greensboro amateur Willard Gourley and Marty Furgol, veteran Lemont, Ill., professional.

Three Break Par

Five men came in at par 70, including Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C., who had bogies on three of the first five holes coming home to lose a chance of gaining at least a tie for the lead.

Boros was joined by Gardner Dickinson of Panama City Beach, Fla., despite his 34 putts; Al Besselink and Mike Souchak, both registering from Grossinger's, N.Y., and Bobby Maxwell of Abilene, Tex.

Ten Post 71s

Ten men posted 71s, including three foreign threats, Gary Player and Trevor Wilkes, both of Johannesburg, South Africa, and Peter Thomson, the Australian who has won the last three British Opens.

Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., the defending champion and winner of six Greensboro tournaments since the first one in 1938, was one of nine tied at 72. He had nine pars on the way out, but needed 37 coming home. The group included Paul Harney of Bolton, Mass., who followed a fat front nine 40 with an incoming 332, best nine of the day.

Ford, whose $23,000 leads the pro golf money winners this year, had only one bogey on his card, that coming on the 15th hole, where he missed the green and took a five. His putter served him well as he racked up a deuce from 10 feet for a birdie on the seventh and a 20-footer for a birdie three on 11. He finished with a 10-footer for a birdie four on the last hole.

Keyser High Posts Second PVC Win, 4-2

Sweeps Series With Ft. Ashby

FORT ASHBY, April 11 — Keyser High School scored its second straight victory of the season in the Potomac Valley Conference today, defeating Fort Ashby High School's tossers by the score of 4-2.

The win gave Coach "Tack" Clark's team a sweep of the series. Keyser won the series opener at home on Wednesday by the score of 21-6.

Jack Sanford Beats Boston

Phils Triumph, 7-1, Williams Hits 4th

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 11 (AP)—Philadelphia righthander Jack Sanford, a Red Sox neighbor from Wellesley, Mass., held Boston to two hits in seven innings today as the Phils posted a 7-1 victory at Clark Griffith Park.

Ted Williams collected one of the hits—his fourth home run of the spring exhibition circuit. The other was Gene Mauch's single to open the third inning but he was declared out on interference attempting to steal second.

Reliefer Angelo Lipetri finished up, giving up doubles to Frank Malzone and Billy Klaus for the Red Sox four-blow total.

Frostburg Teachers Lose Opener, 8-2

SHIPPENSBURG, Pa., April 11—Frostburg State Teachers College committed nine fielding bobbles today and dropped their opening game of the baseball season to Shippensburg State Teachers by the score of 8-2.

Hugh Nolan, who started on the mound for the Bobcats, was charged with the loss. Clark, Shippensburg reliefer, was credited with the win. Score:

Redlegs Win Night Game At Capital

WASHINGTON, April 11 (INS)—George Crowe's eighth inning three-run homer powered the Cincinnati Reds tonight to a 7 to 4 exhibition game victory over the Washington Senators.

Ed. Fitzgerald and Roy Sievers homered for Washington as a crowd of 6,764 turned out for the Senators' first home appearance of the year.

Detroit Is "If" Team In Junior Loop

Tigers Could Be Flag Contender

DETROIT, April 11 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers are just as much of an "if" team now as they were when they started spring training six weeks ago.

If they get solid second - line pitching, if Bill Tuttle can regain his stride in centerfield, if Red Wilson and Frank House can handle the catching chores in big league style and if someone can play third base, they'll jell into the first division club everyone expects them to be.

With a fast start in the 1957 American League race, more victories in the close games and fewer injuries, the pennant - starved Tigers could challenge the world champion New York Yankees all the way down the line.

Unless most of these problems can be solved—and most of them haven't been with opening day less than one week away—the Tigers would appear destined to finish about fifth place, the spot they've occupied for the past three seasons.

Club officials pass off the Tigers' shabby grapefruit league showing with a quick "we're not worried." Detroit won only eight games and lost 15—ten of them by one run—in Florida.

"I think people understand that Jack Tighe, because he's in his first year as a big league manager, has had to do a lot of experimenting," President Fred Knorr said today. "We've sacrificed victory after victory because the manager and the staff had to find out what certain players could do. They were given everyone a chance.

"Winning wasn't considered a 'must.' Naturally, we'd like to win 'em all, but it's more important to find out about our own ball players. Come Tuesday, things will be a lot different."

The Tigers haven't finished in the first division since 1950 and haven't won a pennant since 1945. But this is the year of changes, the year the club is supposed to be "dry behind the ears."

Mounts Win, 5-1

EMMITSBURG, Md., April 11 (AP)—Mt. St. Marys capitalized on a combination of American University wildness and erratic fielding today to score a 5-1 Mason-Dixon Conference baseball victory.

Bill O'Brien gave up only four hits for American U., but walked 10 and heaved a wild pitch with the bases loaded. His teammates committed five errors.

Mt. St. Marys scored two runs in the first inning when John Walsh and Denny Shuck walked and Bill Hessler and Bill Ross followed with singles.

Terrors Lose, 9-4

WESTMINSTER, Md., April 11 (AP)—A homer by Sonny Scola in the fourth inning and a barrage of extra base hits gave Gettysburg a 9-4 baseball victory over Western Maryland today.

The win was the first of the season against one tie and no losses for Gettysburg, while it was the second straight loss for the Green Terrors.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS

Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Maryland, to be held in the City Hall at 10:00 o'clock A. Bora Survives Foul Claim To Win At Laurel

Cops Initial Start For Trainer Emery

LAUREL, Md., April 11 (AP)—Surviving a claim of foul lodged by the rider of the odds-on favorite, Bora won the $4,500 Fort McHenry Purse at Laurel track today in the excellent six-furlong time of 1.11 1/5.

Claimed by the Carolyn K. Stable of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kirschbaum at Bowie from the Brandywine Stable for $12,500, Bora was gaining his first victory for his new trainer, Daverne Emery.

Bora's score was the third of the afternoon for apprentice Howard Grant, the meeting's leading rider with 14 victories.

Joe Culmone, rider of Inswept, complained to the stewards that his mount was bothered through the stretch when Bora came over on him. But the stewards found insufficient cause for a disqualification.

Grant, who is under contract to Carolyn K Stable, scored earlier in the afternoon with Turkish Gold, $8.20 and Lady Gem ($4.60).

BRIGHT YOUNG STAR OF TRIBE

BRIGHTEST young star of the Cleveland Indians, who may match the brilliance of the pitching whiz, Herb Score, is Rocco Colavito (above), young outfielder with the bullet arm. Rocco, who hits the long ball, got in 101 games with the Tribe last year after being recalled from San Diego and almost won rookie-of-the-year honors. He hit 21 homers for the Injuns and in spring training this year he is knocking down the fences again. He's 23 and from the Bronx, New York. (International)

Woodwards Want Belair Sold To Highest Bidder

Ask Court To Set Aside Contract Already Signed

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., April 11 (AP)—Handlers of the estate of the late William Woodward Jr. said today they did not negotiate for bids on the 2,000-acre Belair Farm because they were afraid they might lose an offer of $1,187,000 already made.

Attorneys for Woodward's sons, William III, 11, and James, 7, asked the Prince Georges County Circuit Court today to set aside a sale contract already signed so that the former Woodward stud farm may be offered to the highest bidder.

Woodward was fatally shot on Oct. 30, 1955, by his wife, who mistook him for a prowler.

Offered Over Million

Executors of his estate signed a contract last Oct. 10 to sell the farm—once the home of such horses as Nashua, Omaha and Gallant Fox—to the New York real estate firm of Webb and Knapp. The firm, headed by builder William Zeckendorf, had offered $1,187,000.

The court was told that before that contract was signed, a tentative offer of $1,500,000 had been received from builder William J. Levitt, and that two days after the signing an offer of $1,400,000 was made by Norman L. Adolph. Adolph is a Long Island (N.Y.) developer; Levitt has built huge projects there and in Pennsylvania.

Attorneys for both men told Circuit Court Judge Charles C. Marbury that these offers were positive indications of a willingness to buy and should have been considered by executors of the Woodward estate.

Attorneys for the executors—the Hanover Bank of New York City and John Ludewig, an adviser to Woodward—said they were afraid the $1,187,000 offer from Webb and Knapp might be withdrawn if they negotiated for higher bids.

Housing Development

There was no testimony about the possible future of Belair Farm, but spokesmen for Levitt have said that no matter what happens in the court case, it will wind up as a housing development.

It lies about 15 miles east of Washington near Bowie, Md.

Fight Is Cancelled

CLEVELAND, April 11 (INS)—The Joey Giardello-Rory Calhoun middleweight fight scheduled for the Cleveland arena next Tuesday night has been cancelled.

Gotham Tracks Get Additional Four Million

Share Of Betting Upped One Per Cent

ALBANY, N. Y., April 11 — Gov. Averill Harriman today signed a bi-partisan bill that will give New York State's thoroughbred racing tracks an additional four million dollars a year in pari-mutuel betting receipts.

The new law also extends the length of the season during which racing may be conducted. The governor is expected to sign a related bill which would increase from 197 to 210 days the maximum number of racing days that may be conducted within the season.

Under the legislation, the tracks' share of the pari-mutuel betting pool is increased by one per cent, bringing Saratoga's cut to six per cent and that of the state's three other flat tracks to five per cent. The state and the tracks divide a pool made up of 15 per cent of all pari-mutuel receipts.

The measure was sought by the Greater New York Association, Inc., a non-profit corporation that operates the state's four flat tracks. The GNYA maintained it needs additional income to finance a multi-million dollar reconstruction program.

Included in the GNYA program are a new 25-million-dollar "dream track" at Aqueduct, a five-million-dollar remodeling of Belmont and improvements at Saratoga.

Blochers Capture Sports Car Rallye

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Blocher, of Frostburg, in an Austin-Healy, won first place in the recent rallye staged by the Western Maryland Sports Car Club.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Poling of Cumberland in a Jaguar took second place and third place went to Mr. and Mrs. Herman Melotti, of LaVale, in a Volkswagen.

Plans for the club's participation in the Cumberland National Sports Car Races to be held May 18 and 19 will be discussed at the monthly meeting of the club tonight at 8 o'clock at Sports Car Motor Sales, McMullen Highway. Interested enthusiasts are invited to attend the meeting.

The Old Pros

HOLLYWOOD — I recall — oh, it was years ago a Hollywood commencement speech at the American Academy of Dramatic Art delivered by one of the Academy's most distinguished alumni, Howard Lindsay. Lindsay told these budding young actors that acting was a marriage between heart (or sincerity or integrity or whatever large word you'd like to call it) and technique, the latter being an acquired characteristic, the former being something you are born with or without.

However, Mr. Lindsay went on to say, some really fine actors, after too many years on the stage, became practically all technique, all trickery, all body and no soul. This speech — and I'm quoting from memory over a span of a great many years — came back to me while watching Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, the theater's most brilliant acting couple, in their television debut "The Great Sebastians" which, it so happens, was written by Mr. Lindsay and Russel Crouse. "The Great Sebastians" is not the most distinguished — in fact, it may be the least distinguished —play the Lunts have appeared in. But it is an actor's holiday. As they have grown older, the Lunts vehicles have grown more superficial while the acting and direction has grown increasingly more rococo. The "Great Sebastians" is more or less the culmination of this development and God knows where they'll go from here. (As if they had to go anywhere.) It's as if Titian, in his later years had grown into Tiepolo — all flourishes, and design and balance and harmony with nothing in particular to say.

But what flourishes and design and balance and harmony, Alfred Lunt is the granddaddy of a lot of actors who either consciously or unconsciously are using acting tricks that he invented and developed to a high degree. When you watch Rex Harrison, a very fine actor, and hear the voice crack at just the right moment for emphasis and laughter, or when you watch the erect, slightly arched body and the outstretched, slightly lifted arm culminating in a finger, the whole being an exercise in design, or the line delivered over the shoulder with the back to the audience, you must remember Alfred Lunt did it first and did it better.

"The Great Sebastians" is a play about a couple of mind-readers trapped behind the Iron Curtain who use their wits and their tricks to get out of the country. What an opportunity for an acting couple not only to star as individuals but to play cat and mouse as a team, tossing the lines and the business back and forth with the ease and charm of thirty years practice.

Noel Coward has said: "I have been privileged to direct the Lunts — as if anyone can direct Alfred and Lynn." This line, too, came back to me watching Lunt swoop from one side of the stage to the other and back again. The principal function of Franklin Schaffner, (an excellent director under more normal circumstances) was to keep Alfred Lunt from flying right off the 21-inch screen and this Mr. Schaffner managed to perfection.

It all brings to mind an unkind and petulant but amusing remark made by a friend who shall be nameless about Susan Strasberg's acting in "Dairy of Anne Frank." "I think if I'd been locked in the room with that girl for two years I'd have given myself up to the Nazis." The Lunts belong to that school of actors who think you come to the theater (or go to the movies or watch television drama) to see acting and by God, they're going to give you lots of acting, the big economy size bottle with second helpings for all.

Aah, the chuckles, the catarrhs, the quick facial reactions to each other's lines, the sharp powerful glances (when either of the Lunts look at anything, it has really been looked at). Lynn Fontanne looked at a statue in "The Great Sebastians" with such vehemence I thought she'd knock it over; the circlings of chairs, the striding out of a room and right back in again (there was a one-step landing in one set that Lunt must have gone up and down twenty-two times), the lighting of cigarets and putting out of cigarets, the pursing of lips, the changes of vocal tone from whisper to a roar, the hesitations and sudden spurts of words and — well, brother, when you have had an hour and a half of the Lunts, you have had your money's worth of acting and perhaps a little more.

I don't know that I'd call them great actors any more (though Alfred Lunt in his day was as great an actor as I ever hope to watch) but they are the most polished and expert and delightful performers on the stage. Now that they have broken the ice, I hope they come back to television often.

Incidentally, they had obviously made great efforts to mute their acting to the demands of that closeup camera and microphone but I wish they had muted the supporting cast, too. The other actors were awfully noisy and hectic.

It'd be a lot of fun — to say nothing of also being very instructive — to watch them do "Reunion In Vienna" and "The Guardsman" and "Idiot's Delight" again.

$225,000 For Code

RIO DE JANEIRO, April 11 (AP)—President Juscelino Kubitschek has asked Congress for $225,000 to finance a new secret code for Brazil. The old code was quoted by a congressman in a speech. Officials said his revelations enabled foreign nations to break the code.

West Germany Leads

BONN, April 11 (AP) — The Red Cross here reports West Germany contributed more food and other relief supplies to Hungarians than any other country. It said West Germans gave 11,600 tons of supplies after the Hungarian revolt last fall and the United States was second with 3,190 tons.

Business Opportunity
Retail Grocery
Situate approximately 10 miles from Bedford near several large groups of summer cottages. Living quarters attached to store . . . now carrying full line of groceries, meats and dairy products. Building in excellent condition, built in 1949. Service station operated in conjunction with store. A good location and the business is growing each year. It will profit you to investigate this opportunity.

Along The Potomac
by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON—Drew Pearson in a recent column noted that I was one of those members of the House Judiciary Committee who had voted for a "hamstringing" amendment to the civil rights bill. He neither explained nor described the amendment for his readers. What Pearson called a "hamstringing" amendment simply provided for "speedy and public trial by an impartial jury" in all cases of contempt under the Act.

Under our present laws all persons tried for criminal contempt are entitled to a jury trial except where the United States is a party to the action. The civil rights bill in its present form provides that the United States is a party in all cases arising under it. This means that in civil rights contempt cases persons accused would not be entitled to a jury trial.

In our labor laws we have always provided that the defendants (who would be members of unions and labor representatives engaged in labor disputes) are entitled to a jury trial even though the United States is a party to the action. Is it not fair that we extend the same right to local police, school board members, and others, that we extend to labor leaders and members of labor unions?

What a monstrous indictment it is for the Government to say to our people "you are not qualified to sit on juries in civil rights cases because you would not be fair." In the Free State of Maryland, in criminal cases, our juries are judges of the facts and the law. But in this civil rights bill your Federal Government is saying it will not trust the people, it will trust only its political appointees on the bench.

In am in favor of a civil rights bill, but I do not believe we should pass a measure which has in it a provision which destroys the right to a trial by jury.

During the debate on Federal appropriations for schools in impacted areas, I suggested that Congress make a thorough study of the question of federal payments to state and local governments in lieu of taxes on federally owned installations. At the same time I re-introduced my bill providing for such payments. An important point in favor of my bill is that funds would go directly into a county's general fund and there would be no federal control of specific services — such as schools, etc. used by employees of Federal installations.

Work On Final Flood Control Contract Begins

Completion Slated In Fall Of 1958

Work on the final contract of the $18,000,000 Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection project has been started by the E. J. Albrecht Company, Chicago.

The company will complete work on Section 2 of the Potomac River phase of the project under a $2,288,000 contract awarded by the Corps of Engineers.

To Take 540 Days

Since the company will have 540 days to complete the project, the work should be completed by next fall.

Completion of the entire project will probably be delayed past that point, however, as officials of the Corps of Engineers have advised city officials there will be some "clean up" jobs to be done before the project can be turned over.

The construction of an embankment for the relocation of interchange tracks for the B&O and Western Maryland railways and a two-span open deck plate girder railway bridge across the river is also included.

Most of Potomac River Section 1 has already been accepted by the city, but crews were busy recently seeding part of the earth levees in Ridgeley.

Other Contracts Pushed

The Chicago firm is on schedule on several other contracts of the flood control job, Sections 2 and 3 of the Wills Creek section, and the Ridgeley and Mill Race pumping stations.

Downstream, the Hazelwood Construction Company is pushing work on Wills Creek Section 4 as rapidly as high water will permit.

The firm has been halted for several months on concrete work above the Baltimore Street Bridge but has made good progress on walls below the span.

Traffic and railway bridges are to be replaced at Baltimore Street and temporary spans erected this year to maintain traffic while the permanent structures are built.

New Instructor Welcomed

Capt. Henry W. Tubbs Jr., right, welcomes the new inspector-instructor of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, USMCR, who will take over his duties here on April 18. Formerly stationed on the USS Roanoke, a light cruiser, Capt. Richard Molesky will relieve Capt. Tubbs who will go to Quantico, Va., for reassignment after three years at the helm of the Cumberland Marine reserve unit.

Hagerstown Woman Wins Mrs. Maryland Contest

Mrs. Donna Eisiminger of Hagerstown was crowned "Mrs. Maryland" last night by Hagerstown Mayor Winslow Burhans at a banquet at the Alexander Hotel.

Mother of four children, Mrs. Eisiminger won with her title a trip to Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to compete in the 19th annual "Mrs. America" contest next month. Her husband, Robert, a Fairchild Aircraft employe, will go along.

Mrs. Eisiminger won over Mrs. Nelson Keyes of Lonaconing and Mrs. Edwin Eckhart of Frostburg, who represented Western Maryland in the contest.

As a part of the state finals, the Hagerstown homemaker cooked and served her family's favorite menu: vegetable juice cocktail, orange-glazed pork chops, blushing pear and cottage cheese salad, broccoli, parsley potatoes, corn muffins and hot fudge eclairs.

She and the other two contestants also ironed a man's shirt and made an apron to display their homemaking skill.

Besides her trip to Florida, Mrs. Eisiminger won a $150 cash prize, a $100 U. S. Savings Bond, a place setting of sterling silver table service, a portable electric sewing machine and other prizes.

Mrs. Keyes and Mrs. Eckhart won hams for the best menu planning and best ironing, respectively, and Mrs. Eckhart also won a share of common stock for the best chocolate dessert.

The "Mrs. America" contest is sponsored by the gas industry, including Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

86 Students Plan To Take College Tests

At least 86 seniors and graduates of Allegany County public and parochial high schools are planning to take the annual Maryland college scholarship examinations which will be given at Allegany High School starting at 10 a. m. Saturday, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer.

Assisting Mr. Rizer will be Lewyn C. Davis, supervisor of junior high schools; Miss Esther M. Carter, a visiting teacher, and William J. Donahue, guidance director at Allegany.

Students whose applications for the scholarship tests already have been approved by the State Department of Education include 19 from Allegany, seven from Bruce High School, 14 from Beall High School, 24 from Fort Hill High School, six from Mt. Savage High School, 11 from Valley High School, one each from Catholic Girls' Central High School and St. Peter's High School of Westernport and three from LaSalle High School.

A receptionist will meet the students as they arrive at Allegany Saturday morning and will direct them to the proper classroom for the respective tests, which are expected to take about two hours to complete.

Forty-two of the students have indicated they wish only to take the senatorial scholarship examination. Seven want to take only the teacher education scholarship examination. The other 37 seek both the senatorial and teacher education examinations.

Church To Hear Guest Speaker

Rev. Stewart B. Kauffman, of Elgin, Ill., will be the special speaker for the Holy Week services at Living Stone Church of the Brethren, according to Rev. Wayne J. Eberly, pastor.

Rev. Eberly announced the services will be held each evening next week beginning Sunday at 7:30 p. m. All the services will be conducted at this time with the exception of Thursday when Holy Communion and Love Feast will be celebrated at 7 p. m.

Rev. Kauffman is a native of Pennsylvania, and attended Elizabeth (Pa.) College. He is a graduate of Bethany Biblical Seminary in Chicago, and since 1955 has been national director of Ministry and Evangelism for the Church of the Brethren at Elgin.

Rev. Kauffman also served as secretary for the Eastern Region of the Church of the Brethren and has served churches in Windber and Everett, Pa.

The final message by Rev. Kauffman will be delivered Easter Sunday morning. The church will present a special cantata Easter evening based on the Easter story. Mrs. Wilda Eberly is choir director.

Flintstone FFA Holds Election Of Officers

The Flintstone Future Farmers of America Club elected officers this week.

The new officers include Barry Hoopengardner, president; Stanley Humbertson, vice president; Bill Hout, secretary; John Buffenmyer, treasurer; Bill Creek, reporter, and John Haines, sentinel.

The club also discussed plans for the mother-daughter, father-son banquet to be held soon.

Rev. Caes Will Address Rally

Rev. Clyde J. Caes, pastor of Summit Mills Brethren Church, Meyersdale, Pa., will speak at the Tri-State Youth for Christ Rally Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Saturday night will also be observed as "First Nighter's Night," according to Dwight I. Evans, director.

Three Dogs, Several Birds Apparent Poison Victims

City police have received reports of the apparent work of a dog poisoner with victims already including two stray pups, a household pet and three or four sparrows and robins.

Alerted to the danger to other animals and possibly to small children, police have turned over the reports to the humane officer and are investigating the reports received in the past two days.

Police said the dead dogs have been found on Elm Street and Williams Street. They added they do not know how the poison is being administered but are fearful that the person or persons may be distributing the deadly doses of strychnine in small pieces of bread, candy or other edibles.

The latest dog to die was a small cocker spaniel, a pet of Mr. and Mrs. Alf R. Manges, 346 Williams Street. The animal was found yesterday afternoon at the top of the stairway leading into the Manges home.

Police reported they had received calls Monday of two dogs found dead on Elm Street, both apparently victims of a poisoner. Also in the vicinity of Elm Street were the bodies of several small birds, believed to have died from the poison.

Authorities, fearful that if birds can be poisoned as well as animals by the methods used to spread the strychnine, small children also are being endangered. They are keeping a close vigil in the areas reporting the poisonings.

New Marine Unit Leader Arrives Here

Capt. Richard Molesky has arrived in Cumberland to take over the duties as inspector-instructor of the Sixth Special Infantry Company, USMCR, replacing Capt. Henry W. Tubbs Jr., who has held the post with the local Marine Reserve unit for the past three years.

Capt. Tubbs will leave Cumberland April 18 for reassignment to Quantico, Va.

The new Marine instructor has been stationed on a light cruiser, the USS Roanoke, in California, and has been in the Marine Corps since October 1942.

Capt. Molesky served during World War II with the Marine air arm in the Pacific Theatre of War. He has three battle stars for the Pacific campaign, having seen action in the Bougainville, Bismarck Archipelago, and North Solomon Islands consolidation campaigns.

He was discharged from the Marine Corps in September of 1945 and reentered the service in May of 1947. Capt. Molesky was first commissioned as a reserve officer in 1951.

A reserve officer during the Korean War Capt. Molesky served in Korea in 1952 receiving two battle stars for active campaigns there. He accepted a regular Marine Corps commission in May of 1953.

The new inspector-instructor is a graduate of Detroit Institute of Technology where he received his B. A. degree in business administration. He is married to the former Nancy Frazier of Detroit, a graduate of Mary Grove College of Detroit.

Capt. Molesky met his wife in Naples, Italy, some time ago when she was employed by the State Department there. The couple was wed March 2 of this year in Detroit.

Capt. Tubbs, who has seen the local Marine unit grow from 58 to over 100 men during his three-year tenure, said he hopes to obtain a 30-day leave to visit his parents in California whom he has not seen for over four years.

4 Cars Involved In City Accident

Four automobiles were involved in an accident about 8:30 last night on North Mechanic Street but no one was injured.

City police said a car driven by Alex J. Schute, 127 Polk Street, local roofing contractor, came out of an alleyway across from the Maryland Theatre and collided with a car operated by Mrs. Anna Hannawalt, 874 Maryland Avenue.

Mrs. Hannawalt's vehicle swerved to the left and struck two parked cars, damaging both automobiles considerably. Her car, also badly damaged, had to be towed away.

Investigating officers were John G. Powers, James Mason and Wilbur E. Shank. No charges were filed pending completion of the investigation.

The annual "Recreation Night" or "Roundup" for Allegany County 4-H Club members of all ages will be staged at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the Fort Hill High School gymnasium.

Eugene J. Hopkins, visiting teacher in the pupil personnel department, will be in charge.

An evening of fun and entertainment for all has been arranged, according to Assistant County Agent James B. Arnold. There will be prizes for winning teams. Parents and friends are invited. Refreshments will conclude the activities for the evening.

SS. Peter And Paul Holy Name Unit Meets

The Holy Name Society of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church held its monthly meeting recently at the parish hall with James E. Robertson, president, presiding.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Rev. Kenan Crowley, O. F. M. Cap., spiritual director, who also spoke on Holy Week services. It was announced the Holy Name would take part in the Holy Hour on Holy Thursday from 9 p. m. until midnight.

The importance of the Holy Name Society also was discussed and all members were urged to attend the 7 o'clock mass Sunday in a group. The next meeting will be held next month.

Cars, Schools Chief Concern Of Youth Bills

Model Legislature Begins 3-Day Term

ANNAPOLIS, April 11 (AP)—Cars and schools were the chief concern of 130 teen-age legislators who swarmed into the State House today to begin a 3-day mock legislative session patterned after the General Assembly which adjourned April 1.

The major legislation among 45 bills introduced at the 14th annual YMCA-sponsored Model Legislature involved traffic safety and education.

Secretary of State Claude E. Hellman—the real one — greeted the young lawmakers, swore them in and administered oaths of office to Gov. Woody Noel of Hagerstown, House Speaker Robert S. Ramsburg of Frederick and Sena President Barbara Mann of Cumberland—first girl ever to hold a major office at the Model Legislature.

Seeks Aid For Teachers

In his state-of-the-state message, Gov. Noel called upon the Legislature to enact laws giving aid to teachers and prospective teachers, requiring annual inspection of motor vehicles, prohibiting pollution of the Potomac River, making anti-polio vaccination mandatory for preschool children and providing stiff penalties for overloaded trucks in order to protect Maryland roads.

Among the bills introduced and referred to committees today were motor vehicle measures which would require all drivers to carry a form of uninsured motorists' protection, all motor vehicles to be covered by liability insurance, annual automobile inspections in privately-owned garages and annual re-examination and re-registration of drivers.

Another bill would require that a speed governor be placed on the car of anyone convicted of a speeding violation.

Standard Tests Urged

In the field of education, the junior legislators suggested that standard examinations be given annually throughout the state, from seventh grade up, to determine which students shall pass and graduate.

They also wanted to investigate the practicality of vocational education high schools in each county, provide for the exchange of students between the University of Maryland and other state universities, revise the U.S. and Maryland history courses, and provide free tuition for all junior college students taking teacher training.

Gov. McKeldin, who was scheduled to address the Model Legislature today, postponed his appearance until Saturday.

Labor-Industry Unit To Begin Fund Planning

The Labor - Management committee of the County United Fund will meet today at the Celanese plant to prepare plans for its share in the federated giving program.

The meeting will be held at 3:30 p. m. in the office of Hudson Nix, chairman of the Labor-Management committee.

Attending will be Mrs. Mildred Martin, co-chairman, and members of the committee which will organize for its function in the fund.

The by-laws of the County United Fund state that the committee shall contact all industrial and business organizations in an effort to have organizations authorize contributions to the United Fund or institute payroll deduction plans through the establishment of chapters in each industry or business employing 10 or more workers.

The committee is also charged with exerting its best efforts to have all charitable organizations which now exist in industries and businesses abolished, so chapters of the United Fund can take their place.

Permits Are Needed By Tank Cleaners

Several septic tank scavengers are reported operating in the area without Health Department permits, J. B. Dowling, head of the Sanitation section of the County Health Department said yesterday.

He suggested that citizens ask to see Health Department permits before allowing such work to be done.

Mr. Dowling said a home owner reported paying $120 for cleaning a 500-gallon septic tank, with the understanding that distribution fields would also be cleaned, but the latter task cannot be done from tanks.

Equity Suit Filed

Garrett's Schools:

Educators Make Use Of Outdoor Laboratories

This is the seventh in a series of articles on Garrett County's school system by F. Allan Weatherholt, Cumberland News reporter.

The school board, county officials, teachers and many other interested citizens are more and more inclined to believe that here lies the answer to many of the county's economic problems.

The county's two high schools have complete offerings in such subjects as art, vocal and instrumental music, agriculture, machine shop, wood shop and full commercial education, in addition to home economics for the girls, adequate library facilities and many other activities, as well as basic subjects of science, mathematics, English and history.

But job opportunity in the county is limited, and methods of finding new payrolls are becoming increasingly important. The school officials feel that attractive schools and a sound school program are essential to the attraction of industry to any community. Certain cultural factors also are important, and these are developed in the schools in the fields of music, drama and the arts.

Where The Future Lies

The basic idea is that the future economic security of the county and jobs for its graduates lie mainly in the fields of agriculture, recreation, small business and potential industrial development.

One supervisor summed it up this way: "Industry, we have little. Agriculture, we have an abundance. Recreation, we are just beginning to develop."

Willard L. Hawkins, school superintendent, declares, "Garrett County, perhaps, provides the best nature study laboratory to be found anywhere in Maryland. Nearly all of our school grounds or their immediate environs provide a 'natural' for outdoor education."

Experts in the field of outdoor education have been brought to the county to analyze the potential of such education and to help project a program for the schools.

They were impressed with the possibilities of development in this field and point out that such a program will lead to the continued development of the area as a recreational center, and to expansion of agriculture and eventual attraction and development of new and latent industry.

The construction of new schools and retention of old schools in areas away from urban congestion, in the open spaces where children have an opportunity to grow in an environment of natural surrounding, is part of this plan.

Outdoor Laboratory

Mr. Hawkins said, "Here in Garrett County, even though we lack the wealth to provide luxury buildings and all modern physical facilities, nature has provided us with the finest outdoor laboratory that any schools could have.

"No architect," he noted, "will ever have the imagination and ingenuity to build the laboratory that is in our back yard, and no artist will ever be able to challenge the beauty of nature seen from every school ground and during every bus ride carrying children to and from school. Not to use our natural setting to the fullest is to admit the neglect of a fundamental educational duty."

Others agree. And they go a little further. Business people and other interested citizens are convinced that the development of this outdoor education program to the fullest will add great momentum to state and county plans to open the area to more vacationers and tourists. The schools, they believe, can and are setting the pace.

"The outdoors," says Mr. Hawkins, "is the laboratory for science, health, and physical education and art. The study of science will include such fundamental areas as nature study, weather and climate, erosion, flood control, power development, forests and their products, recreational areas, conservation, animals, plants, gardening, canning and food preservation, natural products from the earth, such as clay, gas, coal and others.

Memorial Staff Eligible For Social Security

Some 300 members of the staff of Memorial Hospital became eligible for Social Security benefits under a decision announced yesterday by U.S. Senator J. Glenn Beall.

He said the Bureau of Internal Revenue has decided the Cumberland hospital is not an instrumentality of the city government and employes are therefore eligible to receive Social Security benefits.

The decision was given after three years of effort by Senator Beall and William A. Gunter, president of the Board of Governors of Memorial Hospital.

Under the former federal ruling, the hospital was considered an instrumentality of the City of Cumberland and its staff ineligible to receive Social Security benefits.

The ruling was reported to Sen. Beall yesterday by Justin F. Winkle, assistant commissioner of the Internal Revenue.

The staff of the hospital held a referendum in 1951 and voted to enter the Social Security system, and since then equal contributions by the hospital and its employed have totaled about $150,000, Mr. Gunter said.

Mr. Gunter said the question arose three years ago as a result of a "bureaucratic jumble" but that nobody has been hurt, since the only result was a delay.

He recalled that the attorney general of Maryland ruled that hospital was a separate entity but that federal attorneys did not agree.

At least part of the physical assets of the hospital are owned by the City of Cumberland, but it is operated by a separate corporation under a self-perpetuating board of governors.

Truck Is Struck By Train But Driver Is Unhurt

John D. Fisher, 33, Boswell, Pa., escaped serious injury when his truck was struck by a slow-moving freight train as he drove across the tracks about 3½ miles west of Bedford at 1:15 p. m. yesterday.

Pennsylvania State Police said the truck driver apparently failed to see the crossing flasher signal as he approached the crossing from the east. The freight a Pennsylvania Railroad local freight traveling from Altoona, Pa., to Cumberland, hit the truck, causing considerable damage.

Police said R. E. Rice, Altoona, was the train engineer and R. E. Miller, also of Altoona, was the conductor.

Church To Begin Revival Services

Pre-Easter revival services at Rawlings Methodist will begin this evening at the church and will continue until Easter Sunday, according to Rev. F. Glenn Creek, pastor.

Miss Clella Price, of Palestine, Ill., will conduct the song service each evening and will hold instructions for the children of the church.

Barton Cow Is Butterfat Champion For Past Month

Hazel, a crossbred cow owned by Harry J. Barton of Pinto, was the March butterfat champion of the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association with 89 pounds of butterfat in 1,720 pounds of March milk, according to Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, association supervisors.

Mr. Barton had two other cows in the select list of the ten top butterfat producers with a registered Ayershire and a grade Guernsey in fifth and sixth places.

Carl Howsare of Bedford Valley, Pa., had five of the 13 cows on the select list. There were 13 listed because of a four-way tie for tenth place. Mr. Howsare had two cows tied for seventh place and three of the four cows in the tenth place tie. His herd recorded the highest average for the month of March. His 38 cows averaged 977 pounds of milk, 40.8 pounds of butterfat and 4.17 per cent butterfat.

I. L. Brooke and Sons, Pinto, had the second best butterfat producer for the month of March, a registered Holstein named Her with 84 pounds of butterfat in 2,110 pounds of milk.

Three other dairy farmers had cows on the honor list. Ernest A. Light, Pinto, had two on the honor roll, and Shumaker Brothers of Rawlings and Lloyd Nave of Bedford Valley, Pa., had one each.

Six of the 13 big butterfat producers were Holsteins, four Guernseys, one Ayershire, one Jersey and the champion cross-breed.

Oil Bids Asked But Program Is Still In Doubt

Street Work May Begin Late In May

The Street Department is asking for bids on oil to treat its some 22 miles of unpaved streets. The actual program, Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz reports, will depend on what happens to the bond issue.

The bids for oil suitable for treating unpaved areas and for bituminous materials to be used in surface treatment will be opened by the Mayor and Council April 29 at 10 a. m.

Mr. Buchholtz said the work could not get under way until late in May, when the ground has become perfectly dry.

But he said the problem in planning the program is that the department will not know what it is up against until the fate of the $500,000 bond issue is known.

"Nobody in this, or any other department, can plan until we see what will happen to the bond issue," he explained.

He said that if the issue is not approved, the city faces a loss of $70,000 in revenue each year for seven years, and that the loss of the funds from the budget would mean drastic curtailment of activities and manpower in the Street Department.

The only departments which would not be affected by a budget reduction are the Water Department, which is financed by the sale of water, and the sewage treatment plant, which will be operated by service charges based on the amount of water used.

For a number of years, the Street Department has been pushing a program of blacktopping and light surface treatment designed to reduce the annual cost of oiling unpaved streets.

In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956, a total of 7,600 feet of streets were given light surface treatment consisting of tar and chips, another 6,699 feet of street was blacktopped, and similar treatment given to 6,890 feet of unpaved alleys.

Community Easter Sunrise Service Planned

Allegany High School brass band will herald the beginning of the 6 a. m. services on April 21 with the call to worship by Rev. Wayne Eberly, pastor of Living Stone Church of the Brethren.

Following the call to worship for this year's services Rev. Dr. E. E. Miller of First EUB Church will lead the congregation in responsive reading.

Miss Robb then will direct the Fort Hill High School choir in singing several anthems, and Rev. William R. Snyder, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, will lead the assembly in prayer.

Rev. Dr. Howard M. Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, will deliver the principal sermon, "Easter Dawn," and Capt. Daniel Biggs, Salvation Army, will give the special announcements and have charge of the Easter offering.

Rev. Archie C. Prevatte, pastor of First Baptist Church, will close the services with benediction.

Rev. W. Randolph Keefe Jr., pastor of Grace Baptist Church, is chairman of the committee on arrangements, assisted by Rev. John B. Zinn of St. Matthew's Evangelical and Reformed Church, Bowling Green, and B. U. Smith, general secretary of Central YMCA, who are on the publicity staff.

AHS Class Of '37 Plans Dinner-Dance

The reunion committee of the Class of 1937 of Allegany High School met Tuesday to discuss plans for the dinner-dance to be held July 27 at the Cumberland Country Club.

Members of the class who have not returned their questionnaires are asked to do so immediately. They should be mailed to Mrs. Ora Mae Robertson Lewis, 220 Harrison Street, Cumberland, Md.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, May 1, at 7:30 p. m. at the Celanese Truck Terminal, Bedford Road. All members of the class will be welcome at this committee meeting.
